M'ANDREW TRIAL ROARS AS SECRET LETTER IS READ

Board Sees Itself in A. B. Pond's Eyes.

Attorneys for the board of education yesterday introduced into the records of the McAndrew trial a letter written by Allen B. Pond to William McAndrew which set a gallery of witnesses into an uproar and precipitated a scathing arraignment of Mr. Pond by J. Lewis Coath, president of the board. Mr. Pond once referred to President Coath as "an unspeakable insect."

In the letter, which was written at the time Mr. McAndrew took charge of the Chicago schools, Mr. Pond described each trustee holding office in 1924 and advised Mr. McAndrew as to which of them would "bear watching." Mary Sheridan, a stenographer in the schools' office, testified that the letter came from the superintendent's personal file.

Witness Tells About Letter.

The letter was dramatically introduced during the testimony of Glen Edwards, who said he had been employed in 1921 as "scandal monger" for the public education committee, a citizens' organization which is no longer in existence. Edwards was being examined by Attorney Frank S. Righeimer, school board counsel. The witness testified that in drafting a letter to McAndrew he had typewritten the names of the board members and that Mr. Pond had written in the description in longhand.

After a silence, Mr. Righeimer turned to Mr. Coath.

"I would prefer that the board pass on whether this document may be read in public," he said. "It is quite personal and affects several members of the present board."

The attorney was interrupted by Mr. Coath.

Coath Demands It Be Read.

"I'm getting sick and tired of these self-constituted committees and self-appointed members of the board hiding behind a curtain," he exclaimed. "I want any evidence concerning Allan B. Pond brought to the ears of the taxpayers. This trial is not a personal matter between members of the board of education. If there is any evidence introduced, I'm in favor of making it public—especially if it relates to Mr. Pond. Let's hear about this man Pond."

The gallery applauded gingerly, and Coath turned to the members of the press.

"Now get this, boys," he said. "It's good."

Letter Begins with Coath.

Mr. Righeimer began to read.

"Louder!" shouted Mr. Coath.

"Prides himself not a little on his ability as a publicity man," Righeimer read on. "Was appointed to the board with the idea firmly fixed in his mind that his special concern was to be the development of recreational activities. The board refused to let him have his way in these matters; he therefore joined the opposition in 'exposing' the Davis-Severinghaus majority.

"Mrs. Helen Hefferan: A former teacher in the Chicago schools. Prominent in the activities of the Illinois League of Women Voters, the Woman's City club, and the Chicago Woman's club. Comments on Other Members.

"Miss Grace Temple: Intelligent also in mental processes, no axes to grind, has public interest deeply at heart; can be relied upon; is in close contact with influential women's groups.

"Edgar N. Greenebaum: Youngest member of the board of education, being about 30 years of age. Banker. Jewish faith. Is said not to be a heavyweight, but well intentioned and no axes to grind. I know of no sinister influence over him.

"Charles M. Moderwell: Thoughtful, cautious, makes up his mind after investigation, but has courage to do what he decides to do. No one has any strings on him—social, political, or business. Has no axes to grind. O. K.

TRIES TO LINK CAPT. BASS WITH ALKY RACKET

U. S. Brings Surprise Charges.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Capt. J. Leland Bass, quartermaster corps, went before a general court martial of eleven of his fellow officers of the United States army yesterday at the Sixth army corps headquarters in the 1800 block on Pershing road. He is charged with violation of the 95th article of war [which includes conduct unbecoming an officer and gentleman] in connection with the surreptitious transportation of about 2,500 gallons of alcohol and intoxicating liquor from the army warehouse last summer.

When the complete charges against Capt. Bass were revealed by the trial judge advocate, Maj. Donald B. Singer, who, incidentally has been a warm friend of Capt. Bass from the Mexican border service in 1916, it was found necessary by the defense to ask a continuance until Jan. 19. This was granted. There are 32 witnesses to be heard for the prosecution.

Bass Denies Charges.

The defense has not announced its plans, but a general denial of the charges is entered by Capt. Bass, who has been in the army 24 years, rising from the ranks, and has been without a blot on his record. He denies any connection with the transportation of the liquor and says he has been imposed on by someone.

Capt. Bass came to his Chicago post in 1925 and it was while he was transporting his household goods to Selfridge field, Michigan, whither he had been transferred, that he came into his present predicament. Some of his boxes, which were being transported in an army truck leaked, and the liquor was discovered. The specification in the charges which he must meet here is that he procured the "unlawful and unauthorized shipment on government bill of lading at public expense as part of his authorized allowance of household or personal effects, certain boxes containing alcohol and alcoholic liquors."

Bill of Lading an Issue.

Capt. Bass, it is charged, signed a bill of lading covering 535 pounds of professional books and 9,521 pounds of other baggage, "he well knowing," it is stated in the charges, "that seven of said packages contained only intoxicating liquors."

If found guilty of this and the other charges Capt. Bass will be dismissed from the service. Capt. Bass was a regular army cavalry man and was assigned as sergeant instructor of the First Illinois cavalry. He got a commission and went to the Mexican border with that regiment, of which he acted as assistant adjutant. He went to Camp Logan in 1917 as supply officer of the 122d field artillery. He had much to do with preparing 33d Division property for France. After the war he had charge of barge traffic on the Rhine. Previously he had charge of an important rail head.

How Government Views Case.

The government, it was made plain at the opening hearing, is not concerned in this case with the violation of the Volstead act, but merely is trying to find out if one of its trusted officers is guilty of unbecoming conduct. It might have been lead pencils or coal involved, so far as the principle is concerned.

On this theory, Capt. Bass might have taken one of his brother officers into the warehouse to give him a drink of the stores of confiscated liquor under his charge, but when he chose to take out barrels, it is another matter, if proved against him.

When the general court convened yesterday Col. Howard R. Perry was the presiding officer. All the officers were in uniform, also wearing sabers, which clanked against the desks.

How Court Is Composed.

The accused officer was given a private table with his counsel, Capt. Jewett De W. Matthews, Maj. John Gillespie and Egbert Robertson, a civilian attorney, who is a reserve officer in the militia. First Lieut. Morrill D. Mann is assistant trial judge advocate. The officers of the court are:

Col. William E. Hunt, general staff; Col. Edgar A. Myer, infantry; Lieut. Col. Jay P. Hopkins, coast artillery; Lieut. Robert J. Binford, infantry; Maj. Francis A. Doniat, 3d field artillery; Maj. Manton C. Mitchell, infantry; Maj. Robert M. Milan, field artillery; Maj. Robert K. Alcott, infantry, law member; Capt. Charles W. Jones, infantry, and Capt. Edmund M. Barnum, cavalry. Col. Alvan C. Gillem,

Woman Killed Trying to Push Auto Off Track

Her frantic efforts to shove a stalled automobile from the tracks of the Chicago and North Western railway at North Chicago yesterday caused the death of Mrs. Elise Wandel, wife of William Wandel, wealthy retired merchant of Waukegan, Ill. She was struck by a fast passenger train.

Mrs. Wandel and three friends, Mrs. Grace Drummond, wife of L. Drummond, president of the North Shore Dairy company; Mrs. L. J. Yeoman, and Mrs. Clint H. Bennett, all of Waukegan, were returning from a drive when the car, a new sedan belonging to Mrs. Drummond, became stalled on the tracks at 22d street, North Chicago.

Fail to Hear Train Approach.

The women alighted from the auto and tried to push it off the tracks.

They failed to hear the oncoming locomotive and before they were aware of their danger the train was close upon them.

Three of the women leaped to safety, but Mrs. Wandel, according to witnesses, delayed to give the car one last push. The next moment the train roared past, tossing Mrs. Wandel into a nearby ditch and demolishing the car.

Four Others Die in Day.

The death of Mrs. Wandel was the fifth automobile fatality in the Chicago metropolitan area during the day. Four of the deaths occurred in Cook county, raising the county's toll for the first ten days of 1928 to 15.

William Burton, 65, of 113 South Wood street, was struck and fatally injured by a motor coach at Michigan avenue and Chestnut street.

A south suburban motor bus killed Joseph Jucko, 55, 252 East 157th street, Harvey, in Page avenue near 153d street, Harvey.

Joseph Debikes, 42, of 919 West 33d street, died a few hours after he was struck at 33d street and Auburn avenue by an automobile driven by Joseph Yurkis, 19, of 3350 South Morgan street.

Marvin Manley, colored, 35, of Crete was killed at the crossing of the Lincoln and Dixie highways, north of Chicago Heights, by an automobile which did not stop.

New York City Government Spent $1,080,135,260 in '27

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The city government paid out last year $1,080,135,266, or the cost of the entire national government of Italy, which has a population of 40,000,000. For current expenses, permanent improvements, state taxes and interest and redemption of debts, it paid out $662,340,266, or at the current rate of exchange almost twice the budget of the Belgian government.

FIRE SWEEPS BIG STORAGE HOUSE ON SOUTH SIDE

Flames starting on the second floor of the Hintz Express and Fireproof Storage company's establishment at 420 East 47th street, early this morning, swept rapidly through the two floors above and caused a loss variously estimated at from $125,000 to half a million dollars.

According to Richard Hintz, one of the owners, the entire four stories of the structure were filled with furniture left there for storage. He believed this would be a total loss, and if so, he said it would amount to $500,000. The firemen's estimate of the loss was much smaller.

The flames were not discovered until they had burst through the front of the building and were reaching far across the street. A 4-11 and two special alarms brought a large number of fire companies to the scene. Fire Marshal M. J. Corrigan took personal charge of the fire fighting and within an hour it was under control. Much of the work of the firemen was directed to the saving of the Nickel Electric Garage at 418 East 47th street and the Straus & Schram Furniture company at 424 East 47th street. These places, however, were separated from the Hintz plant by firewalls and were not damaged by the flames.

19 YALE YOUTHS ARE ARRESTED FOR LABOR HANDBILLS

New Haven, Conn., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Nineteen Yale students were arrested this evening, charged with violating the city ordinance prohibiting the distribution of handbills.

They were circulating a pamphlet, issued by the Yale Liberal club, protesting against conditions in the neckwear industry in this city, and were taken into custody near factories which removed here from New York City after the strike and began operating with nonunion labor.

The students declared that their arrest under the ordinance was only a subterfuge to prevent their agitation for the removal of sweatshops from New Haven. Their pamphlet charged that the local newspapers had suppressed facts dealing with union labor's side of the neckwear strike.

Some of the students said they had been advised of their rights by Leo Tullin, a member of the Yale law faculty, whose wife was Justine Wise, the daughter of Rabbi Stephen Wise of New York.

Ejected for Laughing, Brings Suit for $25,000

A theater patron's right to laugh at any point of a performance is upheld in a $25,000 suit filed in the Superior court yesterday by Thomas J. Pillion, salesman, at 414 South Wabash avenue, against the State-Lake theater. The plaintiff, according to his attorney, Otto Baer, was ejected from the vaudeville house a year ago for tittering during a scene not intended to be funny. Pillion is asking compensation for the humiliation he avers he suffered.

Pope Spurns Plea to Unify Christians

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ROME, Jan. 10.—Declaring that Roman Catholicism is the only true Christian religion and reasserting the supremacy and infallibility of the Roman pontiff, Pope Pius XI. today trenchantly rejected the movement favoring the unity of the Christian churches regardless of form or creed. He issued an encyclical, declared to be the most important Vatican document since the war.

The pope asserts the independence of Catholicism, saying the only way to bring about Christian unity is for the Protestants to acknowledge him as the pontiff and again become absorbed in the Roman church, which, the encyclical says, "they miserably abandoned."

Blow to Anglo-Catholics.

The encyclical is interpreted especially as a categorical rejection of the efforts of the Anglo-Catholics of the Church of England, headed by Viscount Halifax, who recently spent some time in Rome trying to arrange an entente with the Catholic church.

The pope warns his bishops in order hat they may warn their flocks against any thought of further negotiations in this direction.

The encyclical declares the sole religion was revealed to the Catholic church, which has maintained itself one and identical throughout the centuries.

Repudiating the Protestant proposals, the pope declares:

"Those who separated from the church deny the unity of faith and church government, therefore they now seek to attain unity by reaching an understanding on some few points which they declare are fundamental ones of faith, but maintaining all other opinions for which they originally abandoned the church.

Opposed by Roman Church.

"This is simply an attempt to convert the revealed truth to transactions of a human character, which would amount to treason, and to which the Roman Catholic church is always opposed.

"The Roman church upholds clearly and in its entirety the evangelical doctrine, because God did not speak for a few people, but all. It is a good thing to foster charity among Christians, but not to the detriment of faith, on which charity is founded, since the disciples of Christ can not differ among themselves as to the truth of their faith."

The pope attacks modernism, which would "make the truth not absolute, but relative and changeable, according to the dispositions of men."

The document ends with a warm appeal to the "sons who separated from the church," and hopes that "those living in error soon will return to the paternal embrace of the successor to St. Peter."

1st Day's Test of Parking Ban Called Success

At the close of the first day's test officials pronounced the loop parking ban a success yesterday. It was estimated that loop traffic had been speeded up from 30 to 50 per cent and that Chicago motorists saved 3,655 hours of driving time in the eleven and one-half hours in which the new law was in effect.

Many drivers left their automobiles at home, it was found, because of a fear that they would be unable to find parking space in unrestricted areas and garages. As a result, the twenty-six garages in the non-parking district and the thirty-four parking lots had plenty of surplus space. There were no more than the daily average of 1,200 cars in the Grant park paid parking space.

Usual Quota of Cars.

Both levels of Wacker drive, Market street and other legal parking spaces had their usual quota of parked cars. There was no double parking, as police had feared. The free parking space in the southeast corner of Grant park accommodated 820 cars instead of the usual average of 350. This was the only increase in parking noted in a survey of the loop area.

In eight trips taken by a TRIBUNE observer through the loop district only two or three violations of the law were noted. Trucks were held strictly to their thirty minute allowance for loading or unloading. The forty-three cab stands with their capacity of 318 cabs were full throughout the day but did not appear to be impeding traffic so much as had been feared by some.

Traffic lights had been speeded up in anticipation of a three miles an hour increase in the speed of traffic. Leslie Sorenson, city traffic engineer, found that some of the lights might have been timed to accommodate an even greater increase in speed. He declared that his best hopes had been exceeded in the working out of the experiment.

Estimates Time Saved.

Pointing out that an average of 146,205 vehicles pass through the loop between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m. daily, a traffic expert estimated that each vehicle saved a minute and a half in its loop trip. This saving of 219,307 minutes or 3,655 hours was one noteworthy benefit of the experiment, he declared.

Checkers were put to work by Mr. Sorenson counting the vehicles entering the loop to determine what increase, if any, in traffic was afforded by the nonparking rule.

Only a few arrest slips were issued. THE TRIBUNE observer attempted to park in half a dozen locations, and each time a policeman was at the automobile almost before it had stopped.

Coöperation Is Needed.

Doubt as to whether the police can continue this system of rigid enforcement of the law was expressed by some observers. The force of nearly 500 policemen cannot be kept in the loop district indefinitely, it was said. Coöperation of the motorists is needed in the future if the ordinance is to be enforced, Capt. Frank Matchett of the traffic division declared.

The city hall and county building curbs were free of the "official" cars usually parked there after a few daring spirits had tested the ordinance in the morning. Cars bearing signs such as "health department emergency car," "police operator," "police repair service," were treated as were the others. Even the fire department officials' automobiles were absent from their stand on Randolph street.

PLEA REFUSED; CHAIR FOR HER, GRAY THURSDAY

Pair Not Told of the Governor's Action.

Mrs. Snyder Not Told

Ossining, N. Y., Jan. 10.—[Special.] — Warden Lawes of Sing Sing withheld from Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Judd Gray the adverse decision of Gov. Al Smith. The warden said: "We do not tell condemned prisoners anything except good news. If relatives want to tell them, that is up to them."

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Gov. Smith denied clemency today to Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, making it practically certain that they will die a few minutes after 11 o'clock Thursday night in the death chair at Sing Sing.

Smith Issues Statement.

Gov. Smith's statement covering his denial of clemency, follows:

"This case has received my anxious consideration, not merely since the hearing before me upon the application for executive clemency, but ever since the Court of Appeals unanimously affirmed the conviction of the defendants.

"The execution of this judgment on a woman is so distressing that I had hoped that the appeal to me for executive clemency would disclose some fact which would justfy my interference with the processes of the law. But this did not happen. I have searched in vain for any basis which my conscience in the light of my oath of office will approve on which I might temper the law with mercy.

"Up to this writing there is no extenuation shown for what the seven judges of the Court of Appeals, in agreement with the twelve jurors and the trial justice, have found to be a deliberate and premeditated murder, committed by these defendants.

"The application for executive clemency is, therefore, denied."

To Make Final Appeals.

Lawyers for Gray and Mrs. Snyder both indicated they would make final appeals tomorrow. Samuel L. Miller, counsel for Gray, said he would first appeal to the Supreme court in Queens county for a stay of execution on the ground of "newly discovered evidence," the nature of which he refused to divulge. If that failed, he said he would ask the federal court for a writ of habeas corpus on the ground that the constitutional rights of his client had been invaded by compulsory trial with Mrs. Snyder for a co-defendant.

Edgar F. Hazelton, chief lawyer for Mrs. Snyder, said he had called his associates, Edgar Wallace and Joseph Lonardo, into consultation for tomorrow afternoon in his office at Jamaica to determine the next move to be taken.

No Constitutional Question.

Mr. Hazelton refused to discuss the possible moves that could be made. At the time the Appellate court confirmed the conviction he said that appeal to the federal courts was impossible for the reason that he had admitted in his appeal that no constitutional question was involved.

Two of Mrs. Snyder's lawyers had a heated disagreement during the day. Joseph Lonardo, who prepared her appeal, advocated immediate appeals, both to state and federal courts, in order to bring about a stay of execution, if possible. Mr. Hazleton opposed any action until some formal announcement had been made by the governor. In a telephone conversation Mr. Hazelton used some harsh words, and Lonardo, in the presence of witnesses, exclaimed:

"You say you will have me disbarred if I try to supplant you as counsel for Mrs. Snyder? You know I have made no such attempt. I do not recognize you as the chief of her counsel."

Telegraph Mrs. Snyder.

Later, however, Lonardo consulted with Hazelton and Wallace, and harmony was restored. All three of them signed a telegram to Mrs. Snyder saying: "Owing to constructive work on your behalf, we are unable to see you today. Our combined efforts needed here."

Mrs. Snyder received spiritual consolation and took the sacrament of the Catholic church from Father John P. McCaffrey, the Catholic chaplain of Sing Sing, during the day. Formerly a Lutheran, she was converted to the Catholic faith while in the Long Island city jail. Warden Lawes denied that she had collapsed, but said she had spent the day in bed. Warden Lawes also said that no narcotics would be administered to either prisoner. Frequently, if there is reason to expect a struggle or an outburst from condemned persons, laudanum or atropine is administered. A prisoner under control of a spiritual adviser nearly always goes to the electric chair quietly, muttering prayers and this is expected in the case of Mrs. Snyder. Gray long ago gave up hope and is believed to have braced himself to a show of courage when he approaches his end.

Still Has Hopes.

Mrs. Snyder had not given up all hope today. She was quoted as saying: "There is still time for something good to happen."

Mrs. Isabel Gray, wife of Henry Judd Gray, called at Sing Sing and talked to her husband in the death house. This was her third interview with him since he was arrested for the murder of Albert Snyder. Mrs. Gray has forgiven her husband, but dread of publicity has prevented her from calling to see him more frequently.

Samuel L. Miller, lawyer for Gray, spent some time at the death house with him talking over final legal efforts and arranging for the disposition of his insurance, which is said to amount to $30,000.

LAST $21 OF GRAY

New York, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Henry Judd Gray, sentenced to die Thursday night for his part in the murder of Albert Snyder, today requested that the $21 which constitutes all his remaining funds be expended for the benefit of inmates of the death house who survive him.

He asked that $15 of the money be used to feast the other inmates of the death house.

In a note to Warden Lawes he requested the privilege of transferring to F. Dixie Baldwin, a friendless Negro also condemned for murder, the other $6, "as he hasn't any one to help him and this will keep him in cigarets for the time at least."

Gray has willed his property and insurance to his wife and child.

ONE-ARM DRIVER LIABLE EVEN IF HIS GIRL PETS

Madison, Wis., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Girls who pet with drivers of motor cars may be accused of indiscretion but are not guilty of contributory negligence, the Supreme court ruled in effect today in deciding a case against Arthur S. Hall of Chicago, formerly of Milwaukee.

Hall appealed to the high court from a decision of the lower court granting hospital expenses and other costs to Miss Frances Krause of Oshkosh, Wis., injured in an automobile accident while driving home with Hall from a dance.

Testimony showed the accident resulted while Hall was driving with one arm, the other being around Miss Krause's waist, and when he attempted to kiss her. Hall claimed contributory negligence on the girl's part, but the high court disagreed.

AUSTIN BAND TO GIVE CONCERT.

The Austin high school band, composed of 70 pieces, will present a concert in the school auditorium, 5417 West Fulton street, Friday evening at 8:15. The band is directed by Capt. Edwin O. Schildhouer.

FOES PUT OFF PRIMARY FIGHT TILL NEXT WEEK

Small and Brennan Men Call Armistice.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—An armistice in the primary legislation war was agreed upon late this afternoon. Instead of sending their forces at each other on the floor of the special session of the Illinois general assembly, Gov. Len Small and George E. Brennan, Democratic generalissimo, will sit down together next week and try to reach an understanding satisfactory to everybody.

Whether final terms of peace can be reached depends on whether Mr. Brennan gets the particular slice of legislation he demands—the power to elect a solid Al Smith delegation from Illinois. In that event he will retire from the field and let the governor put through his program for April primaries.

Forecasts of this turn of events on the first day of the special session would have been ridiculed yesterday, but when it came it was not a big surprise, as the first few hours showed the governor in a diplomatic and not a warlike mood.

Start Working Smoothly.

By the time the two houses met it was apparent Mr. Small was not trying to use force. He had issued no orders. Each house started to work out its own program. Then came a specific bit of evidence of the administration's willingness to trade. As drafted last week, the general primary bill ousted the state's attorney of each county from membership on the county contest board. This was particularly offensive to State's Attorney Crowe of Cook county, and when the bill was introduced it was found to be changed so that the state's attorney was included in the board.

This was considered a concession to Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Thompson-Crowe organization, who came here accompanied by B. W. Snow prepared to give battle on this point.

Both Houses at Work.

Each house was going on as it saw fit, the senate advancing to second reading without reference to committee all the twenty-eight bills that it received, and the house verging toward bitter hostilities that brought on one bit of protracted debate. That was over the question whether the seven primary and election bills should be referred to the committee on elections or considered in the committee of the whole.

At noon the steering committee had voted seven to six for the former procedure. The governor took no hand in this action, and when, at the afternoon session it was upset by a vote of 85 to 48 it was evident he had not used the whip.

Called Into Conference.

Having thus determined to sit as a committee of the whole, the house adjourned until tomorrow morning, and it was at this point that Mr. Small sent his personal counsel, Werner W. Schroeder, to ask Representative Michael L. Igoe, Democratic floor leader and field general for Mr. Brennan, to come to his office. The same invitation was extended to Attorney Henry Berger, counsel for the plaintiff in the Cook county suit which led to Judge Harry M. Fisher's injunction against the primary law.

Exactly what occurred in that conference has not been disclosed, but it is believed the governor asked the Democrats what program they thought should be followed. However the subject was broached, it became known not much later that Representative Igoe said that Mr. Brennan—now at Washington for the national Democratic committee meeting—would be here next week and suggested that further proceedings be delayed until that time.

Wait for Brennan's Return.

The governor agreed to the proposal and after the news had been conveyed to them, leaders of both houses said that the primary and election laws would remain in their present status until the Small-Brennan negotiations have been concluded by peace or by open declarations of war.

In the latter event, it is expected Mr. Brennan will do everything in his power to prevent the governor from getting the 102 votes in the lower house necessary for the emergency clause, which would make April primaries possible, the battle centering there because it is believed he could accumulate the two-thirds vote in the senate without much trouble.

The attendance today was surprising to the experts. In the house there were 133 on hand, only thirteen of the present membership being absent. In the senate the roll call showed forty-seven, only four being absent.

As the first order of real business the house met in joint session in the hall of the lower chamber to listen to Gov. Small read his message, in which he described the need for the various parts of his program, primary, and election enactments, tax rate and bonding power litigation, and a few special matters.

When the senate returned to its own chamber the various bunches of bills were presented and advanced, the only break in the monotony being a resolution by Senator Thomas J. Courtney of Chicago seeking a way to urge the Supreme court to hand down as soon as possible its opinion in the case of Kell vs. Kramer, a test of the general primary law, now in its hands. Until it rules action was deferred until tomorrow.

Examination of the bills showed few differences from the forecasts of last week. The principal one was that concerning the personnel of the county contest board in connection with which it was found that a proposal to create a county certifying board, thereby depriving the county clerk of his power in determining the order of candidates' name on the ballot, had not been followed.

Bills Are Modified.

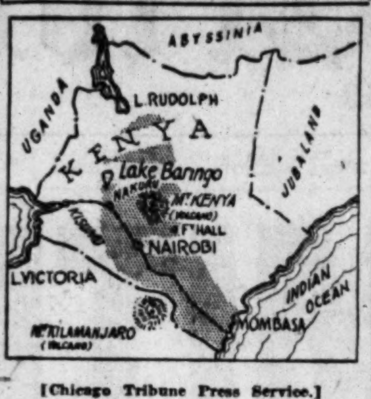
The general primary bill and the party organization bill, the latter including the presidential preference primary, instead of providing for primaries on April 24, as had been discussed, specified the second Tuesday in April, which means April 10 this year, as the date of voting. The latter bill allows the election of delegates at large by the state convention instead of by state-wide vote, as was required before the adoption of the 1927 law. There are alternative bills on party organization, one providing for ward committeemen in Cook county and the other providing for precinct committeemen throughout the state.

The house of representatives did not receive the bills, a duplicate set being introduced there, until its afternoon meeting. At that time Representative John P. Devine led the fight against the primary bills, being heard in the elections committee, to which they had been referred by Speaker Robert Scholes.

It was necessary for him to muster 77 votes to take them away from the elections committee, but his plea that the subject was one of such importance it should be considered by the whole house won out.

Every desk in each house this morning bore an ornate calendar presented by Mayor Thompson of Chicago. It bore a portrait of Abraham Lincoln and an extract from the Gettysburg address, followed by Lincoln's signature. Below this was "Greetings of the Season," with the autograph of William Hale Thompson.

EARTHQUAKES



[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CAPETOWN, South Africa, Jan. 10.—A series of earth tremors in Kenya, British East Africa, culminated in three severe earthquakes today. A fissure nine miles long appeared in the Lake Baringo area. The shocks were most violent at Nairobi, where a crowd was routed from a theater, cars were shifted, and people ran into the streets in their night clothes. At Mombasa buildings were damaged; at Nakuru a factory chimney crashed to the ground. Roman Catholic buildings in Fort Hall, Kenya, were destroyed. Five nuns returning from chapel found their beds buried under fallen masonry. The commissioner's residence at Rumuriti was destroyed.

MYSTERY MARKS DISAPPEARANCE OF AUTO VICTIM

Investigation of the disappearance from the Alexian Brothers' hospital of Timothy Kelly, 19, 516 West 45th street, victim of an automobile accident, was begun this morning by the Stockyards police upon the request of relatives.

Injured while riding Nov. 24 in a motorbus operated by the De Luxe Motor Stage company, the youth was brought to Chicago and underwent treatment at the Jefferson Park hospital. He felt ill again on Dec. 7, according to his brother, John Kelly, and applied for admission to the Alexian Brothers' hospital. On Dec. 23 he was taken from the hospital by a man, believed to be a lawyer, upon the pretense of having an X-ray photograph taken of his injuries, according to his brother, John, and has not been seen since.

REPORTER FREED IN LARCENY OF AL SMITH STORY

Concord, N. H., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Fred H. Thompson, Boston Post reporter, was acquitted by a jury in Superior court today of larceny of a statement from Gov. Alfred E. Smith belonging to the Atlantic Monthly from the Rumford Press in this city.

Judge Oscar L. Young, at the conclusion of the state's case Saturday morning, had dismissed another indictment charging Thompson with larceny of the same statement, but on motion by Robert W. Upton, counsel for Thompson, Judge Young ordered the jury also to bring in a directed verdict of acquittal on that count.

Gov. Smith's statement which figured in the trial concerned the attitude of a Catholic toward the presidency. The Atlantic Monthly claimed that its advance publication in the Boston paper destroyed its value in the magazine.

CITY PROVIDES OFFICIALS WITH AUTOS AND GAS

Pays $50,000 to Buy Cars in 8 Months.

New private automobiles for city officials, purchased during the last eight months, have cost the taxpayers of Chicago close to $50,000 and at least that much more will be spent for the maintenance of such cars during 1928.

An analysis yesterday of appropriations in this year's budget, adopted by the council Monday, revealed a surprising increase in the outlay chargeable to the desire of aldermen and members of the mayor's cabinet, at little expense to themselves, despite the lack of funds for other items such as more policemen and firemen.

Helps Aldermen Run Cars.

The outstanding new automobile appropriation this year is that of $35,280, which will give each alderman $60 a month for gas, oil, and repairs for his own machine.

Department heads, apparently, have fared even better. For example, the council last summer bought a new $5,000 limousine for City Controller Charles C. Fitzmorris. In the 1928 budget he is allotted $1,000 to keep it going, and presumably will get $1,000 annually. That is $2.75 a day, including Sundays and holidays.

Among other cabinet members with new machines bought with city money since they took office are Corporation Counsel Samuel A. Ettelson, Commissioner of Police Michael Hughes, Commissioner of Public Works Richard W. Wolfe, Michael J. Faherty, head of the board of local improvements; Mrs. Eva Hamilton, chairman of the zoning board of appeals, and Boiler Inspector George E. Nye.

For Official Duties.

All of these machines, as appropriated for, are to be used for "official duties." Just what are the "official duties" requiring use of the controller's care, for instance, aside from coming to and going home from the city hall, seems problematical.

The estimated $100,000 automobile expense, it was pointed out, refers solely to the cars of the higher officials as distinguished from those used in routine municipal business by electrical, sewer, street, health, and other departmental employés. Maintenance of these machines costs the city an additional $350,000 a year.

The budget also includes about $10,000 for "transportation purposes" to pay street car and taxicab fares. Before the motor car era, when all officials had to be content with riding in street cars or buggies, the only items for traveling within the city came under this designation. Now, apparently, everybody of any consequence has a private automobile, paid for and maintained by the city treasury.

"Before and After" Tests Show Traffic Is Speeded

From Wacker drive and Clark street, through the loop at a steady speed of 16 miles an hour, to Harrison street, a distance of nine blocks, in four minutes. That was the experience yesterday of a TRIBUNE reporter in an automobile, who was testing out the effect of the nonparking law.

Eight trips of from seven to nine blocks in length were taken through the nonparking district. The same trips had been taken Monday when thirty-minute parking was permitted. The average speed of the car, with parking allowed, was 10 miles per hour. Yesterday, the speed varied from 13 to 16 miles an hour, the variance being due to uneven timing of the stop and go lights.

On two of the trips, two and one-half minutes were lopped off the driving time. Savings of from one-half minute to two minutes were noted on other trips. On only one trip was the time the same and that was caused by a traffic jam in Michigan boulevard.

Following is a table showing the comparative time taken to make the trips before and after the parking ordinance went into effect:

ROUTE—		Elapsed time of trip.	Number of stops.	Distance.
From Wacker-dr. south on Clark-st. to Harrison-st.	With parking	6 minutes	2	9 blocks
	No parking	4 minutes	4	9 blocks
From Harrison-st. north on Wabash-av. to Wacker-dr.	With parking	7 minutes	8	9 blocks
	No parking	5 minutes	3	9 blocks
From Michigan-blvd. west on Madison-st. to Market-st.	With parking	6 minutes	4	8 blocks
	No parking	3½ minutes	3	8 blocks
From Market-st. east on Lake-st. to Michigan-blvd.	With parking	5 minutes	3	8 blocks
	No parking	4½ minutes	5	8 blocks
From Michigan-blvd. and Lake-st. to Tribune Public Service office	With parking	4 minutes	3	7 blocks
	No parking	4 minutes	2	7 blocks
From Tribune Public Service office to Franklin and Harrison-sts.	With parking	7 minutes	4	9 blocks
	No parking	4½ minutes	5	9 blocks
From Harrison-st. and Michigan-blvd. to Tribhne Public Service office	With parking	5 minutes	4	8 blocks
	No parking	4½ minutes	4	8 blocks
From Tribune Public Service office to Market-st. and Wacker-dr.	With parking	5 minutes	3	9 blocks
	No parking	4 minutes	5	9 blocks

Speeding up of traffic under the elevated structure in Wabash avenue was particularly noticeable. It appeared that the drive under the "L" in Lake street would have been made in quicker time if the traffic lights had been properly adjusted to meet the faster traffic.

and several minutes were cut off the usual time required to answer an alarm.

Merchants Withhold Judgment.

State street department store merchants withheld expressions of approval or disapproval pending a further test of the ordinance. Business did not seem to be affected by the law, they admitted, and some went so far as to say that trade might be benefitted by the new law.

The Yellow Cab company and other taxicab companies reported that one result of the parking ban was a cut in fares to the public because drivers were enabled to make their runs in the loop with fewer stops. An average decrease of from 10 to 20 cents in the cost of a loop trip was noted by Yellow Cab drivers, it was announced.

"Careful checks made during the day proved beyond question that the benefits of the prohibition of parking in the loop are shared by all who use the streets," announced Guy A. Richardson, vice president of the Chicago surface lines. "Automobiles and street cars were speeded up materially."

BURGLAR'S LOOT WOULD ALMOST FURNISH A HOME

A piano was the only thing lacking last night to complete the list of household articles looted by Harry Kerr of Brookfield, who worked day and night as a burglar following his release on parole. More than $35,000 worth of stolen property, recovered several days ago, was piled up at the detective bureau for identification by victims of robberies.

Kerr was arrested several days ago after he was found trying to warm up the cold motor of his truck by building a fire underneath it. An investigation of the truck's contents disclosed Kerr's activities.

Dr. J. A. Peterson claimed a kit of surgical instruments and a blood testing machine taken by Kerr. Gilbert Nelson, 5036 Wentworth avenue, found his missing set of band saws mixed in the loot. An entire shoe repairer's outfit is still awaiting an owner.

So Now Lillian Reposes in Bridewell Hospital

For many years Lillian Rose of 1109 West Washington boulevard, has earned a living by doing housework. The work was so well done that numerous housewives have given Lillian letters of recommendation. But yesterday Lillian fell on the sidewalk not far from home and cracked a wrist. At the county hospital a group of nurses were somewhat surprised to see Lillian's wig drop off. Questioning elicited the fact that Lillian is a man. The perplexed police took him to the bridewell hospital.

BARBER UNIONS DEMAND 35 CENT SHAVES IN LOOP

Start to Organize Shops for Price Boost.

Loop barbers, who belong to the Master Barbers' association of Chicago have joined with officers of the Journeymen Barbers' union to organize the barber shops in the downtown district, William A. Voight, secretary of the masters' organization, announced last night.

Voight said that when the loop barber shops are organized the price of shaves will be raised from 25 cents to 35 cents, while hair cuts will remain at 75 cents. Higher rents and increased overhead expense are given as reasons for the contemplated increase in the price of shaves.

Some Still Ask Only 50 Cents.

While 75 cents is given as the standard price of hair cutting in the loop, it was learned that the majority of one and two chair shops charge 60 cents and some were found that still retain the old 50 cent rate, with 20 cents for a shave. It is to line up these barbers in both the union and association of barbers that the organization campaign has been launched, it was said.

"In Evanston and sections of Rogers Park and other outlying districts the price of shaves is now 35 cents," said Mr. Voight.

Loop Shops 20% Organized.

"And in many of these same sections of the city the cost of haircutting is 80 cents. In the loop there are a lot of cheap barbers and naturally the cost of tonsorial work in the downtown district is lower than in the outlying districts. At present only about 20 per cent of the loop barber shops are organized. But with the aid of the Barbers' union the master barbers expect their organization campaign to be a success."

One loop barber who charges 50 cents for haircuts and 20 cents for shaves said the union prices in the outlying barber shops have driven the barber trade to the loop.

"Mention my name and soon I'll have some unpleasant visitors," he said. "But my prices are regulated so I derive a fair profit."

LOWDEN'S NAME IS ENTERED IN NORTH DAKOTA PRIMARY

Bismarck, N. D., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Former Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois will be entered in the North Dakota Republican presidential primary in March, according to a telegram received here today from Lowden headquarters in Chicago.

The telegram, sent by Clarence F. Buck, manager of the Chicago headquarters, to the Bismarck Tribune, said:

"The name of Gov. Frank O. Lowden of Illinois will be entered in the North Dakota Republican primary."

In view of Mr. Buck's telegram, Lowden adherents here look for an early definite announcement by the former Illinois governor, who has made no statement committing himself to the candidacy.

To enter the North Dakota presidential preference primary which will take place March 20, candidates must file petitions bearing not less than 500 voters' signatures.

147 MEMBERS OF SICILY'S MAFIA SENT TO PRISON

ROME, Jan. 10.—(AP)—One hundred and forty-seven members of the notorious Mafia were found guilty today by a jury at Termini Imerese, Sicily, of various crimes, including murder.

Seven of those arrested in the roundup of the gang, which had terrorized Sicily for a generation, were acquitted. The jury was out for three days after a trial which lasted three months.

After the verdict was announced the crown prosecutor asked the court to impose these penalties: Hard labor for life for seven, thirty years' imprisonment for eight, and imprisonment of from five to twenty-five years for the others convicted.

Mrs. C. D. Levy Leaves $700,000 to Relatives

The will of Mrs. Clemence Dreyfus Levy, who died in Paris Jan. 3, was filed yesterday before Edward S. Scheffler, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. KIBITZER CLUB FORMS TO TALK LOUDLY AT CARDS

When the Kibitzer club begins operating with a large force of members in South Chicago it is likely that there will be a large increase in domestic squabbles.

A charter issued to the organization yesterday by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson states that its object is to encourage scientific card playing. Membership entitles bearers of credentials to converse loudly at all card games, stand behind players and advise them, correct their mistakes, help losers and to supply them with towels to wipe away their tears.

Among the organizers are Emil G. Seip, 6834 Oglesby avenue, and Robert Worden, 2905 East 91st street. Mr. Seip declined last night to tell why the club was formed. He referred all questions to Mr. Worden. The latter was out of town.

German Chemists Try to Extract Sugar from Air

Police Commissioner Hughes, in making the appointment, praised Barry.

CITY TO PURIFY WATER SUPPLY, KEGEL DECLARES

Finds How Cleveland Got Rid of Phenol.

Citizens of Chicago may soon expect a stream of clean, tasteless and absolutely safe drinking water flowing from their taps was the hope held forth last night by Dr. Arnold H. Kegel, new commissioner of health.

Dr. Kegel has announced a comprehensive program to rid the drinking water of the odious phenol, the unsightly grime, and the overloads of chlorine which have made miserable thousands of Chicagoans, especially those living on the south side.

Armed with authority, advised how Clevelanders had suffered the same nuisance and how they got rid of it, given reports from investigators he already had sent to search the causes and suggest some remedies, Commissioner Kegel last night viewed with hope the possibilities of an early relief.

Water Long Bad, He Says.

"The water didn't just go to pieces when I became health commissioner," he observed. "It has been bad for a long time. But we are striving by every means to make it better."

The following major steps have been taken by Dr. Kegel in his fight to improve the water:

1. All citizens whose businesses or industries have suffered financial losses because of the taint in the water were asked yesterday to write the full facts to Dr. Kegel, so that he may be armed with proof of the damage.
2. Officials of all Indiana municipalities on the shore of Lake Michigan were asked to determine what remedies may be applied.
3. Investigators were sent to Cleveland and to Pittsburgh to report on how those cities met the same problem.
4. The corporation counsel rendered an opinion holding that the city may apply to the courts to demand relief from guilty cities and industries, if it is not voluntarily given.

Other Officials Help.

Coöperating with Dr. Kegel are Corporation Counsel Samuel Ettelson and Richard W. Wolfe, commissioner of public works. They are members of a special board appointed at Dr. Kegel's suggestion by Mayor Thompson.

The health commissioner's investigator in Cleveland learned, it was reported to Dr. Kegel, that three years ago the whole populace was up in arms over the bad water. It was filtered and chlorinated, but the taste often was vile.

So an investigation was begun, and Howell Wright, director of Cleveland's department of public works, discovered that the steel plants in the western portion of the city, on the Cuyahoga river, were pouring chemical wastes into the river, which empties into Lake Erie and carried the pollution into the water intake off shore.

Three companies, the American Steel and Wire, the Otis Steel, and the McKinney Steel companies, were found the chief causes of complaint.

The principal chemical in the steel companies' wastes was phenol, also called carbolic acid, which was discharged as a by-product from the coke ovens of the plants, and which ran with the water through the expensive filter plants of the city. When chlorine was added, to sterilize the water, it combined with the phenol to make a highly offensive compound.

The companies, at an expense reckoned by Mr. Wright at $500,000, found a means of diverting the phenol wastes from the other sewage of the plants, and since then those wastes have been used to quench the coke, and are turned to vapor.

In the winter of the next year, 1926, there wasn't a single complaint from a citizen on the taste of the water.

Cleveland Encourages Kegel.

Shown this encouraging example from Cleveland, Commissioner Kegel brought forth the other steps he has taken to give Chicagoans water they will love to drink.

The first step was to ascertain the legal means by which the city could compel a cleanup. Corporation Counsel Ettleson yesterday approved an opinion, drafted by Attorney James G. Drennan of the city staff, which holds that the Indiana cities and industries can be compelled by the federal courts to stop polluting Chicago's water supply.

Dr. Kegel has sent investigators to Indiana to determine which industries are guilty.

Discussing his invitation to the city at large to send him evidences of losses caused by tainted water, Commissioner Kegel declared a packing firm at the stock yards reported to him yesterday that it had been compelled to condemn $150,000 worth of meat which had been washed with the polluted water.

Arrest Evanston Boy, 10, Surrounded by Ten Pies

With the arrest of Dana McGee, colored, 10, the Evanston police believe they have solved the mystery that has surrounded the looting of numerous pie wagons recently. Patrolmen Bussean and Bell, following a trail of raspberry juice from a wagon to the rear porch at 1725 Emerson street, Evanston, found Dana eating the third of a pile of ten pies which had been taken as the vehicle stood in front of 1852 Sherman street.

CARARBITRATORS, IN DEADLOCK, TO SELECT UMPIRE

Arbitrators selected to adjust demands of Chicago street car men for a 15 cent an hour wage increase announced yesterday they were unable to reach any agreement and have decided to meet again tomorrow morning and attempt to select a third and impartial umpire.

Selection of a third judge automatically limits the power of the arbitration board to make an award covering a one year contract. In the original agreement the two arbitrators were empowered to make an award which would cover a three year contract. Disagreement limited the award to a one year pact.

Ald. Oscar F. Nelson was selected to represent the transportation employés of the surface lines. Guy A. Richardson, operating chief of the surface lines, has been representing the traction companies. Both will submit a list of men whom they believe will be acceptable to both sides, and from the list one will be selected to supervise the arbitration proceedings, which may last a month or more, it is said.

MESIROW DENIES WIFE'S CHARGES AGAINST SINGER

Dr. Maurice E. Mesirow yesterday defended Mme. Irene Pavloska of the Chicago Civic Opera company from charges made by his wife, Mrs. Eda Mesirow, that the singer enticed him from his fireside.

Dr. Mesirow filed an answer to his wife's amended bill for separate maintenance. He said he had no affection for his spouse long before he met the mezzo-soprano.

He alleges further that there has been nothing wrong in his relations with Mme. Pavloska.

Woodrow Wilson Statue Is Presented to Prague

John A. Cervenke, former city treasurer and the president of the Czecho-Slovakian National council, announced yesterday that a bronze statue of the late President Wilson will be unveiled during the present year in Prague, the Czecho-Slovakian capital. It will be a gift from the Czecho-Slovaks of America to their native country, Mr. Cervenka asserted.

OFFICIAL GAG IS PLACED ON ALL ARMY, NAVY MEN

Magruder and Summerall Are Examples.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—For the first time in the memory of living men the army and navy are now completely gagged.

As a result of the heroic measures adopted by President Coolidge to stop disclosures of the inadequacy and inefficiency of our national defenses and of inefficiency, waste, and extravagance in the war and navy departments, every officer now wears the official muzzle and is well aware of the penalty of removing it.

The disciplining of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder and of Maj. Gen. C. P. Summerall for public utterances on conditions in the navy and the army respectively, has had the desired effect. The lid has been clamped down tighter than ever and fear of the stern commander in chief in the White House pervades both services.

Magruder Is Humiliated.

Seldom has an officer suffered the humiliation that has been the portion of Admiral Magruder and Gen. Summerall for utterances that aroused the ire of the administration. Magruder, who came into collision with the higher-ups as a result of publication of his views of the shortcomings of the navy, was deprived of his command of the Philadelphia navy yard and haled to Washington where he has been subjected to treatment calculated to impress him and every other officer with the heinousness of the crime of telling the public how he thinks the national defense might be improved and more economically managed.

Gen. Summerall was peremptorily summoned back to Washington from an inspection tour because Mr. Coolidge saw the general quoted in the press to the effect that housing of our army is inadequate. The general returned and explained that he was misquoted, but he was not allowed to complete his tour of inspection. Even if the general had said what was credited to him he would have erred on the side of understatement of the facts in regard to army housing, the state of which is notorious and a disgrace to the nation.

Must Be Laudatory.

Every officer now knows that he will get what Magruder and Summerall got if he opens his head on the subject of the shortcomings of the army and navy. He is at liberty to talk as much as he pleases, of course, so long as what he says is laudatory of the higher-ups and in no sense critical of the administration.

Efforts to intimidate the press with a view to preventing the publication of disclosures of phases of our national unpreparedness even have been made, but so far as is known have been unsuccessful.

The gagging of the army and navy is highly satisfactory to the pacifist organizations which for years have been branding as militaristic every utterance revealing the inadequacy of our national defense. They have also denounced such utterances as propaganda for the purpose of influencing congress to increase appropriations for the army and navy.

President Coolidge himself has characterized such disclosures of army and navy conditions as appropriation-seeking propaganda, greatly to the satisfaction of the pacifist groups which are continually circularizing their supporters to write to Mr. Coolidge regarding the menace of militarism in the two services.

To such a pass has the gagging of the army and navy come that an official connected with either cannot resign without first notifying the President of his desire to do so. The tip to be careful in this particular was passed down the line in the two services when one official was called on the carpet at the executive office to explain certain intimations appearing in the press that he was thinking of resigning.

Since the gag was applied the annual reports of the heads of the war and navy departments have been toned down so as to minimize deficiencies. In the conclusions appended to his last annual report Secretary of the Navy Wilbur devotes less than a paragraph to the material condition of the fleet, which is unfit for war as a result of lack of funds.

Twice as much space in the conclusion is devoted to a description of the conduct of the enlisted men when ashore in New York last May.

"There were no oaths, no intoxication and no disagreeable words," Mr. Wilbur reported, and added that the 30,000 men ashore had made 75,000 visits to the Brooklyn Y. M. C. A.

REV. WARREN'S APPEAL HEARD IN SECRET TODAY

Where and at what time the appeal committee of the Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church will today consider the rehearing of the case against the Rev. J. A. L. Warren of Durand, will not be known until the members gather this morning at 10 o'clock at the Methodist Temple, 77 West Washington street.

It is probable that the hearing, which will be strictly private, will take place somewhere in the Temple building, but there is also a possibility that it may be transferred to some church.

Dr. Warren, who was expelled from the conference on charges brought by Hazel Lamb of Durand, is expected to be present at the hearing. It is also anticipated that evidence will be presented that may affect the credibility of the accuser, who is reputed to have signed an affidavit repudiating some or all of her statements.

Bishop E. L. Waldorf will preside. The Rev. John Thompson will represent Dr. Warren.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

I. C. C. APPROVES REORGANIZATION OF ST. PAUL ROAD

Receivership Terminated Under New Plan.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Approval of the reorganization plan under which the receivership of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul will be terminated and its properties taken over by the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad company was announced today by the interstate commerce commission.

Chairman J. B. Campbell and Commissioners J. B. Eastman, Frank McManamy, and E. I. Lewis dissented. The majority of the commission, while indicating that it did not like provisions of the reorganization plan, held that it was more in the public interest to approve the application of the new company to take over the old company's properties and issue securities than to refuse approval and thus pave the way for an indefinite period of receivership.

With its decision approving the Milwaukee reorganization plan, the commission issued its report on its investigation into the history, management, financial, and other operations of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul.

"Shocked at Bankruptcy."

"For many years the St. Paul had been considered one of the strongest railroad properties," said the commission. "As of Dec. 31, 1924, it operated approximately 11,000 miles of road, had a total capitalization of over $700,000,000, and in 1924 its operating revenues were nearly $160,000,000.

"When such a company became bankrupt at a time when general railroad conditions had greatly improved the country was shocked."

Construction of the Puget sound extension was perhaps the chief of the causes that finally culminated in the receivership, said the commission.

Impairment of the financial structure of the company was brought about by a disproportionate issue of bonds with ill arranged maturities, the commission continued, adding that regulation authorized by congress with respect to securities now provided a safeguard to certain extent against such developments.

The investigation disclosed, according to the report, that many of the Milwaukee directors knew comparatively little about the affairs of their company, and that some of them were affiliated with interests that conflicted in one way or another with the interests of the railroad company.

Apathy Blamed.

"The state of affairs shown by this record is, unfortunately, neither new nor rare," said the commission. "Inertia upon the part of stockholders and inattention and irresponsibility on the part of at least some directors have usually attended railroad insolvencies in the past. Reliance is generally placed upon some one else; stockholders rely upon directors to choose managers; directors having chosen managers, rely upon them, and there the matter ends. Theoretically, stockholders are supposed to check up their managers. In the present case few or none such checks seem to have been applied. Stockholders seem to have been indifferent to their rights and directors to their duties."

The commission dismissed the question of the effect of the freight rate structure on the Milwaukee's situation by saying that the law with respect to regulation of rates was ample and adequate for the protection of both shippers and carriers.

Securities Authorized.

Electric power contracts entered into by the old company were "not altogether wise and prudent," said the commission, adding that the new company should give careful consideration to the question of modification of them.

Under the decision, in the reorganization proceeding the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul, and Pacific, the new company, is authorized to acquire and operate the properties of the old company. The commission also authorized the new company to acquire control of the Chicago, Terre Haute, and Southeastern, the Chicago, Milwaukee, and Gary, Davenport, Rock Island, and Northwestern, White Sulphur Springs, and Yellowstone Park, Indiana Harbor Belt, Minnesota Transfer railway, Minneapolis Eastern, Chicago Union Station company, St. Paul Union Depot company, Kansas City Terminal railway, and Des Moines Union Railway company.

Stock authorized to be issued under the reorganization plan includes 1,174,060 shares of common stock without nominal or par value, $119,845,800 of preferred stock, par value $100 a share, and from time to time such additional amounts of stock up to 914,368 shares of common stock and $91,436,900 of preferred stock as may be necessary to convert the 5 per cent convertible adjustment-mortgage bonds into stock.

Plan Still Defective.

Bond issues authorized include $106,395,096 of fifty year 5 per cent mortgage bonds and $182,983,693 of 5 per cent convertible adjustment mortgage bonds.

Authority to issue an undetermined amount of general mortgage 5 per cent gold bonds was denied without prejudice to resubmittal of that part of the application later. The new company, according to the commission, had no plans to sell or pledge this class of stock at this time.

The reorganization, in the light of an ideal financial plan, was defective, said the commission, but it added it did not feel warranted in deferring action until an ideal plan could be perfected.

The great majority of the security holders of the old company agreed to the plan, said the commission, while the protestants were only "a small number of bondholders owning a relatively small percentage of general and refunding bonds."

Payment of any underwriting commission by the new company was forbidden by the commission. The company said it did not think underwriting would be necessary.

Provision in the plan for an assessment of $4 a share to be paid by the stockholders and for the setting aside of $1.50 of each $4 paid for expenses of the reorganization managers—Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the National City company of New York city—was discussed by the commission. It said a total of $3,500,000 would be raised in that way for reorganization expenses.

"Jurisdictioin of this proceeding," said the commission, "will be reserved for the purpose of taking further testimony as to the expenses of the reorganization, the nature and scope of the services performed for the compensation, and fees claimed and any other matters appropriate in the premises, and for the entering of pertinent orders in connection therewith.

Wanted Receivership Ended.

"The authority herein granted to the applicant to issue its securities in accordance with the plan will be upon the express condition that the applicant shall impound in a separate fund the money received from the payment of $4 a share by the holders of preferred and common stock, and shall not pay from such fund any amounts unless and until authorized by due order of court or by this commission.

"It seems appropriate here to recall that in the last several years we have seen to become effective a number of reorganization plans involving capital structures which, like that dealt with in this report, left something to be desired from the point of view of fully sound financial standards. We have done this in full appreciation of these shortcomings, and solely upon the ground that the major public interest seemed to us to require that the properties concerned should at the earliest possible moment be released from receivership and restored to active management by those financially interested therein."

BECK DEFENDS RIGHT TO CONGRESS SEAT AT COMMITTEE HEARING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—James M. Beck, fighting to retain his seat as a Republican representative from Pennsylvania, today described himself as a Philadelphian who was in his home town "almost every week."

Testifying under oath before the house elections committee investigating Democratic charges that he is ineligible because he was not an inhabitant of Pennsylvania at the time of his election, Mr. Beck, a former solicitor general of the United States, described his Washington home as that which held the things he loved most.

His books and paintings are in Washington, he added, asserting that his residence here was pretentious as compared to his Philadelphia apartment.

"I admit that I spend more time in my Washington home than in my Philadelphia home," Mr. Beck said, "but I am in Philadelphia almost every week."

The fight before the committee against Beck is being conducted by Representative Kent [Dem., Pa.].

Kent declared the former solicitor general's taxes were paid in New Jersey and that he was a legal resident of that state.

Italy and Serbia Extend Treaty of Friendship

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, Jan. 10.—Italy has accepted Jugo-Slavia's request to prolong automatically the treaty of friendship between the two nations, signed five years ago, which would have lapsed Jan. 27. This agreement is taken to mean that the two countries have made considerable progress toward a common understanding about the Balkans and Adriatic and that advances have been made toward an understanding between Italy and Jugo-Slavia's ally, France.

TROOPS RETAKE NICARAGUA TOWN FROM DESERTERS

U. S. Marines on Way to Aid Loyal Soldiers.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 10.—(AP)—After what was reported to be a serious situation in Somotillo, in the department of Chinandega, near the Honduran border, because of the desertion of a number of members of the Nicaraguan national guard, Col. Louis Mason Gulick, commanding the United States marines, announced today that the little town was in the hands of loyal national guards, who are coöperating with the marines against the rebels.

A detachment of marines dispatched from Chinandega yesterday morning, because of the desertion of the guards and the report that the entire town was in revolt, is expected to reach Somotillo this evening.

Misled by Bandits, He Says.

In giving his version of the action of the guardsmen, Col. Gulick said that about six guards, with a sergeant, the latter having been punished for an offense, had been persuaded by the Honduran general, Peralto, to desert Sunday afternoon. The commander of the marines is of the opinion that they were misled by the agitation of followers of the bandit leader, Gen. Sandino.

(Dispatches on Monday said the deserters fired on Capt. Paul Payne of the marine corps, who was commanding the guardsmen and on the guards who remained loyal. Payne and his comrades fled to Villa Nueva, six miles distant, and after obtaining reinforcements went back and attacked Somotillo, but were driven off, the dispatches said. One marine was reported to have been killed. The foregoing dispatch would indicate that loyal troops have recaptured Somotillo.)

100 U. S. Sailors Landed.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Jan. 10.—The flagship Pittsburgh of the special service squadron landed 100 bluejackets today to replace the marine detachments at Leon and Chinandega, which were ordered to Quilali. They were the first sailors landed in Nicaragua since the peace arrangement was made last May between Col. Henry L. Stimson, representative of President Coolidge, and the Liberal commanding general, Moncada. The United States marines and bluejackets ashore now number in excess of 1,500.

Another marine plane made a forced landing at Trinidad today and was destroyed when it burst into flames. The pilot was uninjured.

Marines Kill Nicaraguan.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Jan. 10.—(AP)—P. Escobar, on trial for murder, was shot and killed by United States marines today. Escobar, just as a marine corps lieutenant started to lock him up, broke into a run. The lieutenant fired, hitting Escobar in the left shoulder. Two enlisted marines then opened fire. Escobar fell and died a half hour later.

ACCUSED OF AUTO THEFT.

Lindbergh Takes Panama's Chiefs Up for Air Jaunts

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PANAMA CITY, Jan. 10.—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh made two flights above Panama City today, with President Rodolfo Chiari his passenger on the first trip and Vice President Tomas G. Duque on the second. The flights were made in an all-metal army observation plane.

An enormous crowd assembled at Campo Lindbergh to watch the flights. After Col. Lindbergh had taken President Chiari over Albrook field, in the Canal Zone, where he performed some stunts, he returned to the starting field. The president was enthusiastic over the fifteen minute flight, his first.

Pays Tribute to Heroes.

The aviator toured the city this morning and laid wreaths upon the monuments of the Panaman fire heroes and the statue of Balboa. He was taken to Panama's schools, where he received numerous gifts, including a model of his plane, the Spirit of St. Louis, made from native woods. He listened to scores of addresses in Spanish, responding with a simple "Thank you" and a smile. Masses of school children sang "The Star-Spangled Banner" in English.

The colonel visited the grand lodge in Panama's Masonic temple and was presented with a globe of wood showing his travels, which, upon being opened, disclosed a priceless Panama hat. He made a speech to his fellow lodge members.

Farewell to Lindy.

Panama said its farewell to Col. Lindbergh this evening with a banquet at the Union club, followed by a ball, at which more than 1,000 were present. Panamans present wondered why the colonel did not dance with their fairest daughters who were presented to him.

The flyer will leave the American legation tomorrow for the Panama canal zone, where he first will be welcomed by school children. He will give a talk at the administration building at Balboa. Then he will make an auto tour of the canal's Pacific side, including the army headquarters at Quarry Heights and the navy's mechanical division. Later he will review the troops at Fort Amador. This will be followed by an inspection of the fortified islands.

To Lunch with Admiral.

The aviator will take midday luncheon with the commandant of the Fifteenth naval district, Rear Admiral Christy, and in the evening there will be a public reception on the administration building steps. Later Acting Gov. Harry Burgess will give a reception at the executive mansion at Balboa Heights, to be followed by a dinner by Brig. Gen. William S. Graves, commanding the Panama Canal department.

On Thursday the air envoy will visit France field, renewing his acqaintance with former buddies and instructors from Brooks and Kelly fields.

U. S. TO BRITAIN AIRSHIP SERVICE TO OPEN IN FALL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 10.—Commander C. D. Burney, member of parliament, who married Gladys High of Chicago, will sail for the United States tomorrow to conclued arrangements for an Atlantic airship service.

The Airship Guarantee company of which Commander Burney is the head, is taking over from the British government the airship R-100, now being constructed at Howden, East Yorkshire, and which will be ready for trial this July. If the trial is successful, Commander Burney plans to run demonstration flights between England, Canada, and the United States next fall. He plans to operate an alternate day service between England and North America.

McANDREW TRIAL ROARS AS SECRET LETTER IS READ

gets pointers from Raymond Robins and labor leaders. Is square and honest, though needs patient treatment.

"Julius F. Smietanka: Lawyer, recent candidate for the Circuit court, failed in election by narrow margin. Of Polish descent. Well spoken of. Chronic politician. Probably to be relied on. (Roman Catholic.)

"William K. Fellows: Architect. No axes, high grade chap. Not a deep man, but instincts O. K.

"John Dill Robertson: Appointed by Mayor Thompson to succeed Edward S. Davis as president of the board of education. Former health commissioner of the city of Chicago. One of the leaders of the Thompson-Lundin-Small faction. Now taking care of political fences in Illinois.

"Hart Hanson: Is said to be anxious for reappointment to the board by Mayor Dever. Has considerable ability, but bears watching."

Mrs. Johanna Gregg was described briefly as not having shown "any marked capacity for the job of school trustee. Seems to mean well."

Trustee Mullenbach was not present at yesterday's session to hear the reading of the document. Mrs. Helen Hefferan and President Coath, the two members of the board referred to in the letter, were moved to laughter as Mr. Pond's description of them was being read.

Francis X. Busch, attorney for Mr. McAndrew, at the close of the session characterized the introduction of the letter as "unmitigated slush, dragged in by the heels and having no bearing on the charges against Mr. McAndrew."

Telegram to McAndrew Read.

After President Coath had balked an attempt to adjourn following the reading of the letter, Righeimer read into the records a telegram addressed to Mr. McAndrew in New York and signed by Mr. Pond and George N. Carman, director of Lewis institute. The message, dated Jan. 7, 1924, and identified by witnesses as coming from Mr. McAndrew's files, follows:

"Even if Mayor Dever doesn't seek reëlection he will before his first term expires control the makeup of the board of education at the expiration of your first four year term. You are assured of eight years if you come. For God's sake, don't fail us. You can do the job. We know of no one else who can. Your New York advisers are wrong."

Glen Edwards, who is said to be employed now as a representative for a book publishing concern in Cleveland, testified that he acted as secretary for the Chicago Public Education association from 1916 to 1921 and was later secretary of the public efficiency bureau.

Denial from Mrs. Hefferan.

During the Dever-Thompson campaign the witness testified that he was visited by Mrs. Hefferan and Mr. Pond. He said they told him they came at the request of Miss Margaret Haley, business agent for the Chicago Teachers' federation, to get information in his possession which might be used in the campaign.

This statement was denied by Mrs. Hefferan.

"If Mr. Edwards is as unreliable in the rest of his testimony as he is in that statement I wouldn't give much for his testimony," she declared. "He is relying on his memory and he is mistaken."

The trial was continued until Jan. 24.

MRS. APPLEBY'S BODY AWAITING FUNERAL PLANS

Funeral arrangements for Mrs. Amelia Appleby, former Chicagoan, whose body, sewn in a bag, was found recently on the outskirts of Los Angeles, Cal., will be announced today. The body, brought to Chicago at direction of Mrs. Appleby's brother, H. C. Du-Bal, 1213 Roscoe street, awaited interment last night at Muelhoefer's undertaking rooms, 3341 Lincoln avenue. Dr. F. C. McMillan, a business associate of Mrs. Appleby, is charged by Los Angeles police with the woman's murder.

FRANCE TAKES OFF ITS BAN ON EXPORT OF GOLD

See Legal Stabilization of Franc Near.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Jan. 10.—What is regarded in financial circles here as Premier Poincare's last move before definite legal stabilization of the franc was taken today when the finance minister and premier obtained the signature of President Doumergue suspending the law which forbade the exportation of capital.

Suspension of the law, which was passed in April, 1918, when the nervous French capitalists started hurrying funds outside of France to New York and London, thus permits free interchange of capital for the first time since the war. Since Premier Poincare has managed to stabilize the franc at around 3.90 cents [pre-war value was 20 cents] in fact, if not legally, the financial condition has so improved that the premier felt the last restriction could be removed.

The announcement of the suspension of the law caused lively trading on the bourse, where French securities made notable increases and foreign stocks suffered a correspondent slump.

Parliament Like Armed Camp.

The French chamber of deputies looked like an armed camp making ready for a siege this morning, with special alarm bells and great sliding iron gates being tried out as a precaution against riots expected during the afternoon session.

It was the time set for the reopening of the chamber after the holidays, but, most important, it was the date that France's five Red deputies who have been in hiding since Christmas day adjournment of the last session, were expected to come to life.

Reds Stay Away.

The radical deputies claimed the Reds were covered by parliamentary immunity, but Albert Sarraut, minister of the interior, had a whole company of special police out in front of the chamber with orders to arrest the five Communists and escort them immediately to Sante prison. The Reds failed to appear.

OHIO COAL OPERATORS WON'T MEET MINERS IN STRIKE PARLEY

Columbus, O., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Coal operators of Ohio in a letter to Gov. Vic Donahey today declined to participate in a conference with representatives of striking miners as suggested by the chief executive.

"For your information," the letter said, "and notwithstanding a proven conspiracy by the officials of the United Mine Workers of America to prevent Ohio mines from operating at any other than the Jacksonville scale [$7.50 a day], several thousand miners are now at work in Ohio producing 500,000 tons of coal per month under various plans to which they and their employers have agreed, and at wages acceptable to them, although less than the Jacksonville scale.

"A conference such as that proposed would only tend to disrupt the work in which these men are now engaged and we respectively suggest in its place the miners be urged to get in touch with their former employers, who will immediately give them work."

Ohio mines suspended operations when the Jacksonville scale agreement expired last April.

PROPOSAL TO CUT TARIFF STARTS ROW IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Tariff discussion raged for a second day in the senate today but without action on the McMaster resolution favoring an immediate "lowering" of tariff duties.

Senator Watson [Rep., Ind.] made a lengthy speech in defense of the present protective tariff while Senator Harison [Dem., Miss.], one of the big guns of the minority party, made an equally extended attack upon Republican doctrines.

Senator Bruce [Dem., Md.], one of the Democrats who has indicated unwillingness to support a resolution declaring for a general lowering of tariff duties, accused Senator McMaster of bad faith in offering the proposal. The Maryland senator asserted that the real purpose was to force the Republican regulars to support the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill.

In reply to Senator Fess [Rep., Ohio], who suggested that the McMaster resolution would appear to provide for a lowering of duties on farm products as well as on industrial products, Senator McMaster said that it was intended to apply only to rates on products of industries which are making excessive profits.

Matinee Today?

In the center of the theater district, with most of the leading theaters but a few steps away, Henrici's is the natural meeting place of patrons of the play—and as such enjoys a very large trade both before and after the performances. You will find many especially pleasing matinee dishes there today.

CANADA AND THE SEAWAY.

Canada's national advisory committee, appointed by the Canadian government to consider the feasibility of the St. Lawrence seaway, is reported to be unanimous in approving the project.

The committee is said to favor crediting Canada, in dividing the total cost of the seaway between the United States and Canada, with the cost of improving the Welland canal, which is being enlarged, as it was originally built with Canadian money. The canal is no less valuable to the United States than to Canada and is an integral part of the St. Lawrence waterway. The Canadian view is not unreasonable. Our government may be expected to give Canada full credit for all contributions already made to the international seaway. Canada will have small cause, we believe, to fear that the United States will seek to drive too sharp a bargain.

One troublesome question which the Canadian committee is struggling with is the division of the power rights between the Canadian national government and the provincial governments. This is a question with which the United States is not concerned. We can only express the hope that the rivalry will not become so bitter as to impede work on the seaway.

We do not believe it will. The new world has much to teach the old in the technique of achievement. We are more trustful, less given to endless negotiation over details. Britain and France have been negotiating for generations regarding the construction of a tunnel under the channel and are as far from realizing the end now as they have ever been. To the old world, the magnitude of the St. Lawrence seaway would itself be an obstacle and the coöperation of neighboring nations in a project costing $400,000,000 or more would be all but inconceivable. To the American mind, in Canada and the United States, the end is far more important than the obstacles and the millions which must be spent on so vast a project, far from being a cause for hesitation, will be an incentive to get on with it. The bigger the job, the better the new world likes it.

BACK TO A RATIONAL SEAMAN'S ACT.

Ship owners cite the drastic provisions of the La Follette seaman's act as one of the reasons for the decline of the American merchant marine. Added to the greater costs of building, maintenance, and labor, as compared with foreign owned vessels, the act's stipulations concerning the size of crews, the manner of their employment, the method of their payment, their composition, and other detailed matters, increase the overhead of the American ship owner so much that he cannot hope to meet foreign competition.

Modification of the La Follette act is to be asked of the present congress. Congress is to be asked to face the facts. The La Follette law is not being enforced; if it were, the merchant marine would begin to vanish at an even swifter rate. Congress is to be asked not only to help the shipping business, but also to bring it within the law, and to make possible the return of navigation officials to honesty. The La Follette act is one of those laws so out of key with the facts that they are not only bad laws, but in their nonobservance become evil precedents.

It is traditional to consider the seaman with sympathy. The literature from which most persons draw their conception of the sailor's life is full of tales of his hardships and his heroisms. We grow up on yarns about the bucco mate, the shanghaing dive keeper, the reefing of the mainsail in the icy gale, the moldy biscuit, the thirst-crazed castaways—yarns, all of them true undoubtedly, but a one-sided picture of life on American vessels in this day of steam and oil burners and seamen's unions.

Hard though it is at times and occasionally hazardous, the life of the modern seaman is no more strenuous than that of many occupations ashore. The mechanization of the ship has kept pace with mechanization on land. The oil burning steamer and the oil using motor ship have banished the stokers, the last of the callings of great hardship on the seas.

Modern crews could be a great deal smaller were they allowed to be. The ship owner who kept up with the times and built his vessels for efficiency could then get a return on his investment in a smaller labor cost. Safety should be the only consideration outside of efficiency, and this virtually in the sole case of passenger vessels.

The La Follette act was put over by a labor lobby. It was a socialistic measure and has worked like one. With fairness to the seaman and to the safety of crew, passengers, and ship, it can be modified, and it should be in the interest of American shipping.

AFTER THE MINE DISASTER.

Twenty-one coal miners lost their lives in the mine explosion at West Frankfort, Ill. The dispatches reporting the disaster failed to state that the mine was rock dusted. Rock dusting is the method approved by mining engineers for limiting the area of an explosion and hence its destructive possibilities.

That twenty-one men were killed in a rock dusted mine may cause some mine owners to hesitate to install the system where it is not required by law. It may even lead legislators to hesitate to incorporate a rock dusting requirement in state mining codes, though the facts of this accident do not justify the conclusion that rock dusting is ineffective. The men who were killed had the ill fortune to be in the immediate vicinity of the explosion. At the time there were some 650 men in the mine of whom nearly 100 were in the section in which the explosion occurred. If the mine had not been dusted, it is highly probable that the first explosion would have been followed by others, that the quantity of asphyxiating gases generated would have been vastly greater, and that instead of 21 men being killed the toll would have been far heavier.

THE ENGLISH CHURCH PREDICAMENT.

A meeting of the archbishops and bishops of the Church of England is to consider what alternatives are left the church, confronted with the refusal of the state to sanction the use of such a prayer book as the church by its own decision desires to have. Persons who are not communicants in the Anglican church made the decision for it in parliament. They had the balance of power and used it against the new prayer book.

One suggestion to be considered as offering a way out is to return to the prayer book of Edward VI., which had the sanction of parliament in 1549. It is said to relate more nearly to the present policy of the church authority than the book now in use, modification of which politics has declined to permit.

The anachronism, of course, is that the church has to obtain any state authority for its ritual or any ceremony of its devotions or any particular of its creed or belief. The modern alternative to state control of church would not be refuge in the sanction of a medieval parliament, but in disestablishment, in the separation of church and state.

One anachronism is only heightened by having recourse to another. The first connection of church and state was that the church by its representation in parliament might have an influence on the state. It is in the natural if improper sequence of that idea that the state now binds the church. The prelates exercised authority in political action. Nonconformists now exercise authority over them in the same fashion.

When these two activities are intermeshed both suffer either in turn or at the same time. No American religion would accept any dictation from the state as to its beliefs and practices. None should seek to put any of its dictates in the form of a state document with state authority.

PLANNING THE DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

With some need and probably with justification it is said that the city which gets the Democratic national convention will have to take up a matter of campaign debts left over from the latest Jeffersonian effort to elect a President. The Democratic national party can almost certainly offer a good show and it feels that it reasonably can ask to have its old bills paid.

Newton Baker of Cleveland wanted the convention but when the matter was put in this light he passed out of the picture and went to Bermuda to get warm again. It was suggested by some optimistic western Democrats favoring Chicago for the convention that Mr. Tunney might be dated to put on a battle here at that time. The suggestion apparently has been hushed in the east, the idea being that the whole atmosphere of Gov. Smith's campaign is battle. Furthermore, the governor's friends seek to invest him with a modified liberality, leaning quite as much to the graver policies and higher doctrines as to latitudinarism in habit. To forward that there could not be a better prize fighter than Mr. Tunney but it is objected that if the Democratic convention hits its stride no one would consider going from it to see anything Mr. Tunney could do against any one.

For these and other reasons the western idea of joining up a heavyweight championship with the Democratic nomination may be returned to the clothes closet. It had merit and it might have raised the bid Chicago could afford to make for the convention. It is about time the city had the pleasure of entertaining the convention. It is the philosophical center of the party, easily reached by all the diversified opinion of the democracy, an advantage not to be overlooked.

Editorial of the Day

PROBATION.

[Indianapolis News.]

It would be interesting to know how many crooks and dangerous men convicted of crime are now out on probation. One such is known, and that is Hickman.

Last April this man was released on bond after his arrest on a burglary charge and jumped his bond. Here, then, was a notorious police character free to continue his war on society, admitted to probation as a "juvenile offender." We do not mean to condemn the whole probation system, or to deny that in certain cases good results follow its application. But we do think that it ought to be carefully and sparingly used, and with a full realization of the danger involved in setting criminals and misdemeanants free. It would be well to give some thought to present definitions of juvenile offenders. A man under eighteen years of age may be every whit as bad and dangerous as one of thirty. Hickman was not under eighteen when he was held for forgery, but he told the court that he was. If he had been, he would have been as little entitled to probation as he is now. It will be remembered that Loeb and Leopold were not hanged—as they should have been—because they were "too young." What is a juvenile in these days when youngsters turn bandits and kill in the practice of their "profession"? It is about time that more consideration were given to society and less tenderness shown to rebels against it. If Hickman had not been put on probation, it is almost certain that Marian Parker would be alive today.

CARBON MONOXIDE—HOW MUCH IS SAFE?

"THE garage man who really wants to know and who is honest with himself can tell pretty well with his eyes and nose whether there is a harmful amount of unburned gasoline and carbon monoxide in his garage or repair shop." This is the opinion of Dr. C. M. Salls, who made careful chemical examination of the air in a large number of garages and repair shops. In his study he was trying to find just how much gas in the air a man can stand for different lengths of time.

It is the belief now that a man can work in a garage or repair shop all day without getting a headache or suffering from other symptoms of gas poisoning, provided the air contains less than one part per 10,000 of carbon monoxide. A few workers cannot stand more than one part per 20,000 for a day. If a man remains in a garage or workshop for one hour or less he can stand as much as four parts per 10,000. These figures refer to the strengths of gas in air which cause headaches, anemia, and other minor ills. They do not have reference to such major symptoms as unconsciousness nor to fatal dosages.

In an examination of automobile repair shops the average proportion of carbon monoxide was 1.1. In those garages where nothing but incidental repairing was done the proportion was 0.6. In commercial garages storing five or more cars the proportion was .9. In other words, garages and repair shops are just about on the border line of living conditions compatible with moderate health.

The man who works in a repair shop, on the average, is poisoned beyond the limit. One who works in a garage where there is very little repairing is well below that limit; he who works in a commercial garage is a shade on the safe side. These are averages.

A considerable proportion of the establishments were working their men under conditions that made for chronic, mild ill health. In two repair shops the gas was strong enough to knock out the employés in about a two hour exposure. Eleven repair shops, two combined garages and small repair shops, and seventeen commercial garages were on or above the level where conditions are regarded as unwholesome.

Dr. Salls did not study the relationship between carbon monoxide, pneumonia, and colds.

One of his conclusions is: The amount of exhaust smoke that is visible in the room and the odor upon first entering the room give a rough indication of the amount of gas in the air. In almost every case where an excessive amount of carbon monoxide was found by analysis there was a note of distinctly visible smoke cloud and a strong odor noted on the records.

CURE FOR TAPEWORMS.

Mrs. K. M. O. writes: In reading your column the other day I noticed a letter from a woman who is looking for a remedy for tapeworm. May I offer the following, which has cured me completely of two tapeworms, the last one about fifteen years ago?

Eat a good luncheon, go without dinner, and for breakfast drink a cup of strong tea made from the bark of a pomegranate tree, which bark is bought at any drug store in chips. After drinking this tea early in the morning, the tapeworm passes out in large quantities by noon. Repeat this once a week until cured.

HEAT REQUIREMENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Can you advise me on the following, please:

1. Does the city ordinance require heat to be furnished to tenants from October first to June first?

2. If a lease reads that heat is to be furnished from October first to May first, is such a lease valid?

3. If not, can it be broken without further notice?

4. When you have a lease is it necessary to give the landlord any notice if you do not wish to renew it at its termination?

5. If a tenant will not pay the rent and is ordered to move can the balance of rent due under the lease be collected?

F. P. K.

1, 2, and 3. Section 2119 of the city code as amended December, 1923, requires every person controlling the heating plant of any tenement house in which the heat is furnished from a heating plant used in common to furnish heat from Oct. 1 to June 1, so that the occupants may secure without such restriction of ventilation as to interfere with sanitary conditions a minimum temperature of 60 degrees at 6:30 a. m., 65 degrees at 7:30 a. m., 68 degrees at 8:30 a. m., and thereafter until 10:30 p. m., provided that notice by registered mail shall be given before any person shall be deemed to have violated this section. Report violations to the commissioner of health, City hall.

4. Not unless the lease contains a renewal clause.

5. In substance yes.

OPENING FAMILY'S MAIL.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Has a wife the right to open mail addressed to her husband? At the time my wife did this I was not living with her, and she opened a letter and took out a check to me and cashed it.

2. Is that forgery?

3. Or is it stealing?

4. Am I responsible for my wife who took about fifty dollars' worth of linen and a vacuum cleaner from a rooming house and sold it and never told me anything about it? Can the landlord hold me for it or not?

G. A. W.

1. No.

2. Yes, unless you had expressly or impliedly authorized her to sign for you.

3. If it had already been delivered by the postman then her opening the envelope would not be a federal offense, if that is what you mean to ask.

4. Not if she took them merely to sell as distinguished from purchasing them as a family expense.

SONNET IN THE OLD MANNER

Wherever thou art, wherever thou art this night,
Under what stars and guarded by what moon,
Peace be with thee; God keep thee in His sight,
Lest the cruel dawn should find thee all too soon.
As long as night shall hold thee in her arms,
Care shall not live within thy curvèd breast,
Nor grief nor sorrow nor the day's alarms,

Hushed in sweet dreams wherein no specter moves.
Until the gray, until the geese go by,
Lie lightly there—thou art my love of loves!
Lie lightly, dear, thou liest on my heart

GEORGE CARROLL.

ADDENDUM to the Shubert saga: The famous pianist was just winding up at Cyrena Van Gordon's supper party when Phil Baker, handsome and imperturbable, stalked in. "I'll leave if he plays Schubert," said Phil, and when a chorus of astonished voices asked the reason, he replied: "Because I work for 'em." And sat down.

And Young Fruit Seems to Be Likewise the Freshest

R. H. L.: I note with interest that in your list of bachelors I am included among those not yet ripe enough to be picked. Granted, but the girls should be cautioned lest they tarry too long before picking their fruit—it may become too ripe and spoil. Carrying your metaphor farther, it may be remarked that young fruit is the sweetest. I'm willing and able to prove my statement. Ah, yes, 'tis love that makes the world go wrong.

SWANEE THE HICK.

IS THERE no escape! It's easy to say that since we can't go to Ireland or England, the thing to do is to forget 'em and root quietly in the furrow. But look what those English do! They take a big billboard a quarter of a block long right on the Boul. Mich., and very close to our furrow, and they paint a beautiful picture in reds and greens on it of a fast flying English railroad train and over it they put the enticing caption, "VISIT YORK—Twenty Centuries of England's History."

Yes, there it is, right on the Boul. Mich. They say "Visit York" just as casually as other advertisers say "Go to Milwaukee," or "Run Down to Indianapolis," or "Overnight to Minneapolis." Apparently York is as convenient a port of call for the average Chicagoan as the Dunes, or Englewood, or Benton Harbor, Mich. "VISIT YORK!" And all of our long checkered and somewhat misspent existence we've yearned and yearned to visit York. York with its glorious rose window, York with its haunting Five Sisters, York with its great Jesse window! Well, one thing, we have to pass that signboard twice a day and we just can't stand it, that's all! Either that signboard comes down this summer or we "VISIT YORK."

GREY TONES.

Only the past remains a fixed thing—
The present is a tumbling, fumbling, crumbling mass!
The future leaps and bounds in enchanted dreams—
Aye, and tomorrow never comes!

THA B. AND C. GETS A STYLISH BOB

Dear Dick: Tha last time I spent two bits for a hair cut tha B. and C. pulls a crack that if I keep up tha extravagance she might just as well call up tha scalpers and get a coupla ring-sides for tha poor-house. Yesterday she wants to know if she can get a wave. I tole her if she meant tha kind you get out of tha lake she cood have a dozen. After being told to quit being foolish she says what she wants is a permanent, so I hadda tell her tha only permanent she'll ever get is tha permanent resting place wich we are now installmenting on. Of course, me being tha last word (except one) she goes and blows in 15 bucks at tha Henri La'Beau-Parleur. I knew this guy when his name was Henry Labovitch. When I get home there's no Mama, tha kids are crying and something's burning on tha stove. Half past seven she blows in all out of breath and explains how she sat in tha chair for 3½ hours. She also explains how nice tha operator was and that they served tea while you was being worked on. This brings forth a reply that for 15 bucks they cood afford to give you a eight course dinner with music. I'm not tha kind of a guy who likes to crab but to me she looked like hell. While we're eating she explains that it takes a day or two before it really looks beautiful. I think she's gonna miss her guess by eleven years. About nine o'clock tha loud speaker of tha set in tha floor below drops in to borrow their regular supply of eggs. The Mama was trying to detain her as tha neighbor aint even noticed anything funny and aint said a word about her wave. This peeves tha B. and C. and after tha borrow-ee closes tha door there's a remark passed something to tha effect that tha next time she borrows she'll get cockroach eggs. DUKE BAKRAK.

P S—I hope it aint gonna be cold tha day before next Xmas as I'm figgerrin on gettin my hair cut.

RHL: Fen Dibs on Herblock! Proposal and my photograph will come later. ORPHAN OLLIE.

FOR YEARS we've had a sneaking admiration for Dorothy Parker. We even came within an inch of telling you to read "Enough Rope" when it came out last summer. But we got so sick of reading the silly things that ecstatic book reviewers wrote about her that for a time we couldn't stand to hear her name mentioned without foaming at the mouth. There was a period when we wouldn't read anything for fear we'd stumble plumb into an article saying that Dorothy was the greatest writer since Shakespeare or Catullus or some one. It was awful. And then we began to nibble again at her priceless book reviews in the New Yorker—and on the train Monday night we read "A Telephone Call" in the January Bookman—and we're going to stop right here before we begin to rave as hard as any one. (If we ever lose control of ourself and spill a lot of superlatives all over the column about her, don't believe us. Don't even read 'em—just go out and get whatever book or magazine article of hers that we happen to be mentioning and judge for yourself. She's not Shakespeare, nor Catullus, nor even, thank God, Sherwood Anderson. She's Dorothy Parker, and if you like her, you're crazy about her. That's all.)

PARADE

One after one the dull days go,
Like models in a fashion show,
Showing a new effect of sun
On silver maples, or the way
Tall grass curls on a windy day;
Displaying how the moon can shake
Her silver sequins on the lake;
Smoke-blue of asters blurred with rain
And the young gold of breast-high grain . . .
What does it matter that a day
Can slash with gold its rain-fringed gray?
Or that your voice could tear apart
The rain-gray curtains of my heart?

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 11, 1863.

ST. LOUIS.—Springfield, Mo., probably is in rebel hands. Advices to that effect were received from Lebanon, the dispatch stating that Hartsville and Marshfield have been burned by the rebels. The Union stores at Springfield are believed to have been destroyed.

CAIRO.—A dispatch from Memphis states that the Bulletin has information of late date from Vicksburg that Gen. Sherman has withdrawn his forces from the field of the late battle and discontinued the fight for the time being. The dispatch also states that Gen. McClernand had arrived and superseded Gen. Sherman—a very unlikely part of the report, and hardly to be credited.

NASHVILLE.—Gen. Rosecrans has issued an order denying parole to commissioned officers of the rebel army captured at Murfreesboro, "owing to the barbarous measures announced by President Davis, denying parole to our officers."

CHICAGO.—Robert S. Johnson and Miss Minerva M. Lord were married on the 9th ult. by the Rev. Charles E. Cheney. On Jan. 6, Romeyne E. Tyler of Auburn, N. Y., and Miss Mary C. Brown, daughter of the Hon. William H. Brown of this city, were married at the Brown home by the Rev. Dr. R. W. Patterson.

CHICAGO.—Our correspondent with Gen. Grant's army details the arrest of the 109th regiment, Illinois volunteers, Col. Nimmo, for mutiny. The entire regiment has been disarmed and is to be sent to Fort Madison, Annapolis, Md., and held there as prisoners until the end of the war. This regiment was raised in the south part of the state, and the fact was notorious that it was made up entirely of Knights of the Golden Circle.

25 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 11, 1903.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Representative Elect Lorimer spent the day in Washington conferring with Uncle Joe Cannon, chairman of the appropriations committee, and Representatives Mann and Boutell and other members of the Illinois delegation about getting $1,000,000 additional for the Chicago postoffice to complete the interior in harmony with the exterior.

NEW YORK.—Charles T. Yerkes, cosmopolitan street railway magnate, threw down the gauntlet to the American trusts. He declared they are a deadly menace to prosperity.

CHICAGO.—Evidence that prices demanded for bituminous coal in this city are unwarranted by natural causes was furnished to the special grand jury called to investigate the alleged coal conspiracy. Charges were made before the jury that these prices were made and maintained through combination between operators and coal dealers.

NEW YORK.—Mrs. Nicholas Murray Butler, wife of the president of Columbia university, died at her home, 119 East 30th street. She had been ill for some time.

CINCINNATI, O.—Peace has been established between the American and National Baseball leagues, with mutual respecting of contracts and reserve clauses and circuits remaining as they are.

JANUARY 11, 1918.

WASHINGTON.—The Susan B. Anthony amendment to the federal constitution granting suffrage to women was approved by the house by a vote of 274 to 136. The suffragists had not a single vote to spare, although Speaker Champ Clark, who did not vote, in accordance with custom, would have voted for the amendment had it lacked one vote of the two-thirds majority. James R. Mann of Illinois, minority leader, journeyed from Johns Hopkins hospital, Baltimore, to cast a badly needed vote. Two-thirds of those voting was 274. Of those voting for the amendment 104 are Democrats, 165 are Republicans, and 5 are independents. Of those opposed 102 are Democrats, 33 are Republicans, and 1 is an independent.

BERNE, Switzerland.—A separate peace agreement has been signed by Russia and Bulgaria, the Bund reports.

CHICAGO.—Politicians have reaped a rich harvest in doing legal, engineering, and "expert" work for the city in connection with the "boulevard link" project. Since 1914 the city has paid $579,266 for these services.

THE FEAR OF DOGS.

Wilmette, Ill., Jan. 5.—I can sympathize with "Worried Mother" because I had a similar experience seven years ago, when my two boys were two and four years old. The appearance of a dog would so terrify them that it was an embarrassment to take them for a walk, even. I thought the remedy was a dog of our very own, but we lived in an apartment building. However, we were good tenants and the landlord consented to a dog as long as it did not annoy any one, and there were no complaints. We decided on an Airedale because I wanted a dog that would grow to a fair size at maturity. A large dog seemed to be much more terrifying than a small dog. In my desire to get as young a puppy as possible I procured one four weeks old, which is really too young. I nursed him through all sorts of puppy ailments—colic, indigestion, worms.

Tiny though he was, it was two weeks before my boys would remain in the same room with him. After that I had to protect the puppy from the boys. They began to take an enormous interest in dogs; were interested in other breeds, colors, markings. They have lost their fear of dogs to an extent which sometimes alarms me. Old Sandy is still a terrible nuisance. He has been brought up as a house dog, and sheds hair, tracks floors with muddy feet, and never a day goes by that I don't threaten to give him away; but we feel that he has done us such a great service that we all know it is just an idle and loving threat.

Now that the boys are older, he is partly their responsibility. They see to his water, round him up and bring him into the house when they go to school (he dearly loves to go to school), bring him in in the evening when they come in from play. I have sat up with him nights, and he is some expense—license, rabies inoculation, clipping in summer, besides an occasional call on the veterinary—but he is worth it.

WE WERE CROWDED IN A CABIN.

Chicago, Jan. 7.—Do any of your readers know the poem, "The Captain's Daughter"? It begins:

We were crowded in a cabin,
Not a soul had dared to speak.
It was midnight on the ocean,
And a storm was on the deep, etc.

"LOHENGRIN."

Bensenville, Ill., Jan. 6.—The other evening I heard the second act of "Lohengrin" over the radio. It was splendid. I had the feeling of being back in the old country, where the composer lived and where I had heard this opera many times.

But what a shock did I receive when I read the critic's viewpoint in your paper on this masterwork of the immortal Wagner. He writes: "What an amount of padding there is in 'Lohengrin' and how it demands an unsparing blue pencil." Franz Liszt thought differently. He wrote to Wagner he would not like to miss a note of this masterpiece. Every word, every note, every bit of acting is in its place. It would be a musical crime to do what the critic suggests.

THE IMMUNITY OF GRAND JURY WITNESSES.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—While waiting to argue a motion in court today I heard a decision rendered by Judge Gemmill which should be known by the people of the city and county.

A man was charged with some offense and was indicted by the grand jury. A large number of witnesses had been called before the grand jury and had testified in the application for an indictment. For some reason the case was dismissed, and immediately the indicted man brought a damage suit against all the witnesses who testified before the grand jury.

The damage suit was tried before Judge Gemmill. The plaintiff put in his evidence in full when the attorneys for the defendants moved to take the case from the jury on the ground that the plaintiff had made no case.

Judge Gemmill sustained the motion and dismissed the case, and in so doing uttered a powerful opinion. He stated that it was the duty of all citizens to appear before the grand jury when summoned and to tell the jury everything they knew about the subject matter before the jury; that if a man were punished for so doing it would destroy the very foundation of the administration of the law; that neither the state nor an individual could punish a man or criticize him for performing so important a duty.

The judge went on to say that if a man neglected to obey the summons to appear before the jury, or when testifying did not tell the whole truth, from sympathy or fear, that there was a miscarriage of justice, and that that man was derelict in his duty as a citizen.

At the present time, when there are such terrible failures in our courts to punish crime, this opinion of Judge Gemmill should be known to all.

REGARDING AUTO ACCIDENTS.

Chicago, Jan. 5.—Why don't you, in reporting auto accidents, follow the scheme of the weather reports, showing "deficiency" or "excess" in fatalities for the year?

Does the publishing of auto fatalities tend to make drivers more careful or is it more apt to make them feel that it is something to be expected, since so many occur? W. E. MARTIN.

CHICAGO'S REPUTATION.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—On the train last Monday in Missouri the writer heard a boy about ten or twelve years old talking with another person about New York and Chicago, and this youngster, mind you, not to exceed twelve years old, said to the other person, "Oh, I wouldn't want to go to Chicago; you know they have a lot more murders there than in New York." Isn't this a splendid reputation which the city of Chicago is getting.

This, of course, is not much news, but I am passing it along to you trusting that it may wake up one or two more people, especially those who turn criminals loose if they can possibly find any excuse to do so. G. E. HERRING.

DEATH CLAIMS LOUIS F. POST, SINGLE TAXER

Ex-School Trustee Passes Away in Washington.

Born at Vienna, N. J., in 1849, Mr. Post was educated in the public schools. In his youth he became a printer, but studied law in his spare time and was admitted to the New York bar in 1870.

During the reconstruction days in the south, he took confessions in shorthand of the original Ku Klux members in South Carolina and also aided in the codifying the state's laws. In 1874 and 1875 he was assistant United States district attorney in New York.

Adopts Single Tax Theories.

In 1880, while he was editorial writer for a New York newspaper, he became acquainted with Henry George and his single tax theories and was for nearly twenty years one of the outstanding figures in George's party. By his own statement he had never been convinced that George was wrong in his plan for the redistribution of wealth. In 1882 he ran for congress on the single tax platform, but was defeated.

He was permanent chairman for the George party's conventions in 1890 and 1893. In 1898 he came to Chicago and began the publication of "The Public," continuing in this work until 1913. He was a school board member from 1906 to 1909.

Assistant Secretary of Labor.

Mr. Post became assistant secretary of labor under William B. Wilson in 1913 and continued in the place until the Harding administration took charge in 1921. Efforts were made by the American Legion to have him impeached in 1920 on allegations that he had been too friendly toward radicals in the United States and had cancelled deportation warrants of Attorney General Mitchell Palmer for several reds.

FIND THREE DEAD IN LOST PLANE; CRASHED IN DENSE FOG SUNDAY

Canajoharie, N. Y., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The mangled bodies of three aviators and a crumpled roll of metal and canvas, found on a Mohawk valley farm today, told a mute story of the disaster that overtook a passenger plane which left Mineola for Buffalo last Sunday.

The victims of the accident were Raymond Henries of Rochester, pilot of the plane; George Benedict of Peoria, Ill., a passenger, and Capt. Edward M. Pauley, an Albany aviator.

The wreckage showed that the flyers, lost in the dense fog that overhung the Mohawk valley, struck the earth with engine running, probably killing the occupants of the cabin instantly and reducing the plane to a twisted pile of fragments.

The plane struck on a hummock of earth in a plowed field, bounded in the air several times, clearing a wire fence, and coming to a stop in a meadow. The motor was torn apart by the force of the crash, one cylinder being thrown 200 feet away.

Although the aircraft finished its flight in an open field and within 100 yards of a farmhouse, the fog that prevailed yesterday and Sunday was so thick that the wreckage was not seen until the mists had lifted today.

CONVICTED YEAR AGO, SALTIS IS STILL AT LIBERTY

Police Insist on Action by Court.

When is Joe Saltis, victor of a hundred or more legal battles with the police and prosecuting authorities, going to be made to pay for his one losing tilt?

This is the question that Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor yesterday was seeking to have answered by the courts.

Saltis for more than a year, since Dec. 10, 1926, has been under sentence of sixty days in the Bridewell for carrying concealed weapons, but as yet has not served as much as one day.

Yesterday Deputy Commissioner O'Connor decided to investigate the reason for his freedom and discovered that although the Supreme court in April, 1927, affirmed the decision, a motion for a rehearing has held up the sentence.

Seek Decision in February.

Three terms of the Supreme court have passed without a final adjudication of the case since Justice Frank K. Dunn granted the petition for a rehearing in May, 1927. A decision is hoped for by the police at the next term of court in February.

"I would like to know the why of all this delay," said O'Connor yesterday. "Even after his conviction was upheld by the Supreme court he is still running around toting guns and suing policemen for exhorbitant sums, charging false arrest."

Saltis, credited by the police with being the beer baron of the south side, has successfully beaten prosecutions for murder, vagrancy and minor charges brought against him by the police in the last few years. His most recent exploit was filing suit against members of the police department for $300,000, charging false arrest.

Found Carrying Pistol.

In all his 20 year career Saltis has only once heard the phrase "defendant guilty," but for over a year it has meant nothing to him, according to the detective chief. Saltis met his Waterloo when arrested by Lieut. William J. Liebeck and his squad in a saloon at 4958 South Hermitage avenue. A .45 caliber pistol was found in his possession.

Judge George A. Curran entered the sixty day sentence against Saltis and also fined him $50 and costs. An appeal to the Appellate court resulted in a defeat for Saltis, as did the appeal to the Supreme court, but the motion for a rehearing has been successful in keeping him from jail.

"We do not care so much about the fine, but I am sure that the sixty day sentence would be a good thing for Saltis, as well as the community," said Deputy O'Connor.

CRIMINAL COURT.

Everett Newton and Albert Rice, robbery, sentenced to one to ten years in Pontiac reformatory; Sam Bell, burglary, sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge Emanuel Eller.

Lew Palmer and Carl Flake, burglary, sentenced to one year to life each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge William V. Brothers.

Matt Celhan, burglary, sentenced to one to ten years in Pontiac reformatory; Charles Lopa, assault to rob, sentenced to one to fourteen years in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Stanley Klarkowski.

Joseph Wojcehowski, robbery, sentenced to one to twenty years in the penitentiary; Albert Scranstord, robbery, sentenced to one year in the Bridewell by Judge John P. McGoorty.

AL CAPONE CALLS ON MIAMI CHIEF; FINDS SANCTUARY

Cicero Chief Tired of Gang Talk, He Says.

Somewhat weary of being trailed hither and yon and asked pertinent and impertinent questions about his career and his plans, Alphonse Capone, Chicago's unwanted underworld chieftain, yesterday took Miami, Fla., into his full confidence.

Capone, accompanied by one of his lieutenants who is already known on the beaches as "Chicago Wop," walked into the office of Leslie H. Quigg, chief of the Miami police, and requested a conference.

"Let's lay the cards on the table, chief," he said. "You know who I am and where I came from. I just want to ask a question. Do I stay or must I get out?"

Put on Good Behavior.

After Capone had assured the chief he had no intention of operating a gambling house in Florida, the official told him he could stay as long as he wanted to behave himself. And then the underworld leader asked that all the newspaper men who wanted to talk to him be called in.

"Gentlemen," he stated, "I am at your service."

He intended, Capone said, to spend the winter on the warm sands of Miami beach. He had sent for his wife and children. He had not been forced to leave Chicago, no matter what the police said about arresting him every time he appeared. Chicago simply wasn't a place for a tired business man to rest. He might buy some Florida real estate because he liked the climate.

"I'm Orderly," Al Says.

"I've been hounded and pushed around for the last two days," Capone said. "It began when somebody heard I was in town. All I have to say is that I'm orderly. Talk about Chicago gang stuff is just bunk."

Big Tim Murphy, who was reported to have conferred with Capone in Miami yesterday morning, denied the report last night. He is in Chicago and has no connection with the Cicero chieftain, he asserted.

TRIES TO LINK CAPT. BASS WITH ALKY TRAFFIC

cavalry, and Capt. Orville M. Moore, field artillery, were excused from the court, because they held opinions in the case.

Col. E. W. Guiney, in command of the army warehouse, and Maj. Napoleon Riley were the only witnesses at the first session. Their testimony was confined to detailing the location of the property, the duties of the officers and giving the groundwork for the material charges to follow.

There are 10 specific charges, as follows:

1. That Capt. Bass, in charge of personnel, transportation and storage at the Chicago quartermaster depot, having unlawfully procured from the government storage warehouse, 15 drums or barrels, capacity about 50 gallons each, all filled with liquid, exact character unknown, on July 27, surreptitiously and in violation of the trust placed in him, caused all these drums to be transported upon a United States army truck and driven by a soldier of the army, to a point on Kedzie avenue, near 22nd street, and there unlawfully delivered to certain civilians whose real names and identity are unknown.

2. On Aug. 11, 1927, 8 drums, capacity fifty gallons each, all filled with liquid, and 5 wooden boxes, each with contents indicated as intoxicating liquor, were caused by Capt. Bass to be taken on an army truck to warehouse 39 at Fort Sheridan and there "unlawfully and wrongfully to be delivered."

3. On Aug. 25, 1927, Capt. Bass truck 5 large wooden boxes, each containing 3 smaller boxes, which contained intoxicating liquor, from Fort Sheridan to the Chicago quartermaster depot, "to be surreptitiously delivered thereat."

4. On Aug. 28, Capt. Bass procured the unauthorized and unlawful introduction into the government storage warehouse in Chicago of 5 large wooden boxes containing intoxicating liquor.

5. On Sept. 1 Capt. Bass caused to be transported on an army truck 6 metal drums, capacity 50 gallons each, all filled with alcohol, said barrels and contents being property seized by the United States, from Fort Sheridan to the armory of the 202d coast artillery, Chicago, "and there unlawfully to be delivered to certain parties unknown."

6. On Sept. 17 Capt. Bass caused to be transported on two army trucks 20 drums, all filled with alcohol, from the storage warehouse in Chicago to the armory of the 202d coast artillery "and there unlawfully and wrongfully and surreptitiously to be delivered to certain civilians the real identity of whom is unknown."

7. On Sept. 19 Capt. Bass caused to be transported on an army truck 2 large wooden boxes, the contents of which are unknown, from the storage warehouse to the 202d coast artillery armory.

8. On Sept. 19 Capt. Bass caused 5 boxes containing intoxicating liquors wrapped in burlap to conceal their identity to be transported from the armory of the 202d coast artillery to building B, quartermaster depot, for "the unlawful use of said Capt. J. Leland Bass."

9. On Sept. 22 Capt. Bass caused to be packed as part of his allowance of household goods on charge of station 7 boxes, 2 of which contained ten gallons each of approximately pure ethyl alcohol, the other 5 containing champagne, whisky, and other alcoholic liquors, and by falsely and deceitfully mismarking said boxes fraudulently procured same to be shipped as his household goods from the Chicago quartermaster depot to Selfridge field, Mich.

An Important GENERAL MOTORS Announcement concerning the New PONTIAC SIX

General Motors has always believed that it could render the highest form of public service by satisfying every motoring need... by building a car for every purse and purpose.

Five years ago there became apparent the growing necessity for a low-priced six which brooked no compromise with quality and which offered those elements of size, stamina, and beauty on which enduring owner satisfaction so vitally depends. And the development of such a six at once became an objective of General Motors.

Into its original design went the experience, not only of Oakland-Pontiac engineers, but of all the engineers working on all General Motors cars—all the scientific discoveries of the General Motors Research Laboratories. There followed long and rigorous testing at the General Motors Proving Ground. And in January 1926, the first Pontiac Six made its appearance before the public . . . to encounter a reception of spectacular proportions.

Immediately there arose a public demand which has grown with every passing month. As rapidly as possible the original Pontiac Six design was improved by the benefits of engineering advancement. And the economies of steadily growing production were returned to the public in the form of lower prices.

The success of the Pontiac Six, during those twenty-four months, constitutes one of the brightest chapters in automotive history. Yet now there is offered a new Pontiac Six which bids for even greater success by virtue of vivid new style and marked improvement in design at no increase in price.

This impressive enrichment of Pontiac Six dollar value is an impressive example of General Motors' policy of constant progress.

It is a direct reflection of General Motors belief that the public is best served by the development of constantly better automobiles.

And it reveals with unmistakable clarity the influence of those five great General Motors resources which have made Pontiac preeminent among the low-priced sixes—

1—the pooled experience of all General Motors engineers, who, with the background of scientific research afforded by General Motors Laboratories, constitute one of the greatest groups of engineers ever devoted to a common cause.

2—the testing facilities of the General Motors Proving Ground which, with its 1245 acres of roads and hills, is the largest outdoor laboratory ever devised for the proving of automotive products.

3—the benefits of General Motors wide engagement in diversified automotive manufacture, for General Motors manufactures both for itself and the industry at large a great variety of specialized automotive products ranging from starting, lighting and ignition equipment and radiators to spark plugs, bearings and speedometers.

4—the advantages in appearance and construction inherent to Fisher bodies, for Pontiac Six bodies are Fisher bodies . . . styled with all the mastery of Fisher craftsmanship, finished in genuine Duco, and embodying those principles of staunchness, solidity and safety that the public has learned always to expect from the world's largest builder of fine automobile bodies. And—

5—the economies of General Motors vast purchasing power which enables General Motors to acquire materials in huge quantities and thus to effect annual savings of millions . . . which are passed back to the buyer in the form of more advanced engineering, more distinctive beauty, more satisfying performance and more pronounced economy.

General Motors looks confidently forward to the reception of the New Series Pontiac Six, for this new car embodies all those basic elements which inevitably win public approval——quality in design and construction—staunchness that survives the months and the miles—appearance that induces owner pride—comfort based on ample dimensions and scientific weight distribution—with prices so low as to establish an entirely new measure of value!

In keeping with General Motors' policy of progress, the Pontiac was introduced in 1926, thus adding to the General Motors' line a low-priced quality six. The fact that it established a world's production record during its first year reveals the soundness of the policy—which now finds further expression in a new Pontiac Six, vitally improved in appearance, performance and comfort.

BRAZIL'S GROWTH HELD BACK BY WABBLY FINANCE

Present Regime Acts to Stabilize Currency.

This is the fourth of a series of articles on Brazil by Mr. Clayton, Rome correspondent of The Tribune, who is touring South America to investigate the progress of the southern republics.

BY JOHN CLAYTON.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil.—The parallels between Brazil's present stage of development and that of the United States just after the middle of the last century are many and interesting.

Like the United States of that period, Brazil is just beginning to get away from the seaboard and open up its frontier country. Like the United States of the sixties, seventies and eighties, it is a borrowing country, pledging the unbounded wealth of its resources to expand the present into a greater future, offering unlimited possibilities for investment of foreign capital.

Like the United States of the eighties and nineties, it is developing infant industries destined to supply more and more completely the needs of its ever-increasing population and some day to capture a big export trade in manufactured articles.

Source of Raw Materials.

Brazil is still in the agricultural stage of development. It supplies the world with raw materials.

Brazil has an area greater than that of the United States, exclusive of island possessions and Alaska. The range of climates is almost as great as ours.

The coast and the Amazon valley are naturally tropical or subtropical in their nature, but the great storehouse of Brazil—destined to become one of the great storehouses of the world—is the inland plateau, which characterizes the land from the Argentine and Uruguayan frontiers to the fall line of the Amazon basin.

In this territory a temperate climate prevails, suitable for the raising of corn, wheat, deciduous fruits, and in fact every product of a temperate clime. Great herds are supported on the upland pastures, and today there is an important effort to improve the quality of cattle, sheep and swine.

Corn Is Second Crop.

Corn already is in second place in crop values, and cotton in third, both of them close behind coffee. But Brazil is not known as a corn or cotton producing country because she does not export. Home consumption demands all of both of these articles and more, which must be brought from abroad.

From the days of its earliest settlements Brazil has undergone a series of economic trials, emerging from every crisis successfully because of its adaptability, low living costs except in the larger cities, and its wide range of products which enabled it to find new fields when old avenues of trade were closed.

Brazil takes its name from the red dyewood which her first white visitors carried back to Portugal. This stuff, known and recorded as early as the days of Chaucer, gave the new Portuguese possession the name "Terra do Brasil," which gradually replaced the original name of the possession, "Terra da Vera Cruz" (land of the true cross])

Cargoes of Gold and Gems.

When the new land was colonized it continued to ship this dyewood; later it fed Europe with sugar, and when the discovery of gold and precious stones in Minas Geraes led the population in a wild stampede into the interior it sent loads of gold and diamonds to Lisbon.

With the coming of the Portuguese court to Rio de Janeiro in 1808 Brazil was thrown open to traders of other nations, and many a Yankee whaler, outward bound, brought a cargo of American goods into the country before taking on water and supplies for the long cruise in the southern hunting grounds. Our trade with Brazil dates from that time. Later Yankee clippers often stopped both on the outward voyage to the east and on their return.

But despite a thriving trade and the continued discovery of new resources, this land of wealth often has been in financial difficulties. The present administration, which went into office on Nov. 15, 1926, was burdened with a financial heritage. Bad management, an unsatisfactory monetary system, the disorganization of commerce during the war and the period of readjustment, all had their part in piling up the load which President Washington Luis and his ministers have to carry.

Currency Fluctuates.

Fluctuation of the currency, often supported by hard metal, has been the chief source of Brazil's financial difficulties. The total debt of Brazil today is $1,302,500,000,, a per capita obligation of $42. Of this amount, foreign loans are $682,500,000, the internal funded debt $299,000,000, and the floating debt $321,000,000. Not a heavy debt for a country with a population of nearly 35,000,000 and a great wealth of natural resources.

The history of the milreis (the Brazilian monetary unit) since independence has been a story of constantly depreciating values, punctuated by periods of violent rise, both unhealthful for the economic life of the country. In 1822 the milreis was worth 67½ English pence. In 1833, after the first serious fluctuation of values, it was fixed at 43 2-10 pence. In 1846 a new adjustment was necessary, which reduced the par value of the milreis to 27 pence.

The proclamation of the republic found the exchange slightly above par, but by 1890 it had dropped to 11½ pence. In 1899 the milreis was worth between 6 and 7 pence. At this point European bankers were called upon and a funding loan was arranged by President Campos Salles; destruction of paper money at an exchange rate of 18 pence as the bonds of this $50,000,000 loan were issued, brought a steady improvement in value, and by 1908 a rate of 16 pence had been attained and established by decree.

This rate remained more or less stable until the outbreak of the European war, which disrupted the commerce of Brazil. Fluctuations resulted.

For years republican ministers found their budget calculations upset. For the three year period from 1924 to 1926 the deficit of taxation of all sorts in relation to expenses was 138,000,000 milreis.

President Washington Luis, when he took office, began immediately to institute a new financial policy. He declared that unsecured paper currency must go, to be replaced by a gold standard. Today he is well on his way to the accomplishment of his plan. He has obtained a loan of $85,000,000 in gold to back a new "conversion" issue of paper, which will replace a large part of the existing floating debt. This $85,000,000 is to remain in the treasury and form the basis of the national gold reserve.

The new Brazilian monetary unit is to be known as the "arazeiro," worth 44 cents. The president has also embarked on a policy of reducing the budget deficit which, it is hoped, will balance the federal budget by the end of his administration.

Millions Saved to Investors

—by the Neighborhood Banks

IT IS ESTIMATED BY AUTHORITIES that the American people lose fully one billion dollars annually through the purchase of unsound securities. The losses of investors in the Chicago district alone run into many millions yearly as a result of unwise investment purchases. ℭ Comparatively few people have the necessary experience to judge of the merit of an investment or its fitness for their purpose. Safety in making an investment, therefore, lies in dealing with concerns known to combine integrity with seasoned judgment. ℭ The Neighborhood Banks are established, reputable concerns, which have saved millions of dollars to their customers by supplying them with sound investments. It is their business to know the standing of the various securities on the market. ℭ Benefit through their knowledge by taking your 1928 investment problem to your Neighborhood Bank.

Often a neglected sore throat or cold results in death. Never take a chance with either. At the first sign of trouble, gargle with Listerine, the safe antiseptic, used full strength. If improvement is not rapid, consult your physician. Usually, however, Listerine will check colds and sore throat, before they become serious. It immediately attacks disease-producing germs in mouth and throat. Use it every day, morning and night, during cold weather months. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

RUSSIANS WANT U. S. TO HEAD NEW PEACE LEAGUE

Use Japan and Germany to Win America.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—The principles enunciated for the outlawry of war by Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg in his negotiations with France are being used as the basis for Russia's new negotiations with Japan and Germany, THE TRIBUNE correspondent learns from a prominent diplomat, whose emissaries have been sent to America privately to learn the American attitude on this problem.

Russia is prepared to subscribe to the American theory that all the powers collectively or severally should abjure war, provided this rests on a guarantee of the complete abolition of armies and navies. Russia disapproves of the peace machinery provided by the league of nations. It objects on grounds similar to those of America. Neither does it care to base universal peace on nonaggression pacts, because it has no confidence in the others as arbiters where it is concerned.

Russia's theory is that America should remain outside the league of nations and create a new world peace organization based on a quadruple stand by America, Russia, Japan, and Germany.

Such is the fundamental idea of the program Russia has put to Viscount Goto of Japan for submission to the Tokio government. Moscow points out that it is based on a sound economic scheme: Russia's latent resources require American capital, but direct Russo-American coöperation is difficult and requires bridges.

The Russians demand that Japan form such a bridge in the east while they will use Germany as a bridge in the west.

BANK CHARGED WITH NEGLECTING ARTIST'S ESTATE

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The Fifth Avenue bank and its attorney, Herbert M. Teets, today were charged with fifty-six specific acts of misfeasance or neglect in their handling, as executors, of the $10,000,000 estate left by Georgia Timken Fry, the artist, when she died, in 1921.

The charges were brought by her husband, John Heming Fry, also an artist. Frank C. Laughlin, a former Supreme court justice, was appointed referee by Surrogate James A. Foley to inquire into the charges.

Mrs. Fry was the daughter and one of the five heirs of Henry Timken, the St. Louis carriage manufacturer, who founded the Timken Roller Bearing company. She died while traveling in China, leaving the bulk of her fortune to an adopted daughter, Fredericka.

In his petition to the court, Mr. Fry has asked for the removal of the executors of the estate and a reimbursement of $195,272.

$3,100,000 BOND FORECLOSURE IS SOUGHT IN BILL

Foreclosure on a $3,100,000 bond issue against the Medical Arts building, recently constructed by the Medical Arts club of Chicago, is sought in a bill filed in the Circuit court yesterday by the Straus Trust company, to which the bonds are payable.

The bill charges that the building promoters violated the agreement made with the plaintiff when the bonds were issued. The building has been improperly managed, club facilities have not been operated, and completion of construction was tardy, it is alleged.

COSGRAVE WILL SAIL TODAY FOR VISIT TO U. S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 10.—President William T. Cosgrave and his party will cross from Dublin tonight and will board the Homeric at Southampton tomorrow morning for the United States. Their American trip now has been extended to include a visit to Ottawa on the invitation of the Canadian government.

It is understood this extension is due to the desire of the Canadians to discuss the new relations between the dominions and Great Britain. These new relations are due to the insistence by the Irish that the Anglo-Irish treaty be carried out to the letter, as well as to the decisions of the last imperial conference. Great Britain did not expect these terms to be taken so literally.

The great step in the establishment of essential Irish independence has been the insistence that the British government has nothing to do with the selection of the governor general of Ireland. Instead of being appointed by King George on the advice of the British ministers, he is appointed by the king on the advice of the Irish ministers, meaning, of course, that he is appointed by the Irish president.

7-Passenger Sedan, 134-inch wheelbase
f. o. b. Detroit

Every LaSalle is complete with all modern equipment, much of which is usually obtainable on other cars only at extra cost, and including at the new lower prices, Winter Front, Lovejoy Shock Absorbers, Exclusively Designed LaSalle Bumpers, Cowl Lamps, Cowl Band, Ventilators, Windshield Wiper, Cigar Lighter, Rear Vision Mirror, etc.

The triumphant preference accorded LaSalle during the past nine months has automatically opened the circle of LaSalle enthusiasts to all those thousands who originally viewed, admired and desired LaSalle.

LaSalle prices are now so attractively low—when value is considered—that you need not and in fact cannot forego LaSalle's surpassing excellence. For an investment of about $2500 you may now enjoy a LaSalle sedan, roomy enough for the family, endowed with the transcending riding and driving ease of Cadillac manufacture, and distinguished from the highest-priced Six and every other Eight—excepting Cadillac itself—by the famous V-type, 90-degree, 8-cylinder, heavy-duty Cadillac-built engine.

This engine alone assures long years of the most luxurious kind of motoring, in service to which no other car could be successfully subjected. And it is obvious, of course, that in its ultra-modernistic lines and colorings, its modish appointments, LaSalle is so far in advance of current practice that it is sure to be "in vogue" for many years to come.

Enjoy the prestige and satisfaction of La Salle now! Only a small outlay is required. Appraisal value of your present car acceptable as cash. The balance payable in terms to suit your convenience.

The La Salle is manufactured completely by the Cadillac Motor Car Company within its own plants.

DEMOCRATS EYE FRISCO AND ITS $250,000 OFFER

Committee's Advance Guard in Washington.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—San Francisco appeared to be in the lead among cities seeking the Democratic convention today as the advance guard of members of the Democratic national committee arrived and commenced informal conferences.

Isadore B. Dockweiler, committeeman from California, who was among the arrivals, opened San Francisco headquarters and passed out the word that the Pacific coast city is willing to pay $250,000 for the convention. With actual expenses estimated at about $125,000, this would mean a bonus of $125,000, which could be applied toward the $232,000 deficit from the 1924 campaign.

Miami to Equal Bid.

The only city which thus far has shown any willingness to put up a sum equal to San Francisco is Miami, Fla. While Miami boosters indicated an intention to equal the San Francisco bid, there appeared to be a prejudice among the committeemen against selecting a southern city for a summer gathering.

George E. Brennan, Democratic committeeman from Illinois, and more than a score of other Chicagoans arrived with the intention of seeking the convention for Chicago. It was stated, however, that Chicago is not prepared to offer more than the actual expenses of the convention.

Must Consider Debt.

The talk among the committeemen was that they would prefer a city in the middle west but that unless the managers of the Al Smith campaign can figure a way to pay off the 1924 debt the part of wisdom will be to accept the San Francisco offer.

Friends of Gov. Smith said that they are not particular as to the convention city and that San Francisco would not be objectionable. Mr. Dockweiler is a Smith supporter and predicted that the entire California delegation will be for Smith in the convention. The McAdoo faction in that state disputes this.

Mr. Brennan said that he will propose the holding of the convention at Soldiers' field in Chicago under canvas, the same scheme that was suggested to the Republican national committee.

While committeemen were assembling at the Mayflower hotel the Democratic women's law enforcement league in another part of the hotel was continuing its attacks on Gov. Smith and other wet presidential aspirants.

A high light of the women's meeting was an address by Mrs. Clem L. Shaver of West Virginia, wife of the chairman of the Democratic national committee, severely scoring all wets who aspire to the presidency. Mrs. Shaver said that the women would organize another party if the Democrats do not name satisfactory candidates. Mr. Shaver has remained neutral in the presidential contest and is understood not to be antagonist to the Smith candidacy.

W.C.T.U. LEADER ATTACKS SMITH AS FOE OF DRYS

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The Woman's Christian Temperance union, through its president, Mrs. Ella A. Boole of New York, came out in the open today with opposition to Gov. Smith as a candidate for President in 1928.

"In words he states he is for law enforcement, but in action he has failed to assist the federal officers who have insisted upon a state code which would place responsibility upon the police powers of the state," she declared, in the opening speech of the campaign conference.

"The election of a wet President, with his large power to appoint Supreme court and other federal judges, the attorney general, and other cabinet officers, prosecuting attorneys, the prohibition commissioner, and the control of the entire machinery of enforcement, would place the enforcement in the hands of one who does not believe in prohibition as the means of dealing with the liquor traffic, and is committed to the modification of the Volstead act."

YOUNG BANDIT ROBS TWO STORES.

A youthful bandit last night held up grocery stores at 1970 East 79th street and 2059 East 75th in rapid succession and escaped with $92.

And that's your Muffet!

There it lies, in your cereal dish, just the right size and shape to fill it nicely. A crinkly round top, butternut browned. Light as a crumpet!

Whole wheat, cooked, drawn out to a filmy-thin, fine-spun ribbon. Wound, layer upon layer. Baked. Toasted crunchier than toast itself! Crumbles in your mouth like oven-crisped crackers.

That's your Muffet! Sprinkle it with sugar. Pour on cream. If you like, add fruit. You've a wholesome dish—vitamins, calories, body-building minerals, easy digestibility.

Eat it for health, if you want to. But you'll eat it, most of all, because you're just naturally fond of good food.

Office worker or porter, clerk or housewife—no matter who we are—every one of us may offend unknowingly.

BODY ODOR...here's the plain truth about it

IT IS no secret that body odor offends. In business, as well as socially, it is a serious handicap.

But do you realize that we are all subject to body odor? That at times nearly everyone is guilty?

And the stuffy, indoor life we lead in winter, travel in close, crowded cars—all make body odor more readily noticed now than ever.

We must perspire—or die. Even on coldest days our millions of pores continually give off invisible perspiration—often as much as a quart of waste every 24 hours.

The danger of offending without realizing it

Whether you see this waste body moisture or not—it is always odorous. And it spares no one! Financier or laborer—society leader or servant—all may offend if they don't take precautions.

Body odor more noticeable in winter—due to stuffy rooms—closed windows . .

Pores give off as much as a quart of waste a day—even in coldest weather . . . . .

Now, a purifying toilet soap. Its antiseptic lather keeps you safe from body odor . .

Nor, unfortunately, can we tell when we ourselves are guilty of unpleasant body odor.

For once we become accustomed to an odor, our own sense of smell becomes deadened to it. That's why even the most fastidious people—people who think they are safe—are often among the chief offenders.

Don't risk embarrassment

It's easy now to avoid body odor. Simply wash and bathe often with Lifebuoy, the deodorizing toilet soap.

Just as its mild, antiseptic lather protects health by removing germs—so does it prevent body odor by purifying pores.

And you'll be delighted how fresh and clear Lifebuoy's antiseptic lather keeps complexions. Like millions of others, you'll favor it for every toilet purpose.

Note its hygienic scent

You will learn to love Lifebuoy's clean scent, which proves Lifebuoy purifies, yet which quickly evaporates after rinsing. Use Lifebuoy a week and you'll use it for life. Get some today.

Winter Find You Stiff and Achy?

Colds and Chills Throw Heavy Burdens on Our Kidneys

DO you get up these winter mornings feeling older and slower than you should? Are you stiff and achy—bothered with nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness? Are the kidney secretions scanty and burning in passage? Then you should give some thought to your kidneys!

Colds and chills increase the poisons in the blood and bring extra work to the kidneys. When the kidneys act sluggishly waste impurities remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant symptoms.

One is apt to feel languid, tired and achy with often nagging backache, drowsy headaches and dizziness. A common symptom of imperfect kidney action is scanty or burning secretions.

Following winter's colds, many users rely on Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus aid in the elimination of waste impurities. Are endorsed the country over. Ask your neighbor!

Good Health Requires Good Elimination of Waste Impurities

Sluggish kidneys permit waste impurities to remain in the blood and cause many unpleasant conditions. Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, increase the secretion of the kidneys and thus assist in the elimination of acid poisons and other waste impurities.

'MEN ON S-4 DIED BEFORE OXYGEN WAS PUMPED IN'

Boston, Mass., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A deadly percentage of carbon dioxide had poisoned the air in the torpedo room of the S-4 before rescuers could convey a supply of oxygen to six men imprisoned in the sunken submarine, the naval court of inquiry investigating the disaster was informed today.

Lieut. C. J. Flotte, medical officer in the salvage operations, made public today the results of tests of air returned from the torpedo room after air lines had been attached to the listening tube on the night of Dec. 21. The tests made at the Boston navy yard revealed 7 per cent of carbon dioxide.

"Life could not have existed when the carbon dioxide reached this percentage," Dr. Flotte said. "Three per cent of this gas is considered highly dangerous to life."

"Do you think that by blowing air into the room at that time there was a chance of reviving any of the personnel?" asked Commander Leslie E. Bratton, judge advocate.

"I doubt it very much," the witness said.

Believes All Dead.

"Would you say from a medical standpoint that from the time the test showed 7 per cent of carbon dioxide there was no life in the compartment?"

"I would say they were all dead without question."

Lieut. Flotte also had charge of all the divers during the S-51 salvage operations off Block island in 1925 and 1926.

He said that when he reached Provincetown on Monday, Dec. 19, weather conditions were very bad, with low temperature, and rough sea.

"From my experience in the S-51 work," he said, "I considered diving operations impossible. It was practically suicidal to send divers down under the conditions prevailing when I reported to the Falcon on Monday night. On Tuesday diving conditions were about the same. The first day in which diving operations were possible was Wednesday, when an air connection was made to the torpedo room."

"While I was at Provincetown everything that was humanly possible was done," Lieut. Flotte said, in conclusion. "I do not believe that anybody could have done any better."

Felt Shock of Crash.

Four members of the crew of the coast guard destroyer Paulding, which rammed and sank the S-4 at the approach to Provincetown harbor, retold the story of the collision.

Harry C. Coffey, chief machinist's mate, who had the engine room watch at the time of the crash, was asked whether he had felt the shock when the two vessels came together.

"I'll say I did," he replied.

Coffey was back of the No. 1 generator, about thirty feet from the throttle, he said, when the signal, "Full astern!" came from the Paulding's bridge. He said he made the trip to the throttle in "about a minute."

"Do you know that a man might run 100 yards in ten seconds?" asked the judge advocate.

"Not in the engine room," Coffey replied.

DIES AFTER FALL DOWNSTAIRS.

Mrs. Katherine Ryan, 58, of 715 South Humphrey avenue, Oak Park, died at her home yesterday of injuries suffered on Monday when she fell downstairs.

MAGRUDER BARES 10 MILLION LOSS IN SHIPBUILDING

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Special favors granted civilian employés in navy yards cost the United States approximately $10,000,000 annually in wages for which no return is made, it was developed today by the investigation conducted by the house naval affairs committee into the charges of extravagance made by Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder.

Testifying in support of his contention that it is more economical for the government to have its naval construction done in private rather than navy yards, the admiral pointed out that because of the large number of days off granted its civilian labor the overhead in government plans is 16½ per cent greater than in private establishments.

Under cross-examination by Representative Wolverton [Rep., N. J.], Admiral Magruder stated that civilian laborers in navy yards are granted approximately fifty and one-half days off annually, exclusive of Sundays.

"As private yards do not grant their employés thirty days' leave besides sick and leave and holidays, as the government does," Admiral Magruder said, "it means that the private yard can do the work at a cheaper rate."

Representative Wolverton estimated on the basis of figures furnished by the admiral that each civilian laborer got an average of $300 annually for work he did not do.

He also developed by further questioning that the annual amount expended by the government in navy yards for which no return is made, amounts to approximately $10,000,000.

"With this amount," said Mr. Wolverton, "the navy could either build one 10,000 ton cruiser each year, or it could maintain and provide for an increase in naval enlisted personnel of from 9,000 to 10,000 men."

Replying to a query, Admiral Magruder said it takes 100 men three years to build a battleship.

"At that rate then," Mr. Wolverton said, "it would cost the government just $1,090,800 more for the construction of a battleship than it would if the men were not allowed the extra days with full pay."

Questioned again about the need of naval bases on the Atlantic, Admiral Magruder said he thought it would be desirable to have a base large enough to repair battleships near the Panama canal. He also stated that in his opinion it would be advisable to retain the Portsmouth, N. H., yard if the government intends to go ahead with a big submarine construction program.

NOTABLE DETAILS OF NEW MODELS

New type Colonial headlamps and saddle lamps.

The instrument boards are finished in a polished ebony. Here are grouped ammeter, oil and gasoline gauges, speedometer and motometer, all indirectly lighted.

Electro-lock type of theft protection.

New type steering wheels are of black hard rubber with steel core, a type used in the most expensive cars. It carries light, throttle and horn controls.

The new upholstery is fine quality patterned velour in Essex and mohair in Hudson, gratifying and convincing to eye and touch. The deep seats are wider, higher-backed for comfort, and form-fitting.

The new steering gear is of worm and tooth disc type, easier to handle, and full-checking road shocks from reaching the hands—the type heretofore exclusive to costly car design.

The doors in standard models are wider for easy entry and exit, built of three sections of stamped steel, and silenced by felt and fibre board padding, muffling the sound of closing. Door openings are completely weather-stripped.

The new Hudson and Essex four-wheel brakes are of the Bendix type, used only on the finest of high-priced cars. They are self-energizing, the momentum of the car assisting their braking action, and fully protected from dirt and water.

All hardware is of the new Colonial pattern with soft brushed finish.

The rubber floor mat in the driving compartment lies over a silencing pad of cowhair which further assists the quiet operation characteristic of Hudson and Essex.

Interiors are longer and wider, giving additional seat and leg room, and ample head room.

Such equipment as windshield wiper, dome-light, tail light, etc., are, of course, standard equipment.

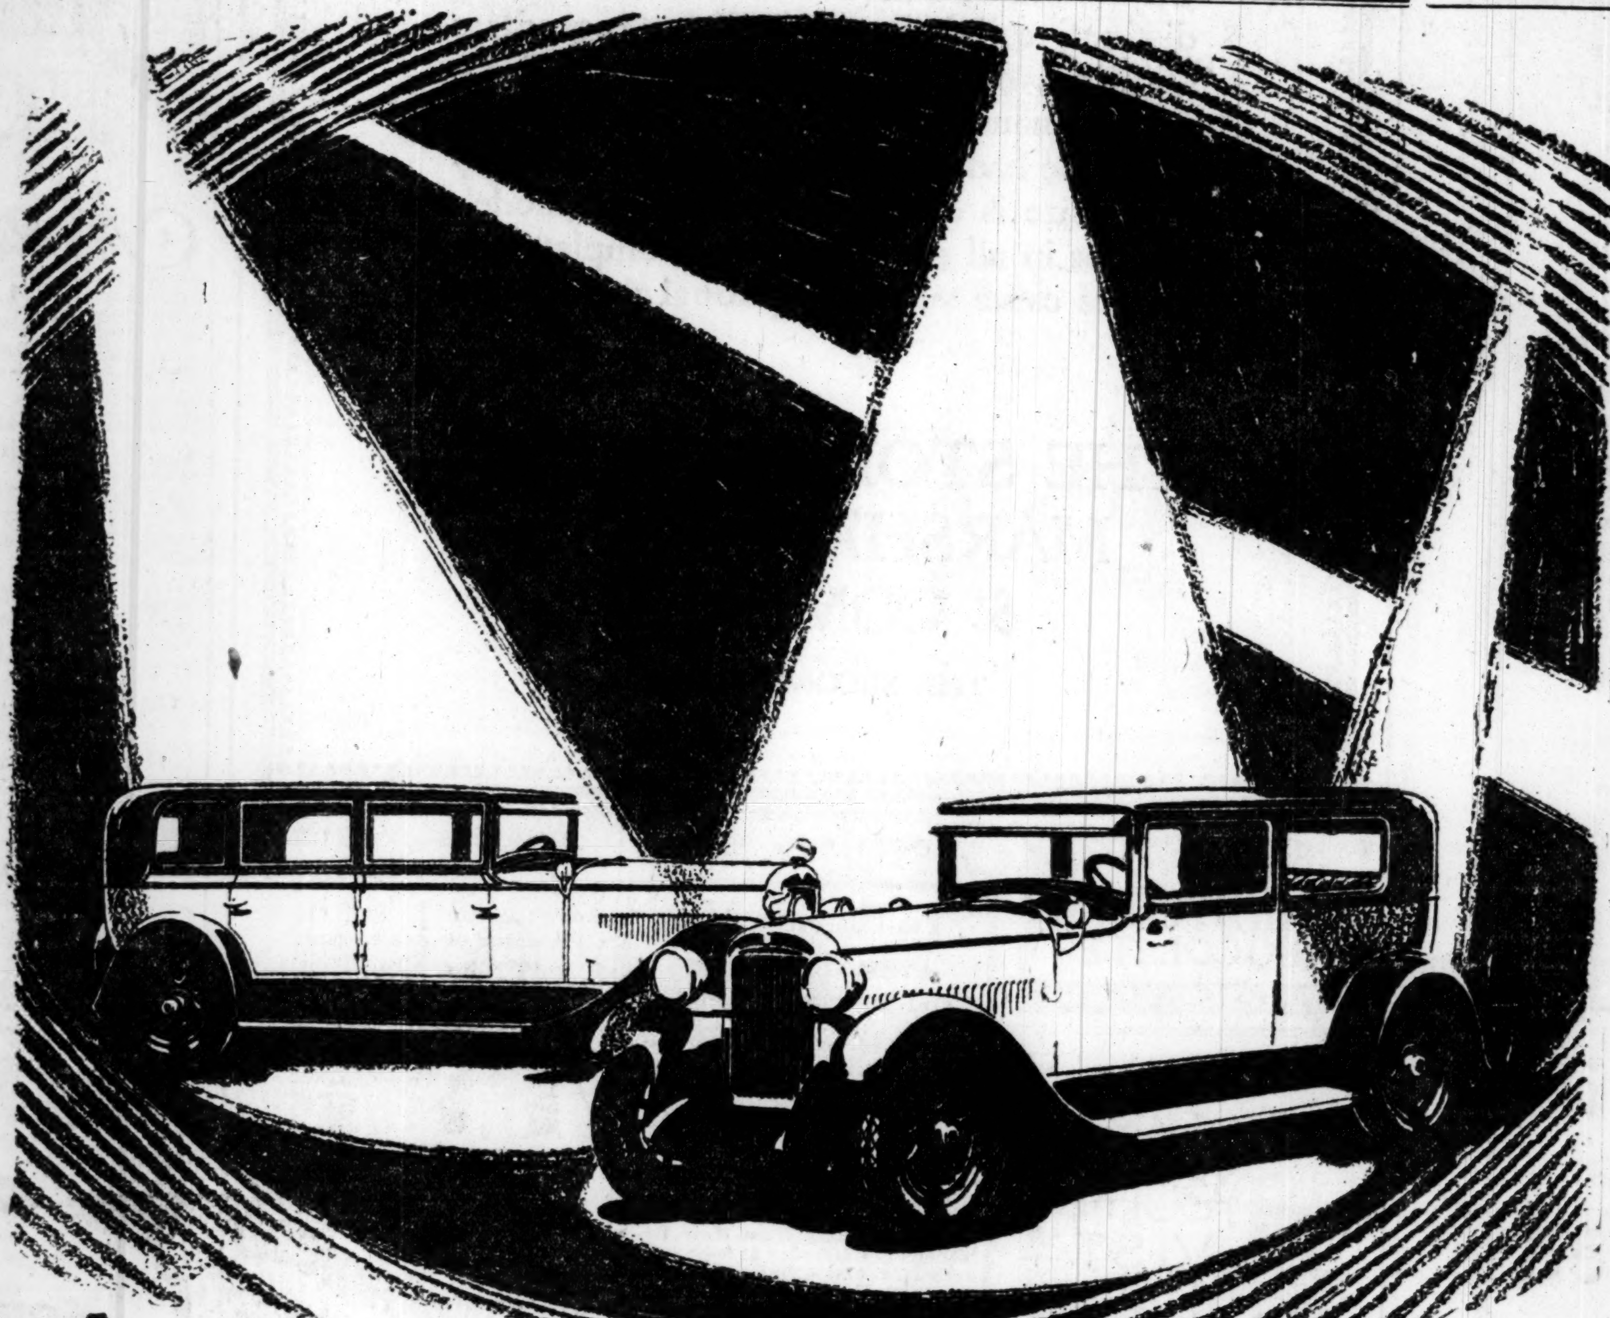
Buyers can pay for cars out of income at lowest available charge for interest, handling and insurance.



Again the stage belongs to HUDSON-ESSEX

In the most beautiful gathering of fine cars that the motor industry ever assembled at the New York Show, the new Hudson and Essex Super-Sixes stand vividly forth in the floodlight of popular interest and attention.

Again we hear: "It's a Hudson-Essex show." Again the press is thickest around the Hudson-Essex booth. Once more, when the industry's most notable advancements have been appraised, interest surges to these long time leaders in design, performance and value.

If you would know the outstanding attraction which has swept the New York Show, follow this alert and distinguished attendance.

As the Super-Sixes have achieved and led the mechanical possibilities of the day, so in these new models they achieve and lead a new mode in beauty and fine car appointment. They reflect tomorrow's vogue.

COURT UPHOLDS CHICAGO HALL BONDS' LEGALITY

Building Will Wait for Ruling on Appeal.

Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan ruled yesterday that the $15,000,000 Chicago Hall bond issue is valid. He dismissed for want of equity a taxpayer's suit to enjoin county officials from selling the bonds.

The decree will be taken to the Supreme court on an appeal and preliminary work on the project will await that decision. Attorney Hayden N. Bell, counsel for the county board, said he hoped to get a decision from the Supreme court during the February term, but that in the regular course of procedure the opinion would not be handed down until the April term.

Brought as Test Suit.

The suit was brought in the name of Mrs. Alma M. Campe, wife of Attorney Frank O. Campe. The litigation was started after President Anton J. Cermak of the county board got an opinion from bond experts that there might be doubts raised as to the legality of the issue.

The petition's main contentions were that there is no law permitting a county to spend public funds for a building to be used for conventions and exhibitions and that the election was null and void, because the voters received no notice of the purpose of the election, except in the enabling legislation itself.

Says Voters Were Informed.

Attorney Bell argued to the court that Chicago Hall will be a benefit to Cook county as a whole, and therefore it is proper and legal that the county should finance the enterprise. He argued further, and produced evidence to substantiate his point, that the voters were well appraised of the purpose of the bond issue before the election was held.

Judge Sullivan's decision covered all of those points. He held that the enabling legislature is constitutional, that the election was legal, and that the bonds are valid.

Seeks $10,500,000 to Spend on Veterans' Hospitals

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—Expenditure of $10,500,000 for additions and increased facilities to veterans bureau hospitals throughout the country was recommended to a house veterans subcommittee today by Director Hines of the veterans bureau.

OLDEST AURORA RESIDENT IS 99; HE CELEBRATES

Aurora, Ill., Jan. 10.—W. W. Church, Aurora's oldest resident today observed his ninety-ninth birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. J. S. Leath, one of a family of twelve. He is the last to survive, except for a brother Andrew, of Lincoln, Neb., who is 84.

Mr. Church has lived in Illinois 87 years. The family home was built near Peoria in 1840. The first horse drawn cultivator and planter and the first wagon to make the overland journey to California in the gold rush of 1849 were products of a carriage and wagon shop which Mr. Church owned.

He was actively engaged in this business until the automobile era came. Then he retired with a competence. He ascribes vigor and excellent health today to years at the bench.

Mr. Church has been an Odd Fellow 72 years. He is a charter member of the Galesburg lodge.

20th Century Limited

These great six-driving-wheeled engines—the "5200's"—are the most powerful ever designed for the Chicago-New York service.

They are thoroughbred descendants of a long line of famous locomotives, from the time of the DeWitt Clinton—each marking a new advance in American engineering achievement.

NEIGHBORS FIGHT PARDON OF 3 WHO ATTACKED GIRL

Forlorn Hope of Freeing Rich, Wilson, Hurt.

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—The effort to obtain clemency for Emerson Wilson, Stanley Hurt, and Leonard Rich, De Kalb county youths under sentence for criminal assault on Dorothy Westervelt, appeared a forlorn hope this evening when the state board of pardons and paroles concluded a hearing of the case. They were convicted in June, 1926, and sentenced to thirteen years each.

Attorney Harvey Gunsel of Aurora, E. M. Burst of Sycamore, and John G. Boyle, superintendent of parks of De Kalb, who appeared before the board for the imprisoned youths, were confronted with an array of opposition headed by State's Attorney Cassius Poust of Sycamore.

Miss Westervelt, victim of the assault, was present to protest against their release. With her came her physician, Dr. Brewer, to tell again the story of the young school teacher's injuries, and a number of her neighbors, to testify to her good character and the indignation of the community over the proposal to release the prisoners.

Mrs. Cade Fights Parole.

Mrs. William Harrison Cade of Chicago appeared in behalf of the Federation of Women's Clubs to insist that the youths remain in prison as a warning to others impelled to crimes against womanhood.

Application for pardon in the case had been accompanied with a number of petitions asking clemency.

During his argument, State's Attorney Poust tossed upon the chairman's table a great sheaf of counter petitions and documents and told the board that they would find on the protesting petitions the names of many who had joined in the petition for clemency.

Chairman Clabaugh of the board of paroles, in his examination of the witnesses, demanded to know on what theory the petitioners expected clemency, in a case where they had pleaded guilty to a most revolting crime. He was told that the Rich and Hurt boys previously had borne good reputations, both had been repentant, and could be expected to go straight.

Albert Larson and several other residents of Shabbona told the board that sentiment was against releasing the prisoners and that the youths were fortunate in escaping lynching.

Can't Take Up Durant Case.

During the hearings today it was announced that the board would not take up the case of Jack Durant of Lake Forest, under conviction for burglary, until after he has served his minimum sentence of three years. The petition in young Durant's case has been pending since his incarceration.

ROCKEFELLER MAY BE CALLED AS OIL SCANDAL WITNESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Dr. George E. Vincent, chairman of the board and president, respectively, of the Rockefeller foundation, are likely to be subpoenaed as witnesses in the new senate probe of the Teapot Dome oil lease scandal which gets under way tomorrow.

A demand for their appearance, inspired by a letter from A. W. Green, who gave his address as Room 72 in the Chicago Board of Trade building, was voiced in the senate this afternoon by Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.]. Senator Norris sponsored the resolution adopted yesterday, which revived the investigation to clear up the mystery of the $8,000,000 Continental Trading company, Ltd., deal which figured so prominently in the Sinclair-Fall criminal prosecution.

Part of the profits of the deal—$230,500 in Liberty bonds—were traced to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and the new senate investigation seeks to discover what became of the balance of the profits. The ability of the Continental Trading company, Ltd., to perform its share of the 33,333,333 barrel transaction in crude oil was guaranteed jointly by Sinclair and Robert W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

In the letter which Senator Norris read into the senate record Green insists that John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Dr. Vincent, as officials of the foundation which is a majority stockholder of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, should be summoned to tell what they know of the deal and explain why they will not compel Col. Stewart to withdraw from the transaction.

MURDER PAL OF HICKMAN ASKS SEPARATE TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Welby Hunt, his 16 year old accomplice in one murder, will help William Hickman toward the gallows instead of away from it, Hunt indicated today.

He was brought before Judge Carlos Hardy to plead to the indictment charging him, jointly with Hickman, with murdering Druggist C. Ivy Thoms during a holdup on Dec. 24, 1926. Hunt pleaded not guilty. His attorney appealed for a separate trial from Hickman's, pleading that the public indignation against Hickman made it impossible for Hunt to obtain a fair trial with him.

Judge Hardy set Friday to hear arguments on Hunt's request for a separate trial.

"Eddie Hickman's as sane as I am," Hunt told authorities who took him from his cell to a room for questioning. "In fact, he's a lot smarter than I am. He used to do all the brain work for both of us, planning the Thoms robbery and all the others."

COOLIDGE O. K.'S SHIP SUBSIDY TO BUILD MARINE

Favors the Sale of U. S. Owned Merchant Fleet.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—President Coolidge today took a position in favor of government subsidy for an American merchant marine and for the sale of the government-owned and operated fleet under a guantee of maintenance of the necessary trade routes.

The President at the time he expressed his stand for a ship subsidy, was informally commenting upon reports that a proposal may be made by a syndicate to purchase the merchant fleet and indicating his opposition to the Jones bill for an extensive replacement program which would keep the government in the shipping business.

Wants a Speedy Sale.

Mr. Coolidge's policy has been for the speedy sale of the ships and government retirement from the shipping business, as far as possible when assurance is given that trade routes necessary to American business will be maintained.

He pointed out that several investigations had been made, including one by Gen. Dalton, which recommended sale of the government merchant fleet These investigations confirmed the President's views, which he indicated today were now stronger, since it is proposed by the Jones bill to authorize replacement of shipping board vessels.

Can't Operate Profitably.

The government cannot profitably operate ships nor conduct any business, the President holds. That has been shown in the operation of the shipping board, and therefore he feels that the sooner the government gets out of the business the better it would be for the American marine and the nation's economic system.

He believes the ships ought to be sold as speedily as possible in accordance with present law, which also demands maintenance of the service for a period of five years.

STUDENTS HURL STENCH BOMBS AT PROFESSOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 10. — The traditional quietude of France's most venerable institution of higher learning—the College de France—was broken abruptly this afternoon, when angry students hurled half a dozen stench bombs into the lecture room where Prof. Loth was making an address. They were evicted.

A few minutes later another group begain denouncing the aged man, forcing him to beg police to throw out the disturbers.

The trouble arose when Prof. Loth, a noted anthropologist, started a series of lectures defending the authenticity of the Glozel discoveries, first believed to be relics of a civilization in France antedating any known civilization, but which last month were branded as a fake by an international committee of noted savants. The controversy has caused suits and counter suits between France's most noted scientists that the rest of the professors of the College de France tonight ordered Prof. Loth to quit lecturing on Glozel, but the professor said he would hire a hall and continue.

A Complete Home Sanitation System

—quick, light, handy—moth-proofs, renovates, aerates, as well as cleans. Bedding, clothes, furs, rugs, draperies and upholstering—all are handled with greatest ease in this more modern manner. See coupon below. Stay young while you may.

THESE are days when youth is changing many methods for the better. Old-time ways are being superseded. New time-and-labor-saving short cuts are now in demand.

The modern woman buys those articles that serve quicker, easier and longer without trouble or expense. Mediocre, costly work won't do.

This Means Vac-u-ette

It means more thorough work done with less effort; it means greater ease and convenience, and added hours of leisure. Here, at last, is an untiring staff of mechanical servants that does all the work demanded of it, at once insuring perfect cleanliness and health protection.

Freshening Indoors

With Vac-u-ette you aerate and freshen blankets, pillows, woolens and clothes without having to hang them on a line outside.

You moth-proof furs and other things you want to put away. You now do a score of things that no mere "electric cleaner" has ever been able to do for you before.

Quick, Easy Changes

All of Vac-u-ette's cleaning and sanitation units are put to use so easily that a child can do it.

Under furniture, in corners—everywhere—Vac-u-ette's time and labor-saving features and unusual conveniences are apparent.

Low Cost

And Vac-u-ette's Cost, too, is remarkably low—so low in fact that every home can now afford to own it.

Vac-u-ette is guaranteed two years. Then our Perpetual Service Policy insures complete rebuilding and reconditioning of the entire System at any time at a nominal cost together with an additional year's guarantee. Thus you can buy Vac-u-ette with full confidence in its economy.

He was told that the Rich and Hurt boys previously had borne good reputations, both had been repentant, and could be expected to go straight.

Albert Larson and several other residents of Shabbona told the board that sentiment was against releasing the prisoners and that the youths were fortunate in escaping lynching.

Can't Take Up Durant Case.

During the hearings today it was announced that the board would not take up the case of Jack Durant of Lake Forest, under conviction for burglary, until after he has served his minimum sentence of three years. The petition in young Durant's case has been pending since his incarceration.

ROCKEFELLER MAY BE CALLED AS OIL SCANDAL WITNESS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Dr. George E. Vincent, chairman of the board and president, respectively, of the Rockefeller foundation, are likely to be subpoenaed as witnesses in the new senate probe of the Teapot Dome oil lease scandal which gets under way tomorrow.

A demand for their appearance, inspired by a letter from A. W. Green, who gave his address as Room 72 in the Chicago Board of Trade building, was voiced in the senate this afternoon by Senator George W. Norris [Rep., Neb.]. Senator Norris sponsored the resolution adopted yesterday, which revived the investigation to clear up the mystery of the $8,000,000 Continental Trading company, Ltd., deal which figured so prominently in the Sinclair-Fall criminal prosecution.

Part of the profits of the deal—$230,500 in Liberty bonds—were traced to Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, and the new senate investigation seeks to discover what became of the balance of the profits. The ability of the Continental Trading company, Ltd., to perform its share of the 33,333,333 barrel transaction in crude oil was guaranteed jointly by Sinclair and Robert W. Stewart of Chicago, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

In the letter which Senator Norris read into the senate record Green insists that John D. Rockefeller Jr. and Dr. Vincent, as officials of the foundation which is a majority stockholder of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, should be summoned to tell what they know of the deal and explain why they will not compel Col. Stewart to withdraw from the transaction.

MURDER PAL OF HICKMAN ASKS SEPARATE TRIAL

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Welby Hunt, his 16 year old accomplice in one murder, will help William Hickman toward the gallows instead of away from it, Hunt indicated today.

He was brought before Judge Carlos Hardy to plead to the indictment charging him, jointly with Hickman, with murdering Druggist C. Ivy Thoms during a holdup on Dec. 24, 1926. Hunt pleaded not guilty. His attorney appealed for a separate trial from Hickman's, pleading that the public indignation against Hickman made it impossible for Hunt to obtain a fair trial with him.

Judge Hardy set Friday to hear arguments on Hunt's request for a separate trial.

" Eddie Hickman's as sane as I am," Hunt told authorities who took him from his cell to a room for questioning. " In fact, he's a lot smarter than I am. He used to do all the brain work for both of us, planning the Thoms robbery and all the others."

Favors the Sale of U. S. Owned Merchant Fleet.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—President Coolidge today took a position in favor of government subsidy for an American merchant marine and for the sale of the government-owned and operated fleet under a guantee of maintenance of the necessary trade routes.

The President at the time he expressed his stand for a ship subsidy, was informally commenting upon reports that a proposal may be made by a syndicate to purchase the merchant fleet and indicating his opposition to the Jones bill for an extensive replacement program which would keep the government in the shipping business.

Wants a Speedy Sale.

Mr. Coolidge's policy has been for the speedy sale of the ships and government retirement from the shipping business, as far as possible when assurance is given that trade routes necessary to American business will be maintained.

He pointed out that several investigations had been made, including one by Gen. Dalton, which recommended sale of the government merchant fleet These investigations confirmed the President's views, which he indicated today were now stronger, since it is proposed by the Jones bill to authorize replacement of shipping board vessels.

Can't Operate Profitably.

The government cannot profitably operate ships nor conduct any business, the President holds. That has been shown in the operation of the shipping board, and therefore he feels that the sooner the government gets out of the business the better it would be for the American marine and the nation's economic system.

He believes the ships ought to be sold as speedily as possible in accordance with present law, which also demands maintenance of the service for a period of five years.

STUDENTS HURL STENCH BOMBS AT PROFESSOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 10. — The traditional quietude of France's most venerable institution of higher learning—the College de France—was broken abruptly this afternoon, when angry students hurled half a dozen stench bombs into the lecture room where Prof. Loth was making an address. They were evicted.

A few minutes later another group begain denouncing the aged man, forcing him to beg police to throw out the disturbers.

The trouble arose when Prof. Loth, a noted anthropologist, started a series of lectures defending the authenticity of the Glozel discoveries, first believed to be relics of a civilization in France antedating any known civilization, but which last month were branded as a fake by an international committee of noted savants. The controversy has caused suits and counter suits between France's most noted scientists that the rest of the professors of the College de France tonight ordered Prof. Loth to quit lecturing on Glozel, but the professor said he would hire a hall and continue.

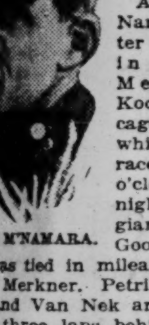
*Leader—McNamara.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.



REGGIE M'NAMARA.

After jamming for more than two hours, the champion team of Reggie McNamara and Charley Winter gained the lead in the six day bike race at the Coliseum at midnight last night.

At this time McNamara and Winter were two laps in advance of Merkner and Kockler, the Chicago combination which had led the race since 11 o'clock Monday night. The Belgian team of Goossens and Debaets was tied in mileage with Kockler and Merkner. Petri and Hill and Lands and Van Nek are in the next section, three laps behind. The rest of the field is strung out with Hanley and Rodak and Taylor and W. Spencer bringing up the rear twelve laps behind.

The jamming started later than usual. The first jam did not start until nearly 9 o'clock, but once under way, it was continuous. The riders even kept at it during the sprints and it was not until 11 o'clock that the jam was stopped by McNamara's fall. Some thought Walthour responsible for the spill, but McNamara said it was purely accidental.

Merkner Is Injured.

At 10:20 one of the bad falls of the race took place. The riders were traveling a slow rate on the north turn. Beckman was leading the pack and his pedal struck the track. In sliding to the pole Beckman took Grenda, W. Spencer, Merkner, Wynsdau and Winter with him. Merkner was the worst, recieving a bad pedal cut on his right side.

During the wild riding up to midnight, 54 laps were gained. Eighty-three had been stolen earlier in the race making a total of 137 up to 12 o'clock last night. In many cases the laps were pure gifts as the field refused to chase when some of the trailing combinations sprinted.

McNamara and Winter rode like mad during the wild jamming. McNamara followed his usual custom of continuous sprinting and fairly rode some of the experts ragged. At one time Reggie and Charley put two laps on the field, but carried other teams with them.

McNamara Takes Lead.

All the while, however, Merkner and Kockler made gallant efforts to retain the leadership. They were unable to hang to the killing pace set by McNamara and Winter or the Belgian team of Goossens and Debaets. Even Walthour and Spencer slipped and are now four laps in the rear. Some of the riders were caught back in the field when the faster contestants cut loose and before they could pedal around the slower riders the leaders had such a big lead they were unable to catch them. This happened to Kockler and Merkner on one occasion and to Walthour and F. Spencer on another.

McNamara and Winter, who have ruled among the favorites since the start of the race, will be hard to beat from now on, unless either meets with an accident. Both are in excellent condition and riding strongly. Goossens and Debaets are given a chance to draw up on even terms in mileage with the champion combination, but the Belgians are not given much of a chance to lead Reggie and Charley in points.

Another large crowd was on hand and indications are the building will be packed for the remainder of the race.

Jake Schaefer Overwhelms Cochran in Billiard Play

New York., Jan. 10. — [Special.] — Jake Schaefer annexed both afternoon and evening blocks in his 3,600 point 18.1 balkline billiard match with Welker Cochran today to lead in the play by 1,200 to 804. Schaefer won the afternoon block by 300 to 109 in eleven innings and took the night contest, 300 to 184, in 14 innings with an unfinished high run of 122.

Taylor Whips Babe Ruth in One Sided Ring Battle

Bud Taylor of Terre Haute, Ind., the world's bantamweight champion, decisively defeated Babe Ruth of Louisville, Ky., in the windup bout of the boxing show in the north hall of the Coliseum last night. Taylor won seven of the ten rounds, two were even and one went to Ruth.

The fight show drew a capacity crowd of 4,000 fans and the gate was estimated at $12,000.

Taylor displayed much of his old skill in winning but a few times he slipped and missed punches. He caught his usual number of unnecessary punches, but none of Ruth's blows even slowed up the Terre Haute terrier.

Ruth Takes Nine Count.

In the fourth round Taylor caught Ruth on the jaw with a left hook and Babe went down for a nine count. When the Louisville fighter had regained his feet Taylor tried to finish him, but Ruth fought back and held on until the close of the round. That knock down took a lot of the fight out of the Kentuckian, and he landed few solid punches in the remaining rounds.

Taylor took his time and landed with left leads and hooks on Ruth's head and body. He shifted this attack in a clever manner and planted several hard lefts to the pit of Babe's stomach. Bud won the first two rounds in a decisive manner. Ruth flashed to the front in the third stanza by connecting with right hooks and uppercuts.

In the fourth round Bud made up the lost ground when he floored Ruth for a nine count with a vicious left hook. Ruth showed remarkable recuperative powers and held his own in the fifth and sixth stanzas, but Taylor won the seventh, eighth, and ninth rounds by hard punching. Babe made a game stand in the tenth session and tried hard to land one hard punch in the hope of a knockout, but the crafty Taylor stemmed the attack.

Fight Decisions

At Reading, Pa.—Sylvan Bass and Harry Wallace boxed draw [8].

At Jacksonville, Fla.—Sid Terris, Chapel Hill, N. C., beat Big Ben Pound [10].

Marriner Wins by K. O.

Les Marriner, the University of Illinois football player, won by a technical knockout over Bud Doran of Dayton, O., in the fifth round of the semiwindup. Doran's seconds tossed the towel into the ring after the fifth stanza was 2:30 old. Up to the time the fight was stopped Marriner had all the best of it.

K. O. White, the colored middleweight of New Orleans, was given the six round decision over Snowflake of Chicago in the opening fight and Joey Thomas of Chicago won the verdict over Roger O'Brien, also of Chicago, in the second bout.

Gene McCue won by a technical knockout over Carl Gret in the fifth stanza. Gret's right eye was badly swollen and he could not see out of it. Referee Johnson stopped the fight after 2:15 of the fifth round.

Jimmy Black, the colored featherweight, won by a technical knockout over Johnny Murphy of Indianapolis in the fifth round. The referee stopped the fight after Murphy had taken a nine count and was unable to defend himself.

Boston Whips Blackhawks in Listless Match, 3 to 1

Boston, Mass., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Boston Bruins went back into a tie with Detroit Cougars for first place in the American division of the National Hockey league by beating Chicago Blackhawks, 3 to 1, here last night.

The game was the poorest that has been played in Boston this winter. Throughout the Bruins outclassed the visitors hopelessly, yet the home forces tended to lag and rest, and the result of Chicago weakness and Boston lethargy was to render the game slow and lacking in spectacular qualities.

Frank Frederickson played but briefly yet he scored the opening goal singlehanded and passed to Harry Oliver for the second one. The third Boston goal resulted from a combination between Dutch Gainor and Connor. Harry took Dutch's pass at the defense and blistered a steaming drive into the far side of the net from a position outside of and to the left of the Chicago defense. Other Boston invasions were forestalled narrowly in front of the Chicago goal.

Hockey Scores

Boston, 3; Chicago, 1.
New York Americans, 2; Toronto, 1.
Montreal Canadiens, 3; Ottawa, 0.

BOSTON [3].		CHICAGO [1].
Galbraith	L. W.	Denney
Frederickson	C	Mackay
Oliver	R. W.	Arbour
Hitchman	L. D.	Wentworth
Shore	R. D.	Trapp
Winkler	G	Gardiner

GOALS.

First period—Frederickson, 19:34; Wasnie, 19:51.

Second period—Oliver [Frederickson], 9:08.

TEX SAYS HE MAY PUT ON TUNNEY BOUT IN LONDON

Rickard declared vaguely that he had not reached an agreement with Tunney, but had an engagement to play golf with Gene in Miami, Fla., some time after Jan. 18, when the promoter will leave for the southland. The promoter declared himself ready to match Heeney and the champion for a bout in London next spring, provided the New Zealander defeats Jack Sharkey Friday night.

At the same time Rickard revealed that he expects Dempsey's second effort to lift Gene's crown will draw no more than $1,500,000 in the Yankee stadium next September.

MULLEN STRICKEN WITH AN ATTACK OF APPENDICITIS

James C. Mullen, the local boxing promoter, was stricken with an attack of appendicitis yesterday morning. Despite orders of a physician, who had ordered him to bed, Mullen attended the boxing show in the North hall of the Coliseum last night.

Mullen will be confined to his bed for the next four days in the hope of avoiding an operation.

SWEITZER, HAY BOSS RACING AT WASHINGTON PK.

Stockholders Hold Their Annual Meeting.

BY FRENCH LANE.

C. W. HAY.

Unlike their stormy session of a year ago, stockholders of the Washington Park race track held their annual meeting yesterday, peacefully elected a board of directors and announced, following the session, that as far as Washington Park was concerned prospects for racing in Illinois could not appear brighter.

This came in the face of the possibility that Washington Park may not conduct its annual June meeting when the American Derby is run. For President Robert M. Sweitzer announced that until a $300,000 improvement program is completed, the track will not open its gates.

I. C. Plans New Service.

Mr. Sweitzer told the stockholders that the Illinois Central plans to electrify its lines from Markham yards across to the Homewood track. "This will give us 30 minute train service from the Randolph street station," Mr. Sweitzer told the stockholders.

The improvement plans are all in the hands of contractors and the directors decided to meet on Jan. 20 and hear reports from them on when the work can be completed.

General Manager C. W. Hay came up from Frankfort, Ky., to attend the meeting and was reëngaged to direct the racing affairs at Washington Park. He also was elected secretary-treasurer.

Directors elected by the stockholders were as follows: Robert M. Sweitzer, Stuyvesant Peabody, C. W. Hay, Maurice L. Galvin, Thomas Curran, George G. Renecker and W. H. Dennes.

Officers Elected.

The directors of the jockey club elected the following officers:

President, Robert M. Sweitzer; vice presidents, Thomas Curran and George G. Renecker; secretary-treasurer and general manager, C. W. Hay.

It is understood that if Washington Park's improvements cannot be finished by June 1 that the dates usually allotted the Homewood track will be divided equally among the four other tracks in the Chicago district. In this event the American Derby may be run at Arlington Park on the third Saturday in June, under the name of the Illinois Jockey club.

NORTHWESTERN TANKERS MEET C. A. A. TONIGHT

Swimming teams representing Northwestern university and the C. A. A. will meet tonight in the Cherry Circle pool. The regular list of intercollegiate events will be held in addition to a medley 300 yard relay. It will be the second meeting of the two teams this year. The Cherry Circle team, captained by Ralph Breyer, won the first meeting, 42 to 30.

Collegians Eye Ring Career as Short Route to Wealth

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 10.—The prize fight profession appears to be receiving some of the recognition that it deserves as a field into which young men of intellectual tendencies may direct their careers.

Advices from Florida report that the success of Mr. Big Bum Ben Pound, a heavyweight senior of Rollins college, in knocking out fifteen beefy wayfarers in Tampa, Orlando, and other real estate centers thereabouts, has persuaded four other collegians to announce their betrothal to a manager, Mr. Jim Downing of Tampa, it being their intention to take up pugilism in serious way upon their graduation next June.

Florida's Most Popular Sport.

High school athletes all over the state of Florida are taking up boxing, which is becoming Florida's most popular sport since its legalization by the last legislature, the report runs.

The four collegians who are reported to have pledged themselves to careers under Mr. Downing's direction are named as Wee Willie Middelkauf, the 200 pound captain of the University of Florida football team, Charlie Tucker, a middleweight, and Phil O'Connell, a lightweight of the same school, and Gus Winchell of Rollins college.

Of course, a few years ago it would have been considered folly for a young man with a standard package of education to go railroading around the country fighting coarse characters to whom they had not previously been introduced, but this sort of prejudice is being overcome nowadays. There is no reason why it should persist, either, when one considers the opportunities offered by pugilism.

Mr. Tunney, who is not exactly a college man, although highly intellectual, found it an avenue not only to material independence, but also to social success.

Mr. Monte Munn of the University of Nebraska, although an indifferent prize fighter, certainly has made more money fighting in the last two years than he reasonably might have expected to make as a rural attorney pleading cases involving the ownership of half pints of illicit silage. Neither has he found it necessary to frequent the low resorts commonly pictured as the rendezvous of the prize fight talent.

Minister Raps Campus Morals.

But even if Mr. Pound, Mr. Wee Willie Middelkauf and the other three intellectual probationary stumble bums should find themselves drawn into uncouth company and unsavory resorts, it appears that they would be no worse off socially and morally and much better off financially than they are in college.

One bases this idea on an address delivered in Atlantic City the other day by the Rev. Dr. W. G. Clippinger, president of Otterbein university, which is situated at Westerville, O., the home of the Anti-Saloon league, in which Dr. Clippinger revealed the alarming information that lying, cheating, stealing, drinking and smoking were prevalent on the campuses of American colleges in this day.

If the Rev. Dr. Clippinger, who is certainly in a position to know his facts, has delivered a correct summary of conditions on the American college campus, there would appear to be no reason to mourn for those varsity football players who become professionals in the employ of Mr. Charlie Pyle and his business associates.

Football Demands Sobriety.

It is true that the buoyant college spirit is lacking from the professional football system, but there is no more lying, cheating, and stealing here than you would find in any brokerage office, and there is considerably less smoking and virtually no drinking, because it is impossible to play football while in a plastered or even a mildly cockeyed condition.

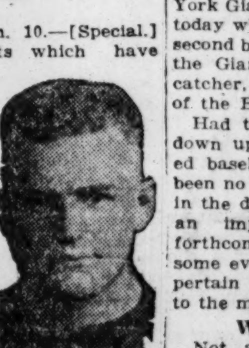
But to return to pugilism as a career for the college youth, one finds that prize fighters of the workaday type of Mr. Chuck Wiggins who pay attention to their bookings and don't miss their trains, manage to keep busy on a program of six more fights a month, clearings of $500 per fight. That would represent an income of $3,000 a month the year around and such prize fighters, although they have no notion of becoming champions, seldom permit anybody to hurt them much, thus being able to job along for ten or a dozen years.

Pyott, Former Maroon Star, Leaves Hospital

Jim Pyott, captain of the University of Chicago football team in 1923, who has been at the Michael Reese hospital since shortly after Christmas, will leave the latter part of the week to convalesce in Florida. Pyott has been ill at the Hotel Windermere since early in December. He was a star half back on Coach Stagg's Maroon team for three years.

IOWA SILENCES ALUMNI; RETAINS BURT INGWERSEN

Athletic Staff Remains Intact for 1928.



BURT INGWERSEN.

Iowa City, Ia., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Overriding protests which have come from alumni organizations in many Iowa cities during the last two months, President Walter A. Jessup and the University of Iowa Athletic council announced tonight the retention of Burton A. Ingwersen as head football coach for another year.

President Jessup made the announcement after receiving a letter recommending the action from the board in control of athletics. The athletic board made known its attitude after considering at length the protests which have been sent in demanding a change in the Hawkeye athletic department.

Paul E. Belting, director of athletics, and Walter R. Feisler, medical supervisor, who likewise were criticised by the alumni, also will be retained for another season, it was indicated by the athletic council's recommendation that "the present members of the staff on the department of intercollegiate athletics should be retained."

PELTZER, GERMAN DASH HOUND, MAY RUN IN CHICAGO

DR. OTTO PELZER.

Dr. Otto Pelzer, world's fastest half miler, may be seen on the board tracks of this country. Pelzer is in the United States on an educational tour of the school systems in the large cities, but left Germany under orders not to run in any meets here. The backers of the indoor games in Chicago, Boston, and New York are trying to secure permission for the star to compete.

Pelzer, with wins over Nurmi, Wide of Sweden, and Lowe of England, and with the world's record for the half mile, formerly held by Ted Meredith, to his credit, is one of the outstanding athletic figures of the year.

Pelzer has indicated that he desires to run three times in this country, and with the influences now at work it is probable Chicago sports fans will see this extraordinary runner in the I. A. C. games.

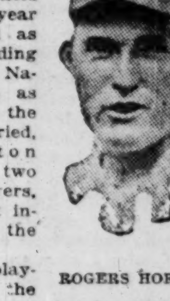
Illinois Seniors Name Officers at Meet Tonight

Illinois Seniors' Golf association will hold a formal election of officers tonight at their annual meeting at the Chicago Athletic association. An expected attendance of 200 members will ratify the selection of officers as announced some time ago by the nominating committee. With a few exceptions on account of officers retiring, the association's official personnel will remain the same as last year.

The principal speaker at tonight's meeting will be Judge Cutting. Many downstate members are expected to attend.

M'GRAW GETS 2 UNKNOWNS IN MYSTERY DEAL

No Explanation of Transaction.



ROGERS HORNSBY.

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—John McGraw touched off a bomb in baseball circles tonight when he announced he had traded Rogers Hornsby, his field captain last year and regarded as the outstanding player in the National league as well as being the highest salaried, to the Boston Braves for two obscure players, for "the best interests" of the Giants.

The two players whom the Giants will receive for the star who in 1926 managed the world's champion St. Louis Cardinals, are Francis Hogan, a catcher, who only last spring made his debut in the National league, and James Welch, an outfielder.

No Further Expanation.

The announcement in the form of a typewritten statement signed both by McGraw, as manager of the Giants, and Charles A. Stoneham, the club's president, and was distributed tonight by Secretary James J. Tierney to newspaper men in the Giants' headquarters. The statement read:

"After due deliberation between President Stoneham and Manager McGraw, and having in mind what we thought to be the best interests of the New York Giants, a trade was consummated today which involves Rogers Hornsby, second baseman of the Giants, whereby the Giants received Francis Hogan, catcher, and James Welch, outfielder, of the Boston Braves."

Had the ceiling of the room fallen down upon the heads of the astounded baseball writers there could have been no greater consternation. Earlier in the day they had been notified that an important announcement was forthcoming later in the evening and some even had expected that it might pertain to the promotion of Hornsby to the managership of the club.

With Giants One Year.

Not a baseball man in the city could be found to offer a plausible reason for what was generally regarded as a dismissal of Hornsby. That some mysterious motive was involved was conceded, for the trade itself, viewed in the light of the respective merits of the players, scarecely could be called an equitable one. In 1927 Hornsby batted .361 and led the Giants well up in the final pennant drive.

Hornsby came to the Giants a year ago in a trade that in itself was a sensational one. Hornsby, a member of the Cardinals, had been the champion batsman of the league for six consecutive years and was at the time receiving the plaudits of the baseball world for his achievement in piloting the Cardinals to the first National league pennant ever won by St. Louis and then leading his team to victory in the world's series over the New York Yankees.

At the close of the 1926 season, however, Hornsby became involved in a dispute with Sam Breadon, owner of the St. Louis Cardinals, over the terms of a new contract. While argument between owner and manager was at its height, announcement came that Hornsby had been traded to the New York Giants for Frankie Frisch and Pitcher Jimmy Ring.

Sued for "Debts."

So far as is known, there never was any friction between Hornsby and McGraw. Hornsby is understood to have signed a two year contract with the Giants last spring at a salary of $40,000 a season. The Braves will have to assume that contract next season.

Following his transfer to the Giants Hornsby became involved in two other proceedings that kept him in the public eye, aside from his playing feats. The one concerned his holding of stock in the St. Louis club and the other a lawsuit in which he was named defendant by Frank Moore, a Cincinnati betting commissioner, who sued the player for $90,000 for alleged losses in wagers placed on horses. After long negotiations Hornsby finally accepted $116,000 from Breadon for his share in the Cards. In the lawsuit Hornsby was freed of all claims against him by a jury verdict.

HORNSBY SURPRISED

St. Louis, Mo., Jan. 10.—[U. P.]—Rogers Hornsby, New York Giants second sacker and captain, when told tonight he had been traded to the Boston Braves said the trade was a complete surprise to him.

"This is the first I knew of the deal," said Hornsby. "I have not been officially notified by the Giants, and know nothing of plans to trade me. What they do is their business, however."

FUCHS IS ELATED

Boston, Jan. 10.—(AP)—Judge Emil E. Fuchs, president of the Boston Braves, said tonight he was "elated with the trade" which will bring Rogers Hornsby to Boston.

"The personal friendship between Hornsby and myself has been one of warm friendship for years," he said, "and I promise the Boston public that he will give us everything he has to bring the Braves toward the top."

TRECET, ANIBAL WIN JAI ALAI FEATURE EVENT

Favorites Have a Slim Night.

Jai-Alai followers who dropped in at the Rainbo fronton last night watched the greatest game of the season decided when eight teams came together in the feature battle, a doubles elimination contest at eight points.

They watched Señors Trecet and Anibal take the floor after four teams had been squabbling for three points and remain on the floor until they turned back every other combination in the game, rolling up eight points without a miss.

Trecet Sparkles at Play.

All the bad names Señor Trecet has been called during his numerous failures here were taken back while this brilliant bit of play was under way. The big shot was here, there, and everywhere. And toward the end, when pitted against Cannonball Uranga, he outplayed the mighty cesta swinger from Madrid.

Trecet always has a following and his team rewarded its cash encouragers at $6.70 in the two dollar mutuels. The combination won like a 1 to 10 choice.

Bad Night for Favorites.

The feature singles contest brought victory to Marcelino after he had fought off such stars as Trecet, Urizar and Mugica. He has been a frequent winner when coupled up in the doubles but this was one of the few times that he has been able to triumph when playing alone and to those who encouraged him in the certificate palm garden there was a high rate of interest returned on the money.

Few favorites were able to triumph throughout the night's play.

Ring Champs Must Defend Their Titles

The Illinois boxing commisison yesterday voted to live up to the rule of the National Boxing association making it imperative for a champion to defend his title every six months. If a titleholder fails to defend his crown in the specified time he will be suspended in the 27 states which have adopted this ruling, and he will lose his title automatically.

Referees and judges will meet with the commission at a dinner at the Illinois A. C. on Jan. 17 for the purpose of discussing rules which may be beneficial to the sport.

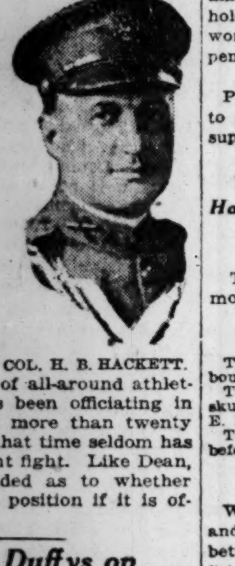
The proposed boxing match between Joey Sangor, Milwaukee featherweight, and Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino, which Promoter James Mullen planned for Jan. 20, was tossed into the discard yesterday when the commission gave no indication of any move to lift Sangor's indefinite suspension. Mullen is attempting to match Eddie Shea to engage the hard hitting Fernandez.

DEAN INDICATES HE WOULD NOT ACCEPT RING JOB



COL. H. B. HACKETT.

Indications are Charles A. Dean, former chairman of the athletic committee of the Illinois A. C., will not accept the appointment as a member of the boxing commission. Dean still is undecided, although his friends are urging him to take the post.

Meanwhile Col. H. B. Hackett, prominent football official is being mentioned. Hackett served in the world war and when at West Point received the sword emblematic of all-around athletic ability. He has been officiating in football games for more than twenty years, and during that time seldom has missed an important fight. Like Dean, Hackett is undecided as to whether he would take the position if it is offered him.

Moores Play Duffys on St. Rita Floor Tonight

The Moore Boosters will play the Duffy Florals basketball team at St. Rita's gym at 63d and Oakley avenues tonight. The last time both teams played the Moores were the victors. The proceeds of the game between the Knights of Columbus All Stars and the Boosters for charity have been distributed between the Chicago newspapers and the Knights of Columbus Christmas funds, THE TRIBUNE Algonquin fund having been given $100.

Hirsch Junior High Five Defeats Wendell Phillips

Hirsch Junior High school won the south side championship of the Junior High School Basketball league yesterday by beating Wendell Phillips Junior High, 18 to 14, before 2,500 at Tilden Tech gymnasium. Hirsch led at the half by one point, but easily proved its superiority in the last half. Tomorrow Hersel and Sabin of the north side will play for the right to meet Hirsch for the championship of the league.

Three Sets of Brothers in Amateur Bouts Tonight

Three sets of brothers, the Schumans, the Jessens and the O'Dettes, are eligible for competition at the weekly amateur show at Mullen's gym tonight. Eddie Wills and Joe Cahill will be in one of the feature amateur GOLF AMATEURISM.

It must require considerable moral courage, or what have you, to decline a $50,000 home which admirers wish to thrust upon you gratis for the housing of your family, especially if you are a young man just starting out in life whose parents are comfortable but by no means wealthy, as wealth is now rated.

Bobby Jones' action, although the gift had been held not contrary to golf amateurism, drew commendation from the U. S. G. A., especially as a few captious British writers had seen fit to criticize. Commendation is fine, but it does not supply the home, and as for value, just take it down to the three ball shop and see what you can get on it.

In the long run, however, Jones, we think, will feel better satisfied with himself. The Atlanta expert has become one of the most popular champions in the sporting world. This supplants a feeling in many quarters that he was not a good loser. Of course he does not lose often now. That earlier opinion was based on several exhibitions of youthful petulance when Bobby made poor shots. At one time it was feared his temperament would handicap his golf future. When he put that under control his game improved materially.

There is no question Jones profits by his golf reputation. He receives compensation for writing articles on golf which would not command the price or the market they do except for his skill. We always admired his frankness on the subject. From boyhood he competed in tourneys at expense of time and money to his family. He secured an opinion from the U. S. G. A. and then stated publicly that he did not think it fair to ask his father longer to pay his expenses.

We do not think Bobby any less an amateur in spirit than formerly. The $50,000 house incident proves that. Revenue from writing undoubtedly will enable him to compete in tourneys where he could not otherwise compete without sacrifice. Whether time so devoted to golf will retard or enhance his earning capacity in the legal profession is something of which he is the better judge.

Brooklyn Polo Team, Riding Club to Clash Tonight

After Chicago polo fans had watched the Brooklyn team rehearse in the tanbark arena at the Riding club last night, they made the easterners the favorites in the intersectional struggle with the Chicago Riding club team tonight.

The eastern riders showed great skill and brilliant riding their short practice session. With Gerald Smith at the No. 2 position, the team looked almost unbeatable. But the Chicago team, which won the New York handicap tournament last spring, has many backers who will cheer them on tonight.

The game is to start at 8:30 o'clock and will be preceded by a contest between the North Shore Polo club and the Riding club B team.

Kenneth Fitzpatrick, Capt. Maxwell Corpening, and Frank W. Bering will be in the lineup of the Chicago Riding club team.

Phillips Takes 2 Cage Games from Lindblom

Wendell Phillips High school won its second successive double header in the central section of the City Public High school basketball league yesterday, handing Lindblom a 15 to 12 heavyweight setback and a 23 to 19 lightweight beating. Byas was the main cog in Phillips heavyweight win with four baskets. Carey scored 10 points for Phillips lights and Thompson counted 10 for the losing ponies. Heavyweight lineup:

SCHURZ, ROOSEVELT BREAK EVEN.

Roosevelt and Schurz broke even in north section games at Schurz. The home heavies, making their first start in the league, won 24 to 16. Roosevelt's lights copped, 25 to 13, for the second win.

PARKER, 23; UNIVERSITY, 7.

Parker and University High halved a double header at Parker. The Parker heavies won easily, 23 to 7, after U. High had finished on the long end of an 18 to 15 battle.

ST. PATRICK HEAVIES COP.

Holy Trinity and St. Patrick divided at the latters' floor. Led by Riley with seven points, the home heavies copped, 21 to 13. Bachta, with 6 points, and Kolski, with 5, paved the way for Holy Trinity's 16 to 9 lightweight victory.

LA GRANGE SWAMPS ARGO.

Using virtually every member of the heavyweight squad, La Grange swamped Argo, 42 to 15, at La Grange. La Grange also took the lightweight game, winning 40 to 16, after being held almost even in the first half.

Cullen Boosters Whip Duffy Florals, 40 to 36

Chicago Pro Quintet Meets Celts Tonight

DAVE BARRY.

Chicago's best pro basketball team since this city received a franchise in the American league, will meet the New York Celtics tonight at the Broadway armory in the first of a two game series.

Previous visits of the Celtics to Chicago have attracted large crowds, although the games were more in the nature of exhibition contests, but tonight the stage is ready for what has been declared by all concerned to be a real honest-to-goodness cage scramble with chances of victory equal for both parties. As a result it is believed that attendance records will be eclipsed.

Johnny Beckman is the principal reason for all this basketball enthusiasm on the part of Chicago fans. Until Johnny arrived on the north side, the Bruins lacked the ability to get points when the going was rough. Defensively they had turned in some brilliant games. Now Beckman, teaming with the Wickhorst, who is playing the best ball of his three years with the Bruins, have produced a scoring combination, which, with Honey Russell to back it up, may be so much dynamite tonight for the visitors.

Grimstead, the Bruins' new pivot man, is an excellent passer and defensive player, but Homer Stonebraker, the elongated Hoosier, may be substituted to add additional scoring strength. Sullivan will appear at the other guard position.

For the Celtics it will be the same quintet which has defeated them all so consistently during the last two seasons. Nat Holman and Dave Banks will carry the sharpshooting burden with Dutch Dehnert, Lopschick and Barry at the other positions.

Jimmy Smith Meets Lavine in Bowling Match Tonight

Jimmy Smith will roll Harry Lavine of the Union Printers' league in a special match tonight at the Congress Arcade alleys.

Sykes Thoma and Bill Weinecke will roll a match at the Randolph alleys tonight in the Chicago all-star individual tourney. The match will start at 8 o'clock.

BYRNE SKATERS ENTER TRIBUNE'S RACES JAN. 21-22

The playgrounds of Chicago, which have produced many athletes who afterward made reputations as members of university, college, or club teams, will be heavily represented in THE TRIBUNE's twelfth annual Silver Skates Derbies to be held in Washington park Jan. 21 and 22.

Dennis Galvin, director of Byrne athletic field, has nominated sixty skaters for the various races. He has entered a balanced team and his playground will be represented in every race. While the weather permitted Director Galvin had his charges practice skating, taking the turns, and the various ways to pass through a field without any danger of disqualification for fouling.

John C. Lessing, director of Christopher playground, will have thirty-six boys and girls in the various races, while Otto Kaecke of Belding has nominated thirty-five and the Swift Arrows A. C. eleven. Many other team entries from smaller organizations were received.

The Dubuque Skating association of Dubuque, Ia., has nominated five speeders for the senior event. The Hawkeye association has been represented in practically all of the former Derbies, and its officers are hopeful that one of the entrants will be among the finalists in the big race of the day.

C. A. A. and Oak Park 'Y' Cagers to Clash Tonight

The C. A. A. basketball team will meet the Oak Park Y. M. C. A. in the latter's gymnasium tonight and on Friday night the Cherry Circle quintet will clash with De Paul university at De Paul. The C. A. A. five is composed of Harold MacKenzie, formerly of Northwestern; Wallace Christopher of Knox college, Bill Yarling of Wabash, Paul Neuman of Purdue, and Roy Nelson. Tonight's game will be started at 8:30 o'clock.

Friends to Honor Dean at Dinner on Jan. 16

C. A. Dean, who has retired from all athletic activities, will be tendered a dinner by his friends at the Stevens hotel on Jan. 16. Men prominent in college, university, club, and A. A. U. athletics will be present.

Emeralited Offices Look Better

OFFICE character is revealed by the refinement of equipment. Because of their dignified appearance Emeralites are adopted as standard equipment in most well appointed offices. They help inspire confidence and produce better work.

Nature made green and daylight restful to eyes. That's why Emeralite has an Emerald Glass shade and a special screen that changes ordinary electric light into soft, eye-saving daylite—ideal for reading or working.

Emeralited offices look better—have more output—less upkeep and, with daylight on every desk, the best eye insurance.

Genuine Emeralites are branded for your protection, and have the Emerald Glass shade with the Daylite Screen. Ask for demonstration.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Heavy selling of speculative stocks swept over the market today and sent many favorites tumbling from 3 to 7 points. Selling was unloosed by an unexpected stiffening in money rates. Trading during the morning was characterized by a distinctly heavy tone. Around noon a brief rally followed publication of United States Steel's unfilled orders statement for December, showing a large gain. However, the stimulating influence of this constructive showing proved short lived. As the decline gained momentum in the afternoon stop loss orders were executed at frequent intervals and the volume of business reached huge proportions.

Ticker Is Overwhelmed.

The ticker was unable to handle the increased traffic when selling orders came in such volume that total transactions were 3,321,100 shares. Although a few volatile specialties were singled out for special attacks, most of the prominent speculative favorites were freely offered by those who wished to realize profits as well as those who sold in expectation of a decline.

The break had been freely predicted in financial circles for more than a week, and although the large volume of selling came rather unexpectedly, it found most active traders fully prepared. The failure of directors of the New York, New Haven and Hartford to take action on a dividend for common stockholders caused some disappointment.

Some Closing Prices.

The closing price and net loss of some of the market leaders follows: Allied Chemical, 155¾, off ¾; General Motors, 132, off 1½; Hudson Motors, 78⅝, off 1⅝; Montgomery Ward, 121½, off 3½; New York Central, 160½, off 1½; Packard Motors, 58⅛, off 1⅛; Radio corporation, 100⅝, off 1¼; U. S. Steel, 148¼, off ½; Beechnut Packing, 73⅛, off 3⅛; Calumet and Arizona, 104, off 2⅛; Chrysler, 56½, off 1⅛; Case Threshing, 263½, off 6½; Greene Cananea, 129, off 3⅛; Woolworth, 183¼, off 1⅞.

It was hardly an accident that today's sweeping decline should have occurred on the favorable report of the United States Steel corporation. It is an old tradition that a stock market jacked up repeatedly to a high pitch of speculative confidence and excitement is more likely to decline than advance on a favorable announcement.

Two New York Banks Take Shares Off Stock Market

New York, Jan. 10.—[Special.]—Stockholders of the National City bank and the Chase National bank, the two largest financial institutions in New York, voted today for the removal of their shares from the trading list of the New York stock exchange.

The stock exchange had let it be known that if the majority of the stockholders of any of the banks favored the removal of its shares from listing their wishes would be complied with. The governing committee of the exchange will meet tomorrow, and it is expected that it will receive formal notification of the action of the stockholders.

The movement for removal of the bank stocks from the list began several months ago under the leadership of Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank, who took the stand that trading in bank stocks on the exchanges invited speculation and manipulation of the shares in a manner that might reflect on the standing of the financial institutions.

Topics of Finance, Trade and Industry

Dividends on both preferred and common stock for a six month period, instead of the usual three months, were declared by directors of the H. W. Gossard company. In explaining the action the directors said their business for 1927 was the largest in volume and profits of any year during the 27 years of the company's history.

Construction of one of the largest hydro-electric properties in the United States will be financed in part with the proceeds of two issues of Lexington Water Power company securities, totaling $17,000,000, a syndicate headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co. will offer today. The securities consist of $12,000,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due Jan. 1, 1968, which are being offered at 98 and interest, yielding more than 5.10 per cent, and $5,000,000 5½ per cent convertible sinking fund debentures, due Jan. 1, 1953, which are being offered at 98½ and interest, yielding more than 5.60 per cent. Offering also will be made of $5,000,000 Procter & Gamble company 4½s, priced at 110 and interest.

All of its preferred stock and a small part of its common stock has been sold by Curtiss Aëroplane Export corporation for more than $500,000 cash to a group of American international banking houses. The new capital will be used in an intensive drive for foreign trade. The export company will be the agent of the Curtiss Aëroplane and Motor company in all foreign countries.

New financing for the Seaboard Air Line, which will enable it to defray the cost of the acquisition of the capital stock of the Charlotte Harbor and Northern railway, takes place today in the form of an offering of three year 5 per cent secured notes through a banking group headed by Dillon, Read & Co. The notes, which are designated as series A, are priced at 99½ and accrued interest, to yield 5.18 per cent. Offering also is to be made of a new issue of $1,250,000 Interstate Telephone and Telegraph company first lien sinking fund 5.50 per cent gold bonds, series A, at 100 and accrued interest, to yield 5.50 per cent, by P. W. Chapman & Co., Inc.

Activity in the market for machinery and machine tools is gradually increasing. Interest centers in the new production schedules of major industries, and much of the pending business is to be released in the near future, American Machinist reports. The automobile industry, in particular, is expected to furnish a large part of the first quarter business in new equipment.

Directors of Bunte Bros. declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common. On Feb. 1 of last year the company paid a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common.

CHICAGO STOCKS WEAK; MIDDLE WEST UTILITIES RAISES DIVIDEND RATE

Chicago stocks followed the eastern trend yesterday and sold lower. Montgomery Ward and Armour of Illinois preferred led the decline among the active shares with losses of 3 points each. Auburn Automobile was down 2 points. The company reported that its subsidiary, the Limousine Body company, has orders for 4,000 bodies, to be delivered during the first half of this year, as against 2,500 in the same period of 1927.

Morgan Lithograph sold off 2 points and Stewart-Warner was down 1⅛. Middle West Utilities eased ¼. Any decline in this issue beyond a fraction was stopped by buying which followed the announcement that hereafter the stock will be placed on a 7 per cent basis. The regular quarterly disbursement of 1½ per cent due at this time was declared. The action automatically places the preferred stock on an 8 per cent basis, as compared with 7 per cent, and this issue sold up a major fraction.

On small sales declines were: American Shipbuilding, 3¼; Kraft Cheese, 2⅛; Marvel Carburetor and National Standard, 1⅛ each; Illinois Brick, Thompson, and Celotex, a point each. Swift and Central and Southwest Utilities each advanced a point.

GUIDE PROPOSED ON MONEY FLOW TO CONSUMERS

BY HARPER LEECH.

Industrial America today appears to many thinkers as a monument to the errors and insufficiency of the classic economics of Smith and Mill. Its history is a running refutation of the economics of conservative despair and the equally false economics of servile revolt epitomized in Marx. But American business men, as a rule, have been too busy to note these things.

Formally assenting to the postulates of orthodox economics they have in practice displayed their actual disbelief. Now that American consumerism is in full tide, men are rising to write about it and interpret it.

The core problem underlying all the speculations about the business cycle, the invisible interrogation point, which really follows every business forecast, is this: Does capitalistic production automatically finance full consumption? Orthodoxy says yes. Business, in its constant search for markets and stimulation of sales, acts as if it did not believe it.

If it were possible to forecast the public reception of a book by noting the subjects uppermost in the business mind, I would predict right now that the most widely read text on business subjects in 1928 will be "The Road to Plenty," by William Trufant Foster and Waddil Catchings.

Complete unbound advance sheets were received yesterday. The book is the practical constructive climax—the prescription by the doctors, whose previous diagnoses have enlisted so many fans and have occupied so much space in the general magazines and business press for several years. The book challenges the orthodox economic position on crises and depressions—it proposes a positive policy for control of the business cycle. It will enlist neither Tories nor radicals.

It suggests nothing very radical—nothing which seems quite so radical as the Federal Reserve idea once appeared. A federal board to control government disbursements on major public works in the interest of general business stability and a coördination and improvement of statistics in order to keep business constantly apprised of the flow of money into consumers' hands is all that is proposed. Whether that would do what the authors believe and hope is a matter on which every man should form his own opinion.

In the setting of a Pullman smoking compartment debate the authors have probably been true to the American brand of human nature in that they have also injected the emotional element, which we all, secretly at any rate, share in the discussion of the fundamentals of welfare and national life.

Growing with the Country

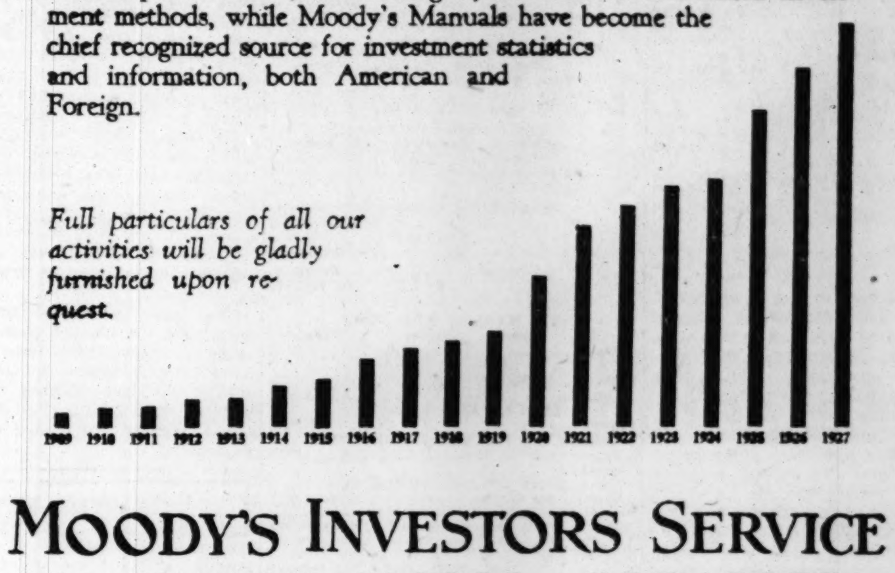
Record of Our Progressive Business Growth

AS the accompanying chart indicates, the growth of our institution has kept full pace with the progress of America during the past two decades. The services we render to the banking and investing public result in the protection of increasing thousands every year.

Is there any better demonstration of the permanent usefulness of our activities?

During the 19 years included in this exhibit, our standard investment services have become quite indispensable to bankers, dealers, investors and corporate heads; our Rating System has revolutionized investment methods, while Moody's Manuals have become the chief recognized source for investment statistics and information, both American and Foreign.



Full particulars of all our activities will be gladly furnished upon request.

City of Buenos Aires
(Argentina)
External Sinking Fund 6% Gold Bonds
Series "C-3"

Dated October 1, 1927 Due October 1, 1960

Interest payable April 1 and October 1, principal and interest payable in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness at the office of the Chatham Phenix National Bank and Trust Co., New York, Fiscal Agent, without deduction for any Argentine national or local taxes present or future when held by other than residents or citizens of the Argentine Republic. Redeemable as a whole or in part on thirty days' notice at 100 and interest. Coupon bonds in denomination of $1,000 registerable as to principal.

CHATHAM PHENIX NATIONAL BANK AND TRUST CO., Fiscal Agent

Cumulative sinking fund sufficient to retire the entire issue by maturity through the purchase of bonds at not exceeding 100 and interest or redemption by lot at that price.

The following information has been furnished by Dr. Julio N. Bastiani, Comptroller of the City of Buenos Aires:

Buenos Aires: The City of Buenos Aires, founded in 1580, is the Capital, commercial and financial center of the Argentine Republic and, with a population of approximately 2,135,000, is the largest city in South America, the fourth largest on the American continent following New York, Chicago and Philadelphia. Buenos Aires is a Federal district similar to the District of Columbia in the United States. The City is of great commercial importance, being one of the world's leading seaports and the fourth largest port on the American continent. It is estimated that 80% of the imports of Argentina and 40% of the exports pass through the port of Buenos Aires.

Buenos Aires is a modern, well built city and is highly industrialized. According to the last Government census there were over 10,275 industrial plants and 27,761 commercial establishments in the City, employing a capital of $232,400,000 and $422,900,000 respectively. Manufactures include machinery, furniture, leather goods, textiles, shoes, hats, liquors and tobacco. All the important railway systems of the Argentine Republic have their terminus in the City. Thirty-one banks with a total capital of $194,965,000 are located in Buenos Aires.

The value of the municipally owned properties is estimated at $210,000,000, while the valuation of all property in the City is estimated at $2,400,000,000.

Security: These Bonds will constitute, in the opinion of counsel, the direct obligation of the City of Buenos Aires. The loan contract provides that if, while any of the Bonds remain outstanding, the Municipality should issue or guarantee any loan or bonds secured by any right of retention on any of its income or funds, these Bonds shall be secured in equal form.

The City of Buenos Aires enjoys a high credit standing, having punctually paid principal and interest on all outstanding debt during the past 34 years.

Prior to the war the bonds of the City sold on approximately a 4½% basis on the London Stock Exchange.

Finances: The City of Buenos Aires has had a balanced budget for each of the past five years, with the exception of 1922. Revenues of the City have shown a steady growth, having increased over 99½% during the past ten years. The total receipts from all sources, including municipally owned properties, for the fiscal year 1927 are officially estimated at $37,633,000, whereas annual interest and sinking fund charges on the City's entire debt, including this issue, will require but $5,367,000. The City's revenues are derived principally from tax on real estate and from contributions for public health and safety services.

The total funded debt of the City of Buenos Aires, as of January 1, 1928, including the present issue, amounts to approximately $67,681,000, of which the external debt, including these bonds, is $33,885,300. Total debt is less than $32 per capita, compared with an estimated wealth per capita of $2,150.

Purpose of Issue: The proceeds of this issue are to be used for public improvements, including the construction and improvement of productive enterprises owned by the municipality.

Republic of Argentina: The Argentine Republic has an area considerably greater than that of the United States east of the Mississippi River and an estimated population of 10,000,000, or more than that of Canada. Argentina, served by 22,355 miles of railways, is one of the leading food producing nations of the world. In proportion to population, Argentina is one of the richest nations in the world, the per capita wealth, according to the last census, being estimated at $1,450. Argentina leads all South American countries in volume of foreign trade.

Application will be made by the City of Buenos Aires to list these Bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

Conversion from Argentine national currency into United States dollars has been made at par of exchange, 42.45 cents to the Peso. We offer these bonds when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to the approval of our counsel, Messrs. Curtis, Mallet-Prevost, Colt & Mosle, New York, and Dr. A. Condomi Alcorta, Buenos Aires. It is expected that temporary Bonds will be ready for delivery on or about January 24, 1929.

Another decrease in hog receipts yesterday checked the downward swing of prices and market finished in line with the general selling Monday. The average price was unchanged at $8.25, with top at $8.45 equaling the practical top the previous day, being 20c under the extreme high point early Monday.

Receipts at 37,000 were 4,000 below expectations and the second smallest for Tuesday since Nov. 1. Arrivals at Chicago in two days at 85,800 compare with 108,543 a year ago and with 115,900 two years ago, being smaller than any corresponding period since 1919. Large local packers bought slowly and 13,000 were estimated left at the close.

Cattle sold strong to higher, better grades scoring most gain, with extreme top at $18.60, within 40c of the highest price paid for cattle since 1920. Prime 1,444 lb steers topped the list, with the next highest sale at $17.00, only nine head, averaging 1,241 lbs, at this figure, with full loads at $16.75, averaging 1,323 lbs. General quality was poorer than usual for Tuesday, bulk selling within a range of $11.75@15.50, against $11.75@17.00 a week earlier. Top yearlings stopped at $15.50. Butcher stock sold steady. Calves slumped 50c further. Stockers and feeders were scarce and generally steady.

Best Lambs Steady.

Despite the fact that receipts the first two days this week are 11,000 larger than a week ago, better grades of light and handy weight lambs held steady, top kinds bringing $13.75, while others ruled steady to 25c lower. Medium and weighty kinds were neglected and sold slowly at the most loss. Most handy weights brought $13.00@13.50, with medium and heavy at $11.50@12.75. Lamb weight yearlings averaging 88 lbs brought $11.60. Aged sheep sold steady.

COTTON PRICES RECEDE

Liquidation was on in cotton yesterday with a low range of prices, and a close around the lowest of the day. Net losses were 10 to 28 points in Chicago futures, and 5 to 22 points in other markets. Spots closed 5 points lower in New York at 19.55c, with New Orleans unchanged at 19.20c; Houston, 19.15c, and Galveston, 19.25c.

Weakness and decline in prices was due to the break in stocks, disappointing cables from Liverpool on trade conditions. A limited trade demand was also a factor. Prices follow:

NOTICE

To the Holders of Bonds Secured by First Mortgage of

KEWANEE PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY

To The Peoples Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, as Trustee, Dated July 1, 1924.

Pursuant to Section 34 of said mortgage, the undersigned Trustee hereby gives notice that bonds secured by said mortgage will be purchased by the Trustee for the Sinking Fund provided in said mortgage to an amount sufficient to exhaust as nearly as may be twelve thousand dollars ($12,000), being the moneys now held by said Trustee in said Sinking Fund. The Trustee hereby invites from said bondholders, written proposals for the sale to it on February 15th, 1928, of such bonds. The lowest offers to the aggregate amount not exceeding an amount sufficient as nearly as may be to exhaust such moneys now held in said Sinking Fund will be accepted, provided that the price or prices accepted will in no event exceed, in addition to accrued interest, one hundred and five per centum (105%).

All proposals must (1) be in writing addressed to the undersigned as Trustee as aforesaid at its address as given below, (2) be enclosed in a sealed envelope, (3) state the serial number or numbers and the denomination or denominations of the bonds offered and name the price or prices at which the same are offered and (4) be signed by the owner and state his post office address. All proposals must be received at the office of the Trustee on or before two o'clock p. m., February 1st, 1928.

Should there be two or more proposals at the same price aggregating more than the amount the Trustee has available for such purpose, after having accepted all proposals, if any, at lower prices, such proposals shall if possible under their terms, be accepted pro rata.

As soon as may be on or after February 1st, 1928, the undersigned Trustee will notify bondholders whose proposals are accepted, so that the delivery of the bonds covered by such acceptances may be made to the Trustee at its office in Chicago on February 15th, 1928.

The Trustee reserves the right to reject any and all proposals in whole or in part, if it can at the time of opening such proposals purchase the requisite amount of bonds or any part thereof at a lower price.

GRAINS ARE HIT BY WEAKNESS IN STOCKS, COTTON

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Weakness in the stock and cotton markets finally spread to grains, and with selling by calendar traders prices declined rather sharply after showing moderate strength early. Wheat broke 1½c from the finish of the previous day and closed about the bottom with net losses of 1¼@1½c with March, $1.28⅛@1.28¼, and May, $1.29⅜. Corn was off 1@1¼c with March, 86¾@86⅞c, and May, 90¼c, while oats declined ⅝@⅞c, and rye was ¾c lower.

Part of the decline in wheat, as well as in other grains was due to the extremely light trade, which was reflected in a lack of aggressive buying. The selling of itself was not heavy, but sentiment as a whole was bearish, and it took but little pressure to start values downward.

Scattered evening up for the government report due after the close was under way in corn early, but the market broke later with wheat and on Cromwells estimate suggesting that the report would show a larger commercial crop of grain than in 1926. Buying against bids was a factor in checking the decline.

Government report showed 2,320,000,000 bu corn harvested as grain, against 2,234,000,000 bu in 1926, and 2,446,000,000 bu in 1925, and was construed as somewhat bearish by the trade, as the latter had been expecting a downward revision in estimates.

Cash interests were fair buyers of oats early, but the market eased later with other grains. There were intimations of a better shipping demand from the southwest. Rye declined in sympathy with wheat and on scattered commission house selling. No export demand was reported.

FINANCIAL NOTES

Bradstreet's compilation of building permits for 1927 in 179 cities puts the total at $3,325,204,789, against $3,735,525,270 in 1926, a decrease of 10.9 per cent. The year 1926 showed a decrease of 5.9 per cent from 1925.

Holders of German government, state, and municipal bonds have only until Jan. 14 to deposit their securities with the National City Bank of New York or other designated depositories. This is the last day on which old mark bonds will be accepted for exchange into the new loans. All bonds not deposited will be declared worthless.

The Indian Refining company has issued $1,600,000 5½ per cent first mortgage bonds to be used to reimburse the company for capital expenditures, to retire current indebtedness, and for other corporate purposes.

Continuance of the Canadian dollar at a discount of 11-64@3.16 of 1 per cent, which is in accordance with its seasonal weakness in the foreign exchange market, brought $2,000,000 more gold from Canada yesterday consigned to the Bank of Montreal in New York. It is expected this week's imports from across the border may range from $5,000,000 to $10,000,000.

Money in circulation in the United States Dec. 31 totaled $5,004,857,255, with a per capita of $42.54, against $4,951,971,544, with a per capita of $42.13 Nov. 30, according to provisional figures issued by the treasury. The total stock money Dec. 31 was $8,620,646,926, of which $4,380,471,481 was gold coin and bullion, against a total stock of $8,582,231,069 Nov. 30.

Dated December 1, 1927 — Due Serially December 1, 1929, to June 1, 1943

THE NEW YORK TRUST COMPANY, TRUSTEE

Security: This issue is secured in opinion of counsel by a First Mortgage on the leasehold estate comprising approximately 24,549 square feet and five-story and basement, steel, brick and stone exterior building containing approximately 127,664 square feet, including Post Office equipment owned by the corporation. The lease to building site is for 99 years at annual rental of $29,662.50 until 1930. In 1930 annual ground rental will be increased to $32,487.50, which increase in rental is applied towards the purchase of fee. The lease further provides that fee may be purchased outright at any time at option of The United States Parcel Post Building Company and is also renewable for further period of 99 years from date of expiration. Legal title to premises has been passed upon by Messrs. Day and Day, Cleveland, Ohio, and certificate of title has been issued on land by the Title Insurance Company, Cleveland, Ohio. Adequate insurance will be carried at all times, payable to Trustee for protection of bondholders. Purpose of this issue is to retire bonds of this corporation which are outstanding at higher interest rates.

Basement and first three floors are occupied by the United States Government Post Office Department, under non-cancellable leases at an annual rental of $78,072.50. The two upper floors are occupied by two responsible firms at an annual rental of $27,367.20 until January 1, 1930 and in the event the Government does not require the fourth and fifth floors beginning 1930 the same tenants will pay an annual rental of $34,209.00, making total annual rental for the building, beginning January 1, 1930, $112,281.50.

Valuation: The leasehold estate in land, building and equipment owned by the corporation have been appraised by F. J. Bachelder & Co., Inc., Chicago, Illinois, as follows: Leasehold Estate $264,325.00; Building $574,217.00; Equipment $17,500.00; Total Valuation $856,042.00.

CLUB ALUMINUM RENTS OFFICES FARTHER UPTOWN

BY AL CHASE.

The Club Aluminum company has leased temporary quarters in the Viceroy building, Lawrence and Kenmore, for its general offices, now at 1250 Fullerton avenue. The concern's sales offices are at 544 Lake Shore drive and its factories at Baltimore and Chicago.

According to V. J. Curto & Co., the move north was decided upon when a canvas disclosed that eighty-five per cent of the employés live within easy access of the new location. According to an official of the aluminum concern permanent quarters, it is expected, will be established in one of the new buildings now under construction uptown.

Hoefeld to Have West Side Shop.

Albert Hoefeld has leased a store in the new Garfield Park State Savings bank building at 4004 West Madison street for ten years at a term rental reported as approximately $130,000. This will be the second outlying Hoefeld men's furnishings shop, the first being in the 63d-Halsted district. The west side store will open in June on completion of the building. The C. F. Noyes National Realty corporation negotiated the lease. Mr. Hoefeld has a chain of loop stores.

The ten apartments at the southeast corner of 62d and Artesian, lot 50x125, were sold by James V. Bray to Lillys Geer for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $31,000. Harry Z. and Bernard Perel and Montgomery, Hart & Smith were attorneys.

Leases West Side Hotel.

Samuel Bernstein has leased the four story 125 room hotel to be erected at 1622-24 West Jackson boulevard, for fifteen years, through Mary Levy & Brother, for a reported annual rental of $27,979, or a total gross rental of $419,685 for the term. The lessors are Louis Bromberg and Gladys J. Brown who recently purchased the 50x183 site. The building will be completed about May 1, 1928, at which time the lease starts.

Newton C. Farr has bought thirty-two feet of frontage at 2446 South Park way from Charles W. Trumbull. He will improve with two shops similar in architecture to the adjoining building which he owns. Isaac Keim, of W. K. Young & Brother, was broker.

Two Corporations to Pay 10 Pct. Stock Dividends

A ten per cent stock dividend was declared yesterday by Oppenheim, Collins & Co. The Pacific Coast Steel company also announced a 10 per cent stock dividend. The Galesburg Coulter Disc company declared an initial quarterly dividend of 80 cents and the Venezuelan Petroleum company declared an initial quarterly dividend of 5 cents.

The Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe railroad declared the usual extra dividend of 75 cents. The Brockway Motor Truck corporations declared an extra dividend of 25 cents. The Anglo-American Telegraph company declared a final dividend of 30 shillings on the deferred shares for 1927.

Stockholders of Hanover Fire Insurance company approved an increase of $500,000 in capital stock. New stock will be issued pro rata to stockholders at par of $50. When this has been done the $50 par stock will be exchanged for shares of $10 par.

"Strong Box" Bonds for Your January Funds

To own securities that can be locked in your safe-deposit box, and forgotten—except on interest and principal-payment dates—is your natural desire as a careful investor.

You will find Greenebaum First Mortgage Real Estate Bonds to be exactly this kind of an investment—securities that are safeguarded in every possible manner to assure protection for investors.

Ever since 1855, when this Institution was founded, Greenebaum Investors have been paid every dollar of Bond principal and interest promptly when due. Current "Strong-Box" Greenebaum Bonds—in $100, $500 and $1,000 denominations—are particularly desirable.

Lexington Water Power Company

Dated January 1, 1928. In coupon form in interchangeable denominations of $1,000, $500 and $100, registrable as to principal only. First Mortgage Bonds may be fully registered. Interest payable January 1 and July 1 in New York and Chicago without deduction for the normal Federal Income Tax now or hereafter deductible at the source not in excess of 2%.

Letters from Mr. W. S. Barstow, President, are summarized below:

The Company: Lexington Water Power Company is constructing on the Saluda River about ten miles west of Columbia, South Carolina at an estimated cost of approximately $21,000,000, a hydro-electric power development which, upon completion about September 1, 1930, will be one of the largest in this country.

The dam will be about a mile and a half long with a maximum height of 208 feet and a maximum width at the base of approximately a quarter of a mile. The lake to be created will be 33 miles long and have a maximum width of 14 miles. The power house will have an original installed capacity of 130,000 Kw. and an ultimate aggregate capacity of 200,000 Kw.

Not only will the dam have the largest cubical content of any dam in this country, but upon completion the lake will be the largest created artificially in the United States. From the standpoint of average firm kilowatt hour output the capacity of the power house will be exceeded by no hydro-electric generating station in America except that of the Niagara Falls Power Company at Niagara Falls.

Power Contracts: Contracts for the purchase of power have been executed with Carolina Power & Light Company, Southern Power Company (now assumed by Duke Power Company) and Broad River Power Company extending until July 1, 1980. Under the terms of these contracts, the Company will receive annual revenues of $1,904,125. After the deduction of estimated operating expenses and taxes, estimated net income available for interest will amount to $1,420,125. The annual interest requirements on the First Mortgage Bonds amount to $600,000 and on the Debentures to $275,000. It is expected that the Company will receive an additional $150,000 from secondary power sales.

Security of Bonds: The First Mortgage 5% Gold Bonds will be secured, in the opinion of counsel, by a first mortgage on all real property of the Company now owned or hereafter acquired not subject to liens and by a direct mortgage on real property now owned or hereafter acquired subject to liens, if any, existing at the time of acquisition. At the time of the completion of the development, the Mortgage securing these Bonds will be an absolute first mortgage on the power house and dam and on substantially all the other property of the Company. In addition, the above power contracts will be pledged under the Mortgage.

Provisions of the Debentures: The 5½% Convertible Sinking Fund Gold Debentures will be a direct obligation of the Company. They will be convertible into $6 Cumulative Preferred Stock (no par value) of the Company at any time after January 1, 1931, on the basis of 10 shares of such Preferred Stock for each $1,000 principal amount of Debentures, with adjustment for accrued dividends and accrued interest. A semi-annual sinking fund beginning January 1, 1933, to operate through Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Sinking Fund Agents, is calculated to retire the entire amount of the Debentures by maturity.

Purpose of Financing: The proceeds from the sale of these securities will be deposited under separate Agreements to be released in amounts not exceeding an aggregate of 75% of the cost of the development as defined in the Agreements. Not more than $12,000,000 First Mortgage Bonds and $5,000,000 Debentures may be issued in connection with the construction of the original 130,000 Kw. capacity of the development.

Guarantee of Completion: General Gas & Electric Corporation, which has guaranteed the completion of the original 130,000 Kw. capacity of the development, has no funded debt. Its preferred and common stocks outstanding and listed on the New York Stock Exchange on the basis of prices per share as of the date of the letters have an indicated market value of $35,864,000, while the indicated market value of all of its outstanding securities including dividend participations is $39,572,000.

Offering of the $5,000,000 5½% Convertible Sinking Fund Gold Debentures is confined to corporations, brokers and dealers in securities, and to banks, trust companies, insurance companies and associations organized under the banking or insurance laws of Illinois or of the United States.

Seaboard Air Line Railway Company

Three-Year 5% Secured Notes, Series A

To be dated February 1, 1928 — To mature February 1, 1931

These Three-Year 5% Secured Notes, Series A, are to be presently issued and outstanding in the principal amount of $7,500,000; principal and interest to be payable in United States gold coin at the principal office of Dillon, Read & Co., Paying Agent, New York City; interest payable February 1 and August 1, without deduction for Federal Income Tax not exceeding 2% per annum; the indenture is to contain provisions for refund of the Pennsylvania and Connecticut personal property taxes not exceeding 4 mills per annum each, Maryland securities tax not exceeding 4½ mills per annum, and Massachusetts tax measured by income not exceeding 6% per annum; to be coupon notes in denomination of $1,000, registerable as to principal only; to be redeemable as a whole, or in part by lot, at any time, on thirty days' notice, at 101 and interest, to and including February 1, 1929; at 100½ and interest, thereafter to and including February 1, 1930; and at 100 and interest thereafter. Notes to be authorized $15,000,000 principal amount; in addition to the above $7,500,000 principal amount, additional Series A notes and/or notes of one or more other series may be issued up to such authorized amount, as to be provided in the indenture. The National Park Bank of New York, Trustee.

The following information has been summarized by Mr. Robt. L. Nutt, Chairman of the Board of Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, from his letter dated January 10, 1928, copies of which may be obtained upon request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

SEABOARD AIR LINE RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Seaboard Air Line Railway System consists of 4,306 miles of owned and leased railroad directly operated by Seaboard Air Line Railway Company. In addition, approximately 346 miles belonging to subsidiary companies are separately operated. The lines of the System extend from Richmond, Va., through parts of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Alabama and Florida, with lines reaching substantially all of the important cities of the south Atlantic seaboard, including the capitals of six southern states, and such important ports as Norfolk, Va., Wilmington, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Savannah, Ga., Jacksonville, Tampa and Miami, Fla. The territory traversed by the System is one of the most productive sections of the South, including citrus fruit and vegetable areas, cotton and tobacco districts and also many important manufacturing sections.

Since the extension of the main line of the Seaboard System to West Palm Beach (Palm Beach) and Miami, Fla., it is the only railway system operating through trains over its own rails from Richmond to Miami and other points on the lower east coast of Florida.

The Seaboard Air Line Railway System has the only through line of railroad across the state of Florida to West Palm Beach, Miami, and other lower east coast points. Washington, D. C. is reached over the lines of the Richmond, Fredericksburg & Potomac Railroad, in which Seaboard Air Line Railway Company has an interest.

SECURITY

The notes, in the opinion of counsel, are to be the direct obligation of Seaboard Air Line Railway Company. In respect of the $7,500,000 principal amount of Series A notes presently to be outstanding, there are initially to be pledged with the trustee under the indenture an aggregate of $10,000,000 principal amount of bonds, consisting of not less than $6,000,000 principal amount of Seaboard Air Line Railway Company First and Consolidated Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds, Series A, due September 1, 1945; the balance to consist of Seaboard-All Florida Railway First Mortgage 6% Gold Bonds, Series A and/or Series B, due August 1, 1935.

The company is to covenant in the indenture to maintain, as security for all notes from time to time outstanding, by pledge with the trustee under the indenture, Seaboard Air Line Railway Company First and Consolidated Mortgage bonds and/or Seaboard-All Florida Railway First Mortgage bonds having an aggregate principal amount of not less than 133⅓% of the aggregate principal amount of the notes, and is further to covenant that at least 60% of the aggregate principal amount of bonds from time to time pledged with the trustee shall consist of First and Consolidated Mortgage bonds of the company.

EARNINGS

Results of operations of Seaboard Air Line Railway Company, for the four calendar years ended December 31, 1926, as reported by the company, have been as follows:

1923	$52,249,110	$40,342,259	$8,367,625	$6,095,245
1924	53,384,173	41,387,634	9,933,490	6,601,413
1925	62,864,711	46,733,364	10,935,545	6,850,385

Operations of the company during the eleven months ended November 30, 1927 resulted in total income applicable to interest of $9,353,788 against interest charges on the above basis of $7,823,171 for the same period. While such income applicable to interest declined from $11,022,792 for the corresponding period of 1926, the operating income of comparable railroads serving the same territory, based on their reports for the first ten months, also showed declines.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE

The proceeds from the sale of this issue are to be used to defray the cost of the acquisition of the capital stock of Charlotte Harbor & Northern Railway Company, for additions and betterments to the lines of the company or its subsidiaries, or to reimburse the company for expenditures made for such purposes, and for other corporate purposes.

We offer these notes for delivery if, when, and as issued and accepted by us, subject to approval of legal proceedings by counsel and subject, to the extent contemplated by law, to approval by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It is expected that delivery will be made on or about February 1, 1928, in the form of temporary notes of the company, or interim receipts of Dillon, Read & Co.

Price 99½ and accrued interest. To yield 5.18%

93 YEARS AGO TODAY

H. O. STONE, the pioneer, arrived in Chicago on January 11th, 1835—nearly a century ago—and cast his lot with the few hundred frontiersmen who inhabited the village of that day.

With extraordinary foresight, he at once began to make the real estate investments which proved to be the foundation of the House of H. O. Stone & Company.

Thus tracing its history back to the very beginning of the city, this House is widely known as Chicago's oldest existing business institution.

Remember this fact when you are seeking safe investments. Here is a house that has survived the vicissitudes of the years, yet is modern and progressive, serving far more clients than ever.

When investing money, remember that time is one of the strongest proofs of dependability. Buy your bonds where stability, safety and reliability have been demonstrated by nearly a century of constructive service.

Making Money?

No company operating property can know how much it is earning unless it knows how fast that property is wearing out, how much is spent in upkeep, what it costs to replace it. American Appraisal Service supplies this data.

UNFILLED ORDERS FOR STEEL SHOW EXPECTED GAINS

BY O. A. MATHER.

Predictions that the steel industry would start the new year with a rush following several months of quietude were verified yesterday. The United States Steel corporation surprised the most optimistic forecasters by reporting an increase in forward business of 518,430 tons in December.

The increase was the largest for any month since December, 1925, and the present unfilled tonnage of 3,972,874 is the largest since March, 1926. Unfilled orders on Dec. 31, 1926, totaled 3,960,969 tons. The rush of orders and specifications from the railroads, automobile plants and the construction industry was stimulated last month by the fact that they came under the old price schedule, which was revised upward in some products with the opening of this year.

Improvement in Oil Outlook.

The petroleum industry also started the new year well, giving signs that the protracted condition of overproduction may be in process of correction. Daily average gross crude oil output last week totaled 2,379,050 barrels, a decline of 40,700 barrels a day from the preceding week, according to the American Petroleum Institute. Production declined in practically all fields, with the largest decreases in Oklahoma, Texas, Arkansas and Louisiana.

General trade ended 1927 less actively than for 1926, judged by the movement of commodities by railroad. Loadings of revenue freight for the week ended Dec. 31 totaled 679,600 cars, a decline of 149,406 from the previous week, due to the Christmas holiday, but also a decrease of 54,681 cars from the final week of 1926. Loadings for 1927 totaled 51,714,302 cars, a decline of 1,384,517 cars, or 2.6 per cent, from 1926.

Nash Motors Does Well.

In spite of keen competition in the automobile industry last year the Nash Motors company did almost as well as in 1926. Net earnings for the fiscal year ended Nov. 30 were $22,670,745, equivalent to $8.30 a share on the 2,730,000 shares of common stock. Net earnings for 1926 were 23,346,306, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $8.55 a share on the common stock. The company paid out $13,650,000 in dividends last year and still added $9,020,744 to surplus, which now stands at $33,697,094. Current assets are given as $49,878,044, while current liabilities consist of $1,596,910 accounts payable and a reserve of $2,227,444 for federal taxes.

The Chrysler corporation announced reductions ranging from $55 to $85 on its four cylinder line and $50 to $100 on its six cylinder cars.

Westmoreland Water.

W. D., Burlington, Ia.—Westmoreland Water company is controlled by the Community Water Service company.

It supplies water without competition for domestic, municipal and industrial purposes to sections of Westmoreland county located about 30 miles from Pittsburgh, Pa.

It is issuing $2,480,000 first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, series A, due 1952.

These bonds constitute its only mortgage indebtedness.

They are secured by a first mortgage on the entire physical property and, further, by pledge of $125,000 (all outstanding) first mortgage bonds of its subsidiary, the Dennison Water Supply company, and by pledge of at least 93½ per cent of that company's capital stock.

Westmoreland Water company's property is appraised at over $3,424,000 and that of the Dennison company at over $604,000, making the total appraised value of the two properties over $4,028,000.

Net earnings of the company for the year ended Sept. 30, 1927, before federal taxes were $223,253, or 1.8 times the annual interest requirements of $124,000 on these bonds.

Certified public accountants are said to have reported net earnings for this period, after elimination of definite nonrecurring expenses, to be over $252,000, or over twice such interest charges.

Brief Answers.

Mr. I. R. Parsons,
Advertising Director,
PUBLIC LEDGER,
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania.

My dear Mr. Parsons:

You will be interested to know that results from the Orphos Tooth Paste campaign run recently in the Philadelphia Public Ledger have been most gratifying.

Our campaign, as you will recall, featured a coupon worth 21¢, which when redeemed entitled the bearer to a 50¢ tube of Orphos Tooth Paste for 29¢. This offer was limited to ten days. It was a true test of newspaper pulling power, because the character of the campaign commanded action within a limited period.

While the total figures show that Philadelphia responded enthusiastically to our proposition, our success can best be illustrated by taking one chain organization as an example.

This chain placed an initial order of approximately six to ten times its normal purchases of Orphos Tooth Paste. It questioned that any amount of advertising would move that much of one brand of tooth paste in so short a time; but thanks to the pulling power of the Public Ledger plus the fine cooperation shown by this organization, this stock was completely exhausted within six days and the company was compelled to wire for more Orphos Tooth Paste to supply the continuous demand.

At this time I want to take the opportunity to thank you and your organization for the splendid cooperation shown us, and also to extend my appreciation to the splendid drug store organizations of Philadelphia that gave us such able support.

With best wishes, I am

Very sincerely yours,
R. A. Carmichael
President.

Manufacturers, Advertising Agents, Distributors, Retailers: this letter from the Orphos Company is well worth reading! It forcefully tells of the Public Ledger's power as an aid in marketing in the fertile Philadelphia territory!

During the first six days of the Orphos campaign, one chain store's sales on Orphos jumped more than 600%...and the advertising appeared exclusively in the Public Ledger. This is significant to advertisers ... for it means that the alert, wide-awake Philadelphians who read the Public Ledger every day buy through Public Ledger advertising. Everkeen Razor Sharpener told a similar story. And Silent Automatic Oil Burner another.

What do you sell? Tooth paste? Maybe not. But do you sell foodstuffs, shoes, clothing, furniture, rugs, musical instruments, electrical appliances, automobiles? Or do you sell anything else?

No matter what your product is ... Philadelphians are in the market for it! And the ideal sales combination in Philadelphia is a product of worth, plus advertising concentrated before Public Ledger readers!

The Woman in the Case

BY LOUIS TRACY

SYNOPSIS.

John Arden, handsome young Londoner, meets through an accident lovely Esmée Bermore, to whom he is able to render a slight but chivalrous service. He learns that the girl and her companion, Mrs. Sinclair, lately arrived in London from the Argentine, were the last two persons to see Lord Farndale alive. The old earl's sudden and mysterious death is announced to the world by the morning papers and Arden grows suspicious of Mrs. Sinclair when he learns that she is trying to keep her visit to the old earl secret and is coercing Esmée into secrecy against her will. The police, however, learn the identity of the two women who visited Lord Farndale just before his death. Mrs. Sinclair, fearing arrest or detention as a material witness, persuades Esmée to accompany her to Paris. John Arden, whose interest in Esmée has been aroused because he fears that she is under the influence of an unscrupulous creature, saves her from arrest by kidnaping her at the railroad station from behind Mrs. Sinclair's back. He takes her to the apartment of Andy Burke, one of his best friends, and Burke turns over his rooms and his housekeeper to her.

The friends put their heads together in Esmée's behalf, but in the midst of their plotting Furneaux of Scotland Yard joins them. Esmée tells her story to the men and at the completion of it the detective agrees to help her.

Esmée, who is the granddaughter of Lord Farndale, had never seen the old man until just before his death. Her father, only child of the earl, had quarreled with him in his youth, had gone out to the Argentine, married, lived and died there. Her mother had died when she was very young. Mrs. Sinclair, a friend of the family, had been very kind to her after her father's death and had invited the lonely young girl to live with her. There Esmée met Juan de Braganza, a young Argentinian, who asked her to marry him. She refused him. Juan invited Esmée for a ride one day and he took her out into the country and they stopped at an inn for coffee. Esmée grew ill after drinking it, but maintains she never lost consciousness. She was asked to sign the inn's register, but she refused and demanded to be taken back to town.

Esmée decides to go back to Mrs. Sinclair and Furneaux agrees to let her go. Mrs. Sinclair and Braganza, who has arrived in London, are placed under surveillance and complete protection is given Esmée by the police.

John Arden, follows Braganza to Paris at Furneaux's suggestion and there the trail leads him to Lady Doone, Esmée's great-aunt and sister of Lord Farndale, who has lived abroad for fifteen years. Braganza tries to enlist her aid in having Esmée acknowledge him as her husband, but disliking his appearance she gives him very little encouragement. Arden wins the old lady completely when he tells her that he intends to run down Braganza's false claim and to marry Esmée himself. He induces Lady Doone to come back to England and place Esmée under her care.

INSTALLMENT XLVI.

AN INTRUSION.

Lady Doone could not hurry, so the procession moved slowly along the carpeted corridor. The waiter obeyed instructions exactly, and the manager's representative entered. Mrs. Forbes—she still clung to the alias, although the inquest had revealed her identity—was standing near the fireplace, seemingly white with anger. With her was Juan de Braganza, looking expectantly toward the doorway. He saw who was there, and hurried forward.

"Ah!" he cried, though a slight falsetto belied his cheerfulness, "I'm glad you have come up, Lady Doone. Although Mrs. Forbes is far from well, I have just been telling her——"

His intervention stopped the hotel man's effort to explain politely why he was intruding. But Lady Doone had eyes for neither of the men. She advanced in her leisurely, graceful way, and the merest gesture of a thin hand enjoined silence. She was looking at the other woman, and actually smiling, though the insolence in her eyes accounted, perhaps, for Mrs. Sinclair's pallor.

"Yes. What is it?"

"So it really is you, Helena?" she said, in that faint, clear toned voice of hers. "When I read your Christian name—I wondered. Now, I know! Where is my great-niece, Esmée Bermore?"

"My wife is in that room, your ladyship," broke in de Braganza, pointing to a closed door.

He certainly was not lacking in impudence, but Lady Doone paid as much heed to him as to a fly buzzing in the sunshine.

She turned to the alert hotelier, whose shrewd intelligence had missed no phase of this tense scene.

"Mrs.?—what is the lady's surname?—Forbes?—Sinclair?—does not answer. Do you think that Miss Bermore occupies that room? Will you oblige me by knocking?"

Now, Esmée, the instant De Braganza was announced, had left the sitting room, locked herself in, and was seated near an open window overlooking the park. When some one tapped on her door she rose and said, without turning the key:

"Yes. What is it?"

"Lady Doone has called, Miss Bermore," came a voice which she recognized. She came out instantly. She had eyes for only one person present—the tall, thin, aristocratic and perfectly gowned elderly woman who was gazing at her intently. She tried to find words, but failed.

"Ah, my dear child," said the stranger, advancing with both hands held out in greeting. "I, at least, have not denied you. I am your aunt. You are my niece. I want to forget the intervening generation, and you may find 'great-aunt' rather impossible, I think. I am here to bring you to your proper home in London. Can you come now? I am sure the hotel people will see to your packing. . . . Isn't that so?"

Still holding the tongue tied girl's hands, she smiled most graciously at the astonished representative of the Park Palace hotel. But he was a model of discretion.

"Will your ladyship and Miss Bermore give me one minute?" he said. "I'll ring for a chambermaid, and if Miss Bermore will indicate what is to be forwarded there will be no further delay."

Mrs. Sinclair had literally collapsed into a chair. De Braganza gave her a malevolent look, evidently at a loss to understand why she had yielded so completely in a crisis which demanded rigid self-control. He, of course, was master of himself, and did not hesitate to address Lady Doone again.

"I really must ask your ladyship to listen," he said, facing her brazenly. "Mrs. Forbes, or Mrs. Sinclair, as she is known to all her friends in Buenos Aires, was unprepared for your visit. I assure you I was urging her not to send that foolish reply. Why should you not look after Esmée? It is your right—more than that, your duty. Was not that what I told you in Paris yesterday? Are you not here now because of what I said then? It is not fair to me, at least, that you should pretend to ignore me now considering that I was the first person within your family circle to point out that my wife needed your support and guidance at a most difficult moment in her life."

"I give you every credit for your good intentions, Señor," was the suave reply, and De Braganza could not know that a friendly pressure on Esmée's arm alone halted the bitter disclaimer on the girl's lips. "My niece, whom you describe as your wife, is moved almost to tears by your devotion. Meanwhile, here comes the maid who will look after Miss Bermore's belongings. Need we wait longer? . . . I suppose your clothes are all in that room, Esmée? Give me your arm, dear. I am fifty-four years older than you, and such an interval makes for a certain unsteadiness of limb if not of purpose. . . . Helena, I am going to Higher Yatton tomorrow. You had better write, but take thought first. We women fail in that respect. We are apt to act, or write, first, and think afterwards. It is high time you, for one, reversed the process."

But Esmée, incapable of treating with indifference the woman who had treated her with kindness when she most needed a woman's sympathy, ran to Mrs. Sinclair and clasped her shoulders.

"I don't know what is happening, dear," she murmured. "I'm sure I ought to go, but you have been my friend, and will never cease to be anything else, I hope. Please do as Lady Doone says. When you feel equal to it write and tell her what is troubling you. Perhaps it may not be so bad as it seems. I have a belief that matters may come right if only you will accept my word against that of Juan de Braganza. I am not his wife. He did not marry me in Buenos Aires, as he pretends. His vile schemes will soon be laid bare, so your association with him can bring you nothing but harm. Send him away. Forbid him ever to see or speak to you again, and that will be the beginning of happiness!"

The mortal remains of the first earl of Farndale were laid to rest with fitting but unpretentious ceremony. He was not, as might have been gathered from the outspoken comments of those who knew him, popular in the North riding either as landlord or resident.

Among others who watched the passing of the funeral cortége, with sturdy tenant farmers as "bearers" and some score of empty motor cars sent by neighboring squires as a mark of respect—though their owners could be heard shooting grouse on the surrounding moors—was a quiet looking man dressed in tweed. Half a dozen flies of the March brown and black gnat varieties were twined round his tweed hat, thus modestly advertising, as it were, that he was interested in trout and grayling, even at that late season.

Showing What Can Happen in 24 Full Hours

And That the Conventions Are Serious Matters.

"COME TO MY HOUSE."

Produced by Fox.
Directed by Alfred Green.
Presented at the Majestic theater.

THE CAST.

Joan Century	Olive Borden
Floyd Bennings	Antonio Moreno
Fraylor	Ben Bard
Murtagh Tell	Cornelius Keefe
Renee Parsons	Doris Lloyd
Jimmy Parsons	Richard Maitland

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

What a lot of things can happen in a short twenty-four hours!

If you don't believe they can, run over to the Majestic and peep into the affairs of Joan Century.

Joan (Olive Borden—outfitted to kill—rather too much sometimes) is a society girl—an orphan—"rich and beautiful enough to do just as she pleases."

With gay carelessness she becomes engaged to one man and, that same night, steals away to the home of another for a few hours. Scandal and tragedy follow, and the picture smartly points the moral that not even by the chosen of the gods can the conventions be too lightly disregarded.

The production is staged with Demillian luxuriousness. It has been well directed and has a cast that is in the main right up to snuff. Especially so as regards Antonio Moreno and Doris Lloyd. Mr. Moreno's work you know. In this rôle he is polished and ardent. Miss Lloyd is a charming person and one of the most finished players I know. Olive Borden gets over all right but will be better when she learns not to express emotion by grimace.

Considered Merely as a Movie, This Is All Right

"THE GATEWAY OF THE MOON."

Produced by Fox.
Directed by John Griffith Wray.
Presented at the Monroe theater.

THE CAST.

Toni	Dolores Del Rio
Arthur Wyatt	Walter Pidgeon
George Gillespie	Anders Randolf
Henry Hooker	Ted McNamara
Rudolf Gottman	Adolf Millar
Jim Mortlake	Leslie Fenton
Soriano	Noble Johnson
Indian Child	Virginia La Fonde

QUALITY: Good in some spots and sleazy in others.

DIRECTION: Adequate for the story's needs.

PHOTOGRAPHY: Excellent.

ACTING: The men in the cast get away with their hectic rôles in fine shape. Dolores del Rio is exactly as Theda Bara used to be.

LOCALE: South American jungle

STORY: Toni, part Spanish and part Indian, lives with her uncle, George Gillespie, in the jungle through which a railroad is being constructed. Gillespie is a foreman—or something of the kind. Crooked as a dog's hind leg.

Along comes the young "chief" to look over the work. Jim Mortlake, one of the surveyors who has gone to college with him, plans to tell him of Gillespie's nefarious dealings—but Gillespie, having been warned, sends the young man off into the wilderness, where he dies, leaving a note . . .

There are uprisings. There is bloodshed. There is, in fact, a great deal doing ALL the time. The trouble lies in the fact that there is little believable action.

O, well, looking at it as "just movie" it's all right. And, of course, there is, at the Monroe, the "talking" news reel to console you.

Wallenstein and His Cello Make an Event of Symphony Concert

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Alfred Wallenstein's solo appearance with the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon speedily converted itself from an incident into an event. It was by a long shot the best cello playing of the season, and as a matter of fact it was the best playing that this brilliant artist has done in the five years he has been first cellist with the orchestra.

He even dug out a new solo work, and this in itself is something of an achievement among cellists in general. It was a concerto by Tartini, written at first for viola da gamba and afterwards translated into a work for cello with orchestral accompaniment.

It is pleasantly old fashioned in manner and up to the end of the last movement moderate in pace. At this point, however, Eric DeLamarter decided to enliven the proceedings, so he wrote in a cadenza, and it probably holds the world's record for rapid fire delivery.

Whenever in the future Mr. Wallenstein decides to do several weeks' technical work in about two minutes all he will need to do will be to play that cadenza. But every one of the basketfuls of notes he distributed so lavishly and speedily was in its proper place, and every one was played with that fine, firm, tenorial tone which Mr. Wallenstein always employs.

After the intermission he returned to play Tschaikowsky's "Variations on a Rococo Theme," and once again he became brilliant and fine toned. The total effect was perhaps even better, which is because Tschaikowsky wrote better music than Tartini.

Mr. Stock likewise contributed some epicureanisms to the program. One was the Handel-Harty "Water Music," an unfailing delight. Another was the Haydn symphony which bears the title of "Oxford." Then, becoming modern in his turn, he ended with the "Fire Bird" suite from Stravinsky's ballet, which was notable when it was first heard and grows more notable every time it is repeated.

First 1928 Donations to Tribune Funds Received

A check for $100, representing the first contribution received in 1928 to be divided between the Camp Algonquin and THE TRIBUNE'S free ice funds, arrived yesterday from Edward F. Moore, deputy commissioner in the department of public works. It represents a part of the proceeds of a benefit basketball game staged at the 132d infantry armory on Dec. 31 between the Edward F. Moore Boosters and the Knights of Columbus All Stars. The net profits were divided among the Knights of Columbus Christmas cheer fund and four daily newspapers.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted for the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Leotta Goodwin Welch, 4856 Sheridan road, was awarded $5.

The Question.

Do you think the smoking of cigarets by Miss Mary Royden was sufficient reason to cancel her lecture engagement in Chicago?

The Answers.

Miss Mary Matosoff, 1606 South Turner avenue, stenographer—I would not think so. If any one likes to smoke it is perfectly all right. I don't care for cigarets, but I wouldn't think of holding anything against any one who smokes; I wouldn't consider it of sufficient importance for that.

Julius Wolf, 7831 Burnham avenue, engineer — I do not smoke, but I wouldn't consider it justifiable to cancel Miss Royden's engagements because on occasion she might smoke or even accept a drink. I consider that most people are capable of managing their own personal habits, and that they should be permitted to do so.

Miss Dorothy Kuhns, 2437 North Kedzie boulevard, school teacher — I should say not. I consider it perfectly proper for her to do and say what she did. I do not smoke; I have no desire for it; but I do not consider it wrong of others to do so. I heard a minister last Sunday say he thought it was terrible the way the Chicago women put up a howl about Miss Royden.

Walter C. Metz, 8711 South Racine avenue, salesman — That isn't such a bad habit. She may be a more religious woman than those who may do different things, but not openly. Miss Royden isn't afraid to let the public know about her habits. Have a cigaret?

Mrs. Blanche Alexander, 5062 Winthrop avenue, proofreader — No, I don't think so at all. I do not smoke, but I consider that if women want to smoke it is their own business. We have equal rights in this country; but what is more important, the faults charged to Miss Royden are not now considered morally wrong.

Shoe Retailers Told They Also Retail Health

Proper Fit Means Money Saved, Too, They Hear.

BY KATHLEEN M'LAUGHLIN.

When it comes to shoes, computing the difference in efficiency between the man who is foot wise and the man who is foot foolish means more in dollars and cents than most persons suspect or would credit, shoe dealers attending the convention of the National Shoe Retailers at the Stevens hotel, learned yesterday from Dr Joseph Lelyveld, chief of the foot clinics of Boston.

The workman who cultivates the habit of changing his shoes every six hours not only speeds up his own efficiency and rests his feet, but he safeguards his future comfort and health, said Dr. Lelyveld, who is recognized as an authority of foot structure, foot needs and foot health.

Nothing has contributed more to foot trouble, he declared, than the prevalent mode of wearing low shoes the year around. High shoes have a definite place in the wardrobe, and should be sold during the cooler months, he believes.

"It used to be the rule," he told the orthopedic section of the convention, which has attracted 10,000 shoe men from all parts of the country, "that the shoe buying public was size conscious. This decade has outgrown that attitude. Size doesn't matter any more, but even so, the matter of proper fit is one that receives only a fraction of the attention and care it should have, for it is responsible for the great majority of foot troubles.

"As for orthopedic shoes—we ought to discard that word. They are simply correct shoes, scientifically designed to fit the feet. And they are not corrective. No shoe can be. Each of the many styles now on the market probably has some definite feature that recommends it, but to single out any one shoe and call it perfect for all feet is absurd.

"Let's fit the public's feet so that the little walking in which the race indulges in these days of rapid transportation may be done in comfort, for automobiles are a curse to the temple of human energy God created in us, and something should be done to preserve the functions of our lower extremities."

THEATER

MISS EAGELS is again bulletined as coming to the Adelphi in "Her Cardboard Lover": this time, the date given is the 30th. . . . A new-comer from England, Anthony Bushell, is now the actor of the title-rôle, in which Leslie Howard was highly praised by the play-reporters in New-York.

Although he wasn't announced in advance of the week, Eddie Foy is among the contributors to the current bill in the Palace: he is appearing in a sketch named "A Fallen Star." . . . And it may be that sentimental theater-goers with a memory for what was what in Chicago all but forty years ago will heave a sigh for vanished things when reminded that one of Mr. Foy's associates in the Henderson extravaganzas in the Chicago Opera-House, Miss Ida Mülle, also is here: she is acting what in stage-lingo is called a "bit" in "The Squall." Most of the others have vanished: Arthur Dunn, Henry Norman, and even Miss May Yohé, who in her day did her share to make interesting reading for the first page of the morning paper.

News here yesterday included the roster for the impending revival of "Diplomacy" by George C. Tyler, with Miss Anglin and Mr. Faversham named as of it; and G. G. Forbes spends an A.D.T. fee to tell me that he saw both in an "all-star" revival of the play "all of twenty-five years ago." . . . And, Mr. Forbes, so also did I; but I don't think that they will now have the respective rôles they had then, when Miss Anglin was the gentle Dora and Mr. Faversham the credulous Julian. Mr. Tyler hasn't sent along the assignments; but I fancy that Miss Anglin will be the wicked Zicka and Mr. Faversham the urbane Henry.

"Bless You, Sister!" is among the new things which Manhattan cares not for: it is to be withdrawn Saturday night. Mr. Mantle told you a deal about it last Sunday; and it seemed, in his narrative, to be good stuff. . . . Another piece on the same subject, "Salvation," is all but ready for submission down there;—and I note that the playwrights in seeking to footlight the grace-mongers, are paying more heed to the possible stage-appeal of the Aimée McPhersons than to that of the Elmer Gantrys.

Mr. Cohan has so near readiness a comic play named "His Friend and Her Friend" that he is able to state that he will put it into New-York February 6.

Allan Dinehart, who did so well here in the slim frame-up named "Applesauce," and Miss Helen Chandler, regarded as important by the play-reporters in Manhattan, are to be in performances there of "The Silent House," a button-button piece of British make about Chinese villainy and such.

"Red Dust," one of last week's new plays in New-York, was blown away after Saturday night's performance. . . . "The Road to Rome," "The Desert-Song," the Ziegfeld Follies, "Sidewalks of New-York," and "The Love-Call" at the same time ceased their Manhattan solicitations.

In the issue of Dec. 30 THE TRIBUNE printed a report of the address of President James R. Angell of Yale university before the Association of American Law Schools, meeting in Chicago. In the course of that report it was stated that the purely liberal education courses (as contrasted with vocational training) were characterized by Dr. Angell as "the cult of the useless." Dr. Angell writes to THE TRIBUNE as follows:

"I am very reluctant to have such a view attributed to me. What I said was that it was easy to burlesque some of the more ill advised proponents of liberal education as defending 'the cult of the useless,' but that the essential conception underlying liberal education was invaluable and indispensable."

Scientist and Artist, Too, Is Dr. Michelson

Unknown Side Revealed at Showing of Painting.

Albert A. Michelson, renowned scientist, whose experiments with light rays have revolutionized physics and given the world a new conception of itself, forsook the laboratory yesterday to go about a different business. To the League room of Ida Noyes hall had been brought 18 of his water color drawings and 12 pen and ink portrait sketches. Dr. Michelson himself adjusted the pictures on the wall and wrote the title cards to go with them.

Dr. Michelson's versatility is well known. Comments have frequently been made upon his ability as a violinist, as a tennis player, of his keen interest in drama and literature, but little has been known of him as an artist.

When he was asked how a scientist happened to turn artist, he replied that the question should be reversed. "It should rather be 'How did an artist happen to turn scientist?'" he said. "As long as I can remember I have been interested primarily in the aesthetic side of life and it was through aesthetics that I became interested in science.

"I have never had any real instruction in painting. I learned to draw at Annapolis as a student and then I used to visit Walter Satterlee, a New York portrait painter, and get his criticisms on my attempts in oil; but of all the oil portraits I made I have destroyed every canvas. I prefer to work with water colors chiefly because the materials are easy to carry about and because the paper can be easily destroyed if the work is unsatisfactory. Oils are too pretentious."

The water colors were made during summer vacations, some in California, some in Spain, Switzerland, Germany, and France. Dr. Michelson's favorite of the group is "Vigo, Spain" a marine scene at twilight, done in the soft, delicate colors of Whistler. His second favorite is "Alexander Bridge Paris", which has the same delicacy, the same mastery of technique as "Vigo." Modestly, Dr. Michelson says, "I have been promising myself to do better each time, but I never do."

It is significant of the man that his favorite painter of all time is the romanticist, Corot.

"I don't care for the realistic painters," he said. "I don't follow any particular school myself, I simply try to paint what I see, but I admit I often slip in a tree, a cloud or a hill when I think the addition would improve the composition."

Last night at 8 o'clock the drawings were on public view at Ida Noyes hall under the auspices of the Renaissance society. Mrs. Henry Gordon Gale, wife of the dean of the graduate school, was in charge of the exhibit.

Children's Skating Carnival Is Planned by Indian Hill Club

The youngsters up on the north shore are pinching their thumbs that there will be skating weather by Saturday, because that's the day for the Indian Hill Country club's winter carnival. All the children attending must be costumed, and there will be prizes for the best array and for the winners of various skating races on the ice pond. The grand march, termed for the occasion the grand skatanade, is to begin at 2:30 o'clock, and children of all ages are invited. Relay races for girls and boys, fancy skating competitions, and a six boy team tug of war will be features of the afternoon if the weather man consents. And if he doesn't the young ones won't be cheated out of their party, for the festivities will be adjourned to the clubhouse and translated into more appropriate occupations indoors. Some of the grown-ups present will be asked to judge the contests, for the club's winter sports committee of former years has been discontinued.

Skokie Country club also is to have a children's party this Saturday afternoon, with an entertainment and dancing. The younger children will be entertained from 2 to 4, after which the older ones will arrive to dance until 6 o'clock. A magician will show some of his tricks between the two dances.

The children aren't the only ones who are using the country clubs during the cold months. The Carl Harold Zeisses of Winnetka are to give a dinner party on Saturday evening at Indian Hill, and both Skokie and Indian Hill are to have several dances during the late winter.

The Italy-America society, which usually has something to offer about this time of year in the way of receptions for distinguished guests and all that sort of thing, is being reorganized. Chauncey B. Blair has agreed to take the chairmanship, and the annual meeting and program outline is waiting for his action.

The "lucky boys" who were the guests of ten debutantes at the Casino last Saturday night won't care to hear anything about bouquets for some time to come. Those advertised nosegays that the favored few were to receive turned out to be scraggly bunches of worn out vegetables carefully frozen to an advanced state of unattractiveness. And the poor lads had to wear the bedraggled looking messes. The girls made them.

Friends of the George Allen Masons of Highland Park are to have an opportunity to meet the bride of George Allen Mason Jr. at a dinner-dance they are to give for their son and his new wife at the Red Lacquer room of the Palmer house on Jan. 27. Young Mrs. Mason was Miss Louise Townsend Barnard before her marriage on Dec. 29 in New Rochelle, N. Y. The Masons are to return tomorrow from their honeymoon.

The Arts club has sent out invitations for a supper at 7:30 o'clock on Sunday evening, Jan. 22, to meet Vanni-Marcoux, opera singer, and to hear him give a program.

Miss Dorothy Wegener, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Wegener of 2440 Lake View avenue, is to give a luncheon tomorrow for Miss Francesca Bruning, a member of the cast of "The Merry Wives of Windsor." Miss Bruning formerly resided in Chicago, and attended the University school, after which she studied in New York City and in Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Theodore W. Robinson and their son, Sanger Robinson, have come in from their Lake Forest residence, and have taken an apartment at the Drake.

Mrs. Thomas Ritchie of Indian Hill is to depart in a few days for a month's visit in Detroit and Montreal, Canada.

Mrs. Stewart Johnson of Winnetka, accompanied by her small daughter, Catita, and the latter's governess, sailed Saturday on S. S. Lapland for Italy, where they will tour for a little while before going to Cairo, where Mrs. Johnson has taken a villa for a few months. Mrs. Johnson has been residing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. ReQua, since the tragic death about a year and a half ago of Mr. Johnson in a motor accident in Egypt. Howard ReQua, who has been with his parents also, since October, has departed for Colorado Springs and will later go to Santa Fé, N. M.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Vernon Booth, who have been in New York City for several months, have gone to Augusta, Ga., for the remainder of the winter. Mrs. Willard S. Gaylord, Mr. Booth's sister, who had been with them for a visit, returned to Chicago on Monday.

Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen of 1430 Astor street and Mrs. George R. Dean of 25 East Walton place departed last night to be at Chandler, Ariz. Mrs. Bowen's daughters, Mrs. William McCormick Blair and Mrs. Louise Bowen Phelps, will join her later in her stay.

The Silas H. Strawns of 229 Lake Shore drive are visting Mr. and Mrs. Lamont Rowlands at Picayune, Miss.

Mrs. John Wentworth of 222 East Delaware place, who has been in the east since before Christmas, is now visiting her aunt, Mrs. W. W. Keith, in Baltimore.

Tribune Cook Book

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Lean Sausage.

We have been fond of saying that there is no need for having a sausage any fatter than a hamburger steak, and particularly there is no need of having a smudge in the kitchen when any kind of sausage is cooked. It is not only a hateful odor, but it often affects the eyes and, worst of all, our little packet of meat is then not as wholesome as it ought to be.

We have lately become convinced that a good many sausages on the market are exceedingly agreeable, and mostly because they are not so fat as the old fashioned farm sausage. And we were interested to hear that in another city than our own, there is a millionaire whose hobby is the making of sausage of a certain European trade marked type, which are greatly in favor among the people not only in his city but in others where they are sent. They seem like a lean sausage to us, but we have not analyzed them. Often the sausages seem to be less fat because of some cereal filler.

When we make a sausage for our own use, we like this one best: A two pound piece of pork shoulder, which has but a thin layer of fat on one side, half a teaspoon of black pepper, three level teaspoons of salt, three teaspoons of dried sage leaves powdered just before they are used, and one scant teaspoon of dry mustard.

Scrape and trim the piece of meat, making it entirely immaculate, cut it into blocks and add the seasoning. After the seasoning is added, put the meat through the chopper twice and make up into little cakes. To cook these cakes without the slightest smudge put them into a cold buttered pan, set over the fire and cook them until the underside is seared, then turn and cover the pan for fifteen minutes over a small fire. Remove the cover and over a little more fire finish them to a nice brown in about five minutes.

In a Revolving Door.

It happened in the loop during the 12 o'clock rush. While entering one of the big department stores through a revolving door, my handbag, which has a faulty clasp and which I intended to have taken care of, opened while I was going around in the revolving door and about $2 worth of small change dropped in and around the door, and while the shoppers looked on, I went round and round with it, picking up my change, much to my consternation.

What made it worse, though, was that my girl friend had just asked me before entering the store if I could lend her some money and I replied that I only had about 50 cents, when I really had more.

Society at the Opera

The audience at last night's performance of "Lohengrin" at the Auditorium was a brilliant one and contained a number of notable guests. In the box shared by Mr. and Mrs. Bernard E. Sunny and Mr. and Mrs. W. Rufus Abbott, were Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hawley.

Occupants of the Alexander Smith box were Mrs. Mitchell D. Follansbee, Mr. and Mrs. Sydney W. Worthy, Judge Samuel P. McCoonley, and Mr. and Mrs. George H. Dunscomb.

With Mr. and Mrs. Lester Armour were L. E. McCauley, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Driscoll, and Mrs. Edith Robertson. Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Swift had as their guests Mrs. R. Townsend McKeever, Kellogg Fairbank, Dr. Paul Drey, and Antony Geyelin.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds were entertaining Mrs. Earle H. Reynolds, Mrs. Joseph Ryerson, Miss Margaret Conover, Mrs. E. I. Cudahy, John D. Brewer, and John Coleman Jr.

Bishop and Mrs. Edwin Holt Hughes, Mrs. Charles R. Magee of Boston, Miss Caroline Hughes, and Miss Marion Dixon were with George W. Dixon.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCormick Adams were the hosts of Dr. and Mrs. W. L. Baum and Mr. and Mrs. John S. Broeksmit.

Mrs. Rockefeller McCormick had with her Mrs. J. V. Watson, Mrs. Dorothy Dox, Mrs. Frederic W. Upham, Mr. Maxwell S. Greene, Mr. Walter Eaton of Burlington, Ia., and Gen. James A. Ryan of New York.

With Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Ettelson were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Woolf and Leonard Ettelson.

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Having just listened to a diatribe against a woman who adores her son yet nags him continually, my ears carried the echo of the word nag, which had been used so many times by my caller in the course of her conversation, long after she had left. It's about the pettiest, meanest sounding word I know of, I thought—I wonder what its root is.

So I got down the dictionary and this is what I found: "Nag (from the Swedish nagga, to nibble, to peck; from the Danish nage, to gnaw; from the Icelandic and German and English, to gnaw). To tease in a petty way; to scold habitually; to annoy; to fret pertinaciously."

That really puts it pretty well. Nagging is just that—a pecking, a nibbling, with words and voice. Nothing big about it, like roughness even, or anger, for the getting of results—just nibble and gnaw and peck, till the meaning of the words are lost and their force spent by repetition. "Fretting pertinaciously" puts it very well, indeed.

One of the worst things about nagging is that it is one of the easiest habits in the world to fall into—and one of the most futile. It is at the same time really trying to the nerves of both the nagger and the nagged. And where the latter is a child it is particularly bad.

No child's nerves, disposition, or obedience are improved by being nagged, and certainly no mother's voice or looks or appeal for her child are improved by nagging. It makes an unlovely woman and creates an unlovely atmosphere.

I know two people in a family who made a pact to tell each other if they saw any signs of the nagging habit. You might try it, too, if you feel yourself tottering. Make a mutual arrangement between your husband and yoursélf that each will tell the other if either sees it developing—for men can nag as thoroughly as women. It's such an insidious habit that it sometimes creeps on one unawares. Don't let it get you.

Today's Fact on SINUS TROUBLE
(Copyright 1927 A.D.C.)
No. 17—"Coryza"

A COMMON cold is usually the starting point of sinus infection (sinusitis). Prolonged or stubborn colds (coryza) are practically certain causes of the malady, since the nasal membranes and the sinus membranes are continuous. The effect of the cold is to inflame and congest the sinus membranes, which swell and obstruct the openings through which drainage normally takes place. The secretions are retained in the sinuses—they degenerate—the harbored infection multiplies—and you have a thorough going case of sinusitis.

Whenever you have a cold—or even the more common "stuffy feeling" in the nose—resistance of the mucus membrane is impaired and it becomes susceptible to infections of various kinds. By frequently cleaning the nasal cavity of offensive mucus and germs you can allay the inflammation and enable Nature to rebuild normal healthy tissues, resistant to the attacks of germs. (Next article, No. 18: "The Antrum.")

SinuSeptic washes away the drainage from sinuses and rids the nasal cavity of toxic secretions. Reduces congestion and inflammation. Quick relief for head colds and catarrh! Highly recommended by thousands of users everywhere. Comprehensive booklet, "What Is Sinus Trouble?" in every package.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

I found nothing on the air last evening over which to be particularly enthusiastic.

"Dock" Rockwell's "quack doctor" comedy monologue sketch from New York, through W-G-N, 8 to 9, was an irregular run of more or less homely fun, and presumably in no sense of the word to be taken seriously.

The musical portion of this program can pass without comment, except that "blues" songs may be of interest to the rising generation, as they say, but how they can be of interest to the mature mind is beyond me.

Jan and Cora Gordon, two world wanderers, put over an interesting and illuminating musical program from WMAQ, 8 to 9, with Spanish and typical gypsy music.

Old fashioned Spanish lutes of the nomands were used in the illustrations. I suspect that the bull fight experiences as related by Cora Gordon caused a shudder among the radio audience.

Victor Herbert's "The Red Mill" was given by the WENR studio opera company, 8 to 9. I suppose there are some to whom music of this type is still new. At any rate, it is first rate, clean cut musical entertainment.

WMAQ's transmitter went out of business for a while around 9 o'clock, which gave a chance for distance around that dial sector. WCX, Detroit, immediately below, and WJZ, New York, immediately above, were found coming in strong, but with nothing particular so far as programs were concerned. As a matter of fact, outside stations were found coming in strong all over the dials around 9 o'clock.

Time permitted close attention to Lawrence Salarno's voice and work from W-G-N at 9:30. I was as much surprised as pleased with his possibilities. There are only a few minor, and correctable, faults that prevent him from classifying with many of the best names heard over radio at present.

My dials were tied up between 10 and 11 for the boxing bouts at the Coliseum through WEBH. From the sound of things they must have had a hot old time in that spot of the old town on South Wabash avenue.

MOVIE OPERATORS ACCEPT 5% WAGE BOOST; SIGN PACT

Chicago motion picture exhibitors and representatives of the Motion Picture Operators' union late yesterday signed a two year wage agreement which gives the union operators a 5 per cent wage raise for this year and another 5 per cent increase in 1929. Yesterday morning the operators' union held a special meeting in the Capitol building where the counter proposal of the exhibitors was discussed.

On Monday night exhibitors and union representatives had reached a deadlock when the union officers held out for a wage increase of 7½ per cent for the first year and one of 7½ per cent for the second year. The exhibitors countered with the 5 per cent offer.

Operators and exhibitors will meet again Friday to discuss working rules. The two year agreement was negotiated by Thomas Maloy, Thomas Reynolds, Hal Johnstone, Ralph O'Hara, and Frank Clifford, all union officers. Jack Miller, head of the exhibitors' association, represented the employers.

CAUSE OF MINE BLAST WHEN 21 DIED IS MYSTERY

West Frankfort, Ill., Jan. 10.—[Special.]—After listening to testimony of 20 miners, doctors and mine officials for four hours tonight, a coroner's jury was unable to determine the cause of the explosion in mine 18 of the Industrial Coal company yesterday, which took a toll of 21 lives.

What permitted sufficient accumulation of gas to cause the blast and the source of its origin remain a mystery. Ignition of the gas occurred one mile from the bottom of the shaft.

Fred Burnette, superintendent of the colliery, testified that he had been authorized by James Snedden, state mine inspector to inform the jury that the origin of the blast is unknown.

Mr. Snedden who still was underground conducting his investigation, will post an official report in the offices of the mine tomorrow, Burnette said.

One report had it that mine 18 was in competition with 19 for a production record and that officials had permitted the daily examination of the mine to be neglected yesterday. That story was discredited by Burnette.

Another reputed cause of the tragedy was that a gas pocket had been touched off by a spark from a cutting machine. Two miners, Ed Rude and Charles Aiken, gave that in testimony as their theory. But inspection revealed, Burnette answered, that controls of the only machine in the explosion area were closed.

FOREMAN OFF TO HUNT BIG GAME WITH HIS CAMERA

Maj. Gen. Milton J. Foreman, retired commander of the 33d division, left Chicago yesterday for Washington, D. C., on a trip which will take him into the jungles of Africa to hunt big game with a camera.

"I shall leave the boat and enter Africa at Mombasa," he added. "I hope to get some good movies of lions, leopards, elephants, and other animals, and if I have any luck I'll give a big movie show when I return, which should be in late April or early May."

Gen. Foreman will celebrate his 65th birthday anniversary on Jan. 26, en route to the jungle.

No Constipation Need be Chronic!

In the pink of condition—to stay. That's what a little calcium would do for you. It is corrective. Trains the system to help itself. Actually establishes regularity.

Men who take harsh cathartics do themselves more harm than good. Or sickening salts. It isn't necessary. Calcium makes you all clean inside, clears up the skin, ends sluggishness and all fear of auto-intoxication.

Try it!

A five-day test will prove to you very conclusively the system's need for calcium, and the decided benefit from these little wafers. Your druggist has them—the test size for pocket is 10c. Or the family size, 60c.

Funeral Rites Today for C. B. Calcott, S-4 Victim

Funeral services for Charles B. Calcott, who escaped from two submarine wrecks only to meet death in the sinking of the S-4, will be held at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the chapel at 115 Broadway, Melrose Park. Burial will be in Arlington cemetery, Elmhurst. The services will be in charge of Melrose Park post of the American Legion. A detachment from the Great Lakes naval training station also will attend. Motorcycle policemen from several of the west suburbs will act as a guard of honor.

ALBERT F. LANGBEIN, 64 years old, 363 Monroe avenue, River Forest, for more than twenty years cost manager for the Bunte Brothers Candy company, 3301 Franklin boulevard, was buried yesterday in Woodlawn cemetery. Funeral services were held at the River Forest Methodist Episcopal church. Mr. Langbein is survived by his widow, Mrs. Alma Paesler Langbein, and a daughter, Lillian Pauline.

PASS 25 MILLION BILL FOR MORE CAPITAL GROUND

Washington, D. C., Jan. 10.—(AP)—A bill authorizing the expenditure of $25,000,000 for the purchase of all private property on the south side of Pennsylvania avenue between the capitol and the treasury known as the Mall, as a site for government buildings, lacks only President Coolidge's signature to make it law.

The measure would authorize a long standing project for grouping new structures to house federal departments in the downtown area.

Services to Be Held Today for Edward E. McMorran

Funeral services for Edward E. McMorran, owner of a stamp and die works at 126 North Union avenue, will be held at 11 o'clock this morning in the home at 907 Seward street, Evanston. Mr. McMorran died on Monday of bronchial pneumonia. He was 67 years old.

HAVE COLOR IN CHEEKS

If your skin is yellow—complexion pallid—tongue coated—appetite poor—you have a bad taste in your mouth—a lazy, no-good feeling—you should take Olive Tablets.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets—a substitute for calomel—were prepared by Dr. Edwards after 20 years of study.

To have a clear, pink skin, bright eyes, no pimples, a feeling of buoyancy like childhood days you must get at the cause.

They start the bile and overcome constipation. Take nightly and note the pleasing results. Millions of boxes sold yearly. 15c, 30c, 60c. All Druggists.

Here's a Rapid Way to Change from Grub to Gay Butterfly

by Antoinette Donnelly

One goes to parties, among other reasons, to have a good time. To have a good time one has to feel that she's looking the part. In order to look that part one can't rush home from work, grab a dinner quickly, gulp it down in large lumps, and then make for the bath tub immediately after.

That's one way to shorten the fun of your evening to the first hour and a half there. As parties last twice as long, why not follow a more leisurely course during the preparatory hours?

Suppose you can't arrive home before six o'clock. On party nights Mother can be persuaded to postpone your dinner until seven by leaving it in the oven for you if the rest of the family won't wait.

Getting home at six then, take your warm bath. Not a hot one, remember. The hot bath requires a longer time to recover from than you are going to be able to allow yourself. Before getting into the tub, grease the face with cream and cleanse it with a clean towel. Give it a couple of minutes massage with another coating of cream and wipe that off. Then take your bath.

Then hop into bed fully undressed for from ten to fifteen minutes. You're going to have to change your clothes, anyway. And you can eat your dinner in your bathrobe. But this few minutes of complete nerve relaxation is going to make a heap of difference in your staying and "lookin'" powers during the later hours of the evening.

You won't sleep. But just lie down with eyes closed and relax every muscle in your body from head to foot. Stay twenty minutes, if you can. But fifteen is an excellent "pick-up." Then rise and splash your face with cold water. Then eat leisurely. By half past seven you will be ready for the job of making up, which you should allot ten minutes for, at least. Don't let the work of makeup be just a last minute dab of powder and rouge before you slip into the evening frock. Let it be slow and careful work, putting the color on cheek and lips carefully, powdering the cheeks, neck and arms smoothly and evenly, brushing the powder off the eyebrows thoroughly. It is assumed, of course, that during the day you have had your marcel so that the arranging of the hair is a simple last minute operation.

The secret of having people exclaim when you arrive at the festive gathering: "My dear, how nice you look!" is one derived from the feeling you have toward yourself when every little detail is attended to carefully and is the result of the unrushed hour or two before the affair.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

JEANNE G.: DEPILATORIES MAY be used for removal of hair from the legs. They will not remove the hair permanently, but they will give relief. There are many good, and of course some poor, depilatories on the market. It is advisable to purchase the produce of a reliable manufacturer. Send a stamped addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Superfluous Hair."

This Fiance Has an Eye to His Girl's Financial Rating

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"I have been engaged for over a year and plan to be married soon. I have completed a hope chest which has cost me approximately $400. I have the best of linens, etc. Lately my fiancé and I have been having quarrels over the money I have saved which he thinks I should give to him as soon as we are married to help defray the expenses of the home. Do you think that is right after I have furnished the linens? Should I also turn over my savings account after we are married?

"A DAILY READER."

I think I'd be a bit hesitant about marrying that young man. He has the makings of a loafer who'd expect you to support him after marriage in the luxuries to which he's been 'accustomed. I may be wrong. But there's something missing in his character, some loose end that had better be sewn up with an ironclad contract before you try to sail the seas with him.

If you were both working in unison for that home and your savings account was offered voluntarily to help get some of the furniture needed, that would be a different story. Provided, of course, that he has been developing a savings fund for the same purpose. But if it's your savings account and yours only that is going to be pressed into service, you had better talk straight money to that young man and let him understand that you are the one and only one in control of your savings.

I hear so many stories of thoroughly disillusioned wives who've done the financing of the home that I have come to be most skeptical of any man who thinks of the future in relation either to his wife's earning power, or to her savings.

There are only two legitimate financial arrangements in matrimony. The man provides and the wife helps save, or the marriage is entered on a partnership basis where each does his and her share equally.

Where there is a tendency for the man to think of the woman's pocketbook as his before the marriage, one thing she may be sure of is that she will be expected to do the refilling of that pocketbook herself, afterward. Marriage does not suddenly fill a man with a sense of responsibility toward his wife. No matter what the stress of our present economic condition, a girl wants to feel sure that the man she marries has a protective instinct about her and their future. And a man who is counting on his fiancée's savings hasn't this.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Impossible to Trust Her.

"Dear Miss Blake: For nearly a year I've been in love with a girl who claims she loves me. I have caught her lying to me often and have called her attention to it. She always promises not to do it again, but still keeps on. For this reason I have given her up. Did I do right? R. B. O."

Indeed, you did do right, R. B. O. She fails to realize the importance of truthfulness on all occasions. You would always doubt her, and doubting, there could be no real satisfaction in her friendship.

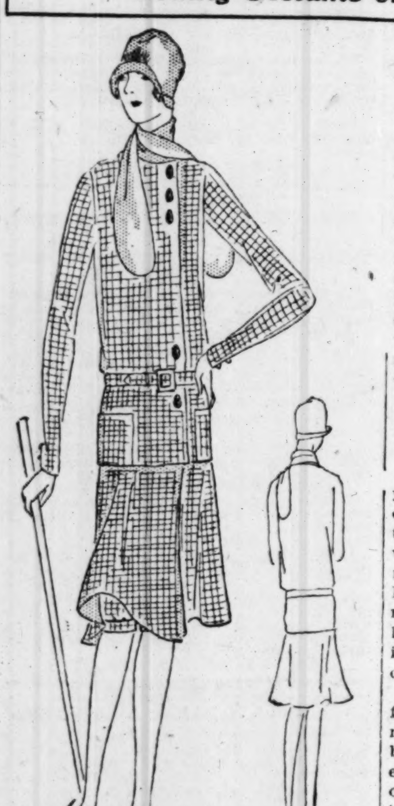
Golfing Costume of Checked Flannel



by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—We make this—not in two, but in three. Yes, the last are the self-material knickers worn under the wraparound skirt of today's flannel outfit for golfing. It is really an awfully good idea and we see quite a few places endorsing it for the earnest sportswoman.

The model is achieved of pin checked flannel and the flannel occurs in gray and soft blue. The jumper jacket is belted in self-fabric and a scarf collar of matching blue jersey supplies the one note of contrast.

Flannel is given today a more important position than it ever occupied before in collections for southern wear. The separate flannel skirt combined with harmonizing sweater is a favored sports formula. So is the flannel ensemble that opens a cardigan jacket over some very gay and smart sweater. Gray seems to be one of the favored shades for this material, both in the separate skirt and the ensemble, and one of the most delightful of models mates its gray flannel cardigan and skirt with a sweater done in a cubistic design of blue on a gray background.

These collections for southern wear include not only the more standardized creations of tailored genre but many feminized versions of the sports mode. For example, one of our most prominent importers has brought over a dull ivory crêpe allied with a jacket of mulberry colored velvet, a combination, by the way, which is now considered very good. Instead of being tailored, the crêpe frock of this ensemble has feminine touches that would put many a formal frock to shame.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Keeping robins in the corn belt the year around may be one effective means of killing European corn borers and protecting crops. Feeding the robin is one way to keep him here in this cold climate over winter, according to Bob Becker, THE TRIBUNE's bird expert. It may be an economic necessity to establish feeding stations, as Becker suggests, in order to keep flocks of robins and other birds around.

Last summer over in the heavily infested region around Lake Erie entomologists found that robins were great borer eaters. Robins were on the job every minute picking up the borers that came to the surface of the fields where infested corn stubble had been plowed under.

Worthley and Caffrey, federal entomologists, in discussing the value of robins in the control of the European corn borer, say that judging from direct observation, and from the examination of the stomach contents of several robins near experimental plots, it is apparent that many of the borers crawling over the fields were picked up by robins.

"The activities of other species of birds undoubtedly had a part in destroying many of the larvae or borers that came to the soil surface in the experiments, but no direct evidence of bird activity was observed, except in the case of robins," they said.

Robins were so persistent that guards had to be put out in the fields to protect the borers while tests were being made. Later wire screens were used to protect experimental fields from the robins.

Farmers who believe in preparing to protect themselves against the ravages of the corn borer may find it worth while to feed robins and encourage them to stay on their farms.

Culture Club Dance.

The Chicago Culture club will hold their annual dinner dance tomorrow evening at the Hotel La Salle. Mrs. Edgar J. Strawbridge is president of the club.

Doctor Found Women and Children Sick More Often than Men

As a family doctor at Monticello, Illinois, the whole human body, not any small part of it, was Dr. Caldwell's practice. More than half his "calls" were on women, children and babies. They are the ones most often sick. But their illnesses were usually of a minor nature—colds, fevers, headaches, biliousness—and all of them required first a thorough evacuation. They were constipated.

In the course of Dr. Caldwell's 47 years' practice (he was graduated from Rush Medical College back in 1875), he found a good deal of success in such cases with a prescription of his own containing simple laxative herbs with pepsin. In 1892 he decided to use this formula in the manufacture of a medicine to be known as Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and in that year his prescription was first placed on the market.

The preparation immediately had as great a success in the drug stores as it previously had in Dr. Caldwell's private practice. Now, the third generation is using it. Mothers are giving it to their children who were given it by their mothers. Every second of the working day someone somewhere is going into a drug store to buy it. Millions of bottles of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin are being used a year.

Its great success is based on merit, on repeated buying, on one satisfied user telling another. There are thousands of homes in this country that are never without a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and we have gotten many hundreds of letters from grateful people telling us that it helped them when everything else failed.

While women, children and elderly people are especially benefited by Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, it is promptly effective on the most robust constitution and in the most obstinate cases. It is mild and gentle in its action and does not cause griping and strain. Containing neither opiates nor narcotics, it is safe for the tiniest baby. Children like it and take it willingly.

Every drug store sells Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. Keep a bottle in your home,—where many live someone is sure to need it quickly.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $5 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune, Chicago.

Bobbie was visiting his grandmother, a gentle old woman who evidently did not know of his fighting proclivities. She was shocked when he came in one afternoon with his eye all black and blue.

Making a great fuss over him she asked him who had hit him, and on his telling her, she said she would go right over and see his mother about it.

"Save yourself the trouble, Grandma," was Bobbie's reply. "I kinda think she'll be over here, as I made all his eyes this color." J. S.

Gertie, aged 5, had just entered the kindergarten. The teacher asked her how many sisters she had. She answered "None." The teacher asked, "How many brothers have you?" The answer was, "One and a half."

The teacher then asked, "Why a half brother?"

ATTENTION, SALESMEN!

Will 1928 be just "another year" for you, or the most important in your life?

It will be aonther year of "headaches" and "heartaches" for some—for the kind of man who is in a rut who knows he is in it and who lacks backbone enough to make a constructive move to get out of it.

But for the others—for the clear eyed, aggressive ready-to-face-the world type of man it wil mean something else—a new deal—a new opportunity—another chance to cash in on his energy, his ability and the good times that all the economists predict.

THE HARMON ORGANIZATION has looked into the future, has seen what 1928 holds and had laid its plans so that all of the men associated with its sales force shall enjoy to the maximum the rewards that are the inevitable result of good hard team work, intelligently directed.

MEN, 25 TO 50 YEARS OLD.

We need good men—many of them—men of the same type that we now have in our sales force which we believe is second to none, men who can capitalize on our record of uninterrupted success, who can walk and talk and tell the truth, who are serious and hold permanent conections, who realize the dollar and cents value of an opportunity to represent the largest and oldest real estate firm in the country, a concern with 40 years' successful development in 31 American cities behind it, an organization where sales resistance is at a minimum.

To such men we offer the opportunity of a lifetime. 1928 will be our biggest year. We have several new properties in Chicago that will be placed on the market this year. These properties will be backed by newspaper advertising. We have a profit sharing plan for salesmen that is unique in its liberality. We don't want and won't take drifters. We want men who have made big money. We will offer them a chance to make more money than they ever made before. Experience is unnecessary. We will train you and work with you. Come in and let us lay our cards on the table and tell you what we are willing to do for you and what we expect from you in return.

SAY, SALESMEN,

how would you like to work with a firm where every obstacle to sales success has been removed—where friction has been reduced to a minimum—where harmony prevails and optimism is the keynote?

Surely you know the difference between forcing sales and taking orders—the difference between high pressure prospects and giving people what they want.

You can have such a connection if you will but heed this message.

I know I can offer you the best connection in Chicago. I can help you make 1928 your biggest year.

I know I can make your work easy and congenial. See me any day between 10-12 in the morning or 3-5 in the afternoon.

Saleswomen.

A $9,000,000 YEAR JUST CLOSED

creates this new opportunity for a few ambitious women. As Chicago's largest real estate operators we have succeeded in making the largest volume of subdivisions sales in the middle west, over $9,000,000 for 1927.

We are planning for a bigger year in '28 and will employ a few saleswomen, with or without experience. Must be over 25 years old, ambitious, and have good references. This means a chance to become a success with the most successful firm.

If you are experienced you can start earning at once. If you have no experience but are willing to start learning the Bartlett way we will give you an interview. Permanent position, year round employment and the backing of our name and 29 years of proven service makes our saleswomen make money. Salary and commission to those who meet our qualifications as to integrity, sincerity and willingness to work. Apply in person only.
